(5) A person who has migrated from India to Pakistan after 1-3-1947 cannot be deemed to be a citizen of India and Articles 15 and 19 of Constitution do not apply to him. Such person cannot challenge Administration of Evacuee Property Ordinance 26 of 1949 as being inconsistent with those Articles. AIR 1951 Mad 930 (932): (1951) 2 Mad LJ 1 (DB).

(6) Mere residence or following a particular profession in India by the father of a minor girl is not conclusive for the purposes of determining his domicile. This is a question of fact to be determined on facts and circumstances of a case. ILR (1958) 8 Raj 893: 1959 Raj LW 322.

2. Sub-section (1) (c) — "Citizenship or nationality law." — (1) The expression "nationality" and "Citizenship" are not interchangeable terms. "Nationality" has reference to the jural relationship which may arise for consideration under international law. On the other hand "citizenship" has reference to the jural relationship under municipal law. In other words, nationality determines the civil rights of a person, natural or artificial, particularly with reference to international law, whereas citizenship is intimately connected with civic rights under municipal law. Hence, all citizens are nationals of a particular State, but all nationals may not be citizens of the State. In other words, citizens are those persons who have full politicial rights and are still domiciled in that country. AIR 1963 SC 1811 (1819): (1964) 4 SCR 99. (Vide P. Weis on Nationality and Statelessness in International Law p. 46; and Oppenheim's International Law, Vol. 1 pp. 642, 644 — For historical survey of the concept of nationality and citizenship see Paras 29 to 42 of the judgment of Hidayatullah J. and Paras 96 to 100 of the judgment of Shah J.)

(2) The definition of "citizen" or "citizenship or nationality law" given in Section 2 (1) (b) and (c) is for the purpose of placing a restriction on the foreigner who wants to get himself registered as Indian citizen. It is to give effect to the principle of reciprocity that in Section 5 (1), the words "citizen" and "citizenship or nationality law" is expressed in the terms of the definition. AIR 1962 All 383 (387): 1962 (2) Cri LJ 166: 1962 All LJ 123 (DB). (AIR 1959 All 79, Dissented from.)

(3) If a person declared to Pakistan authorities that his residence in Madras was temporary and the authorities accepted it he became citizen of Pakistan. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (143, 144): (1960) 2 Mad LJ 290.

3. Sub-section (1) (f) — "Person". — (1) "Citizen" includes only natural persons and not juristic persons like corporations. State Trading Corporation, a company registered under Indian Companies Act, 1956 is not a citizen within the meaning of Article 19 of Constitution and cannot ask for enforcement of fundamental rights granted to citizens under the said article. (Per Majority: Shah and Das Gupta JJ. contra). AIR 1963 SC 1811 (1821, 1823, 1835): (1964) 4 SCR 99. (Observations of Mukherjee J. in AIR 1951 SC 41, held to be obiter, AIR 1954 SC 119 and AIR 1955 SC 661, considered. AIR 1953 Raj 188, AIR 1961 Cal 258, AIR 1959 Cal 45 and AIR 1953 Assam 177. Impliedly overruled.) shall be deemed to have been born in the place in which the ship or aircraft was registered or, as the case may be, in that country.

(3) Any reference in this Act to the status or description of the father of a person at the time of that person's birth shall, in relation to a person born after the death of his father, be construed as a reference to the status or description of the father at the time of the father's death; and where that death occurred before, and the birth occurs after, the commencement of this Act, the status or description which would have been applicable to the father had he died after the commencement of this Act shall be deemed to be the status or description applicable to him at the time of his death.

(4) For the purposes of this Act, a person shall be deemed to be of full age if he is not a minor, and of full capacity if he is not of unsound mind.

ACQUISITION OF CITIZENSHIP

3. Citizenship by birth.—(1) Except as provided in sub-section (2) of this section, every person born in India on or after the 26th January, 1950, shall be a citizen of India by birth.

(2) A person shall not be such a citizen by virtue of this section if at the time of his birth—

(a) his father possesses such immunity from suits and legal process as is accorded to an envoy of a foreign sovereign power accredited to the President of India and is not a citizen of India; or

(b) his father is an enemy alien and the birth occurs in a place then under occupation by the enemy.

4. Citizenship by descent.—(1) A person born outside India on or after the 26th January, 1950, shall be a citizen of India by descent if his father is a citizen of India at the time of his birth:

Section 3 — Note 1

(1) The State Trading Corporation, a company registered under the Indian Companies Act, 1956, is not a citizen within the meaning of Article 19 of the Constitution and cannot ask for the enforcement of fundamental rights granted to citizens under the said article the fact that corporations may be nationals of the country for purposes of International Law will not make them citizens of this country for purposes of municipal law or the Constitution. (Per Majority: Shah and Das Gupta JJ. contra.) AIR 1963 SC 1811 (1821, 1823, 1835): (1964) 4 SCR 99. (Observations of Mukherjee J. in AIR 1951 SC 41, held to be obiter. (2) In India there is only one citizenship, namely the citizenship of India and person can be only an Indian citizen in whichever State his permanent home may be. AIR 1958 Bom 68 (71): ILR (1957) Bom 880: 1958 Cri LJ 161 (FB).

(3) A minor child born in India to a father domiciled in India is an Indian citizen by virtue of the provisions of Article 5 of the Constitution read with Section 3 of the Citizenship Act although its mother has lost her Indian citizenship by migrating to Pakistan after 1-3-1947. AIR 1957 Madh B 1 (3) (DB).

(4) Even on the interpretation of the definition clause in Para. 33, a person who has, after the partition of India, come to the Cachar District with the intention of staying there permanently is a domicile of Assam and is covered by the definition. Further, the person who claims citizenship right at the commencement of the Constitution on the ground of his domicile which has not been denied by the contesting parties also becomes domiciled in Assam and thus fulfils the requirements of the permanent resident and comes within the ambit and scope of Rules 51 and 52 of the Scholarship Rules. AIR 1958 Assam 25 (27, 28) (DB).

(5) Under Sections 3 and 4 which deal with acquisition of citizenship, by birth and descent, the provisions are restricted to the acquisition after 25-1-1950. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 110 (113, 114): 1961 (1) Cri LJ 516: 1961 Jab LJ 662.

(6) The Act provides for Citizenship of India after 26-1-1950 by acqusition in five different modes. AIR 1963 Guj 226 (229): 1963 (2) Cri LJ 265: (1963) 4 Guj LR 1073 (DB). (Reversed on facts in AIR 1965 SC 10.)

Section 4 — Note 1

(1) Citizen includes only natural persons and not juristic persons like Corporations. AIR 1963 SC 1811 (1821,

Provided that if the father of such a person was a citizen of India by descent only, that person shall not be a citizen of India by virtue of this section unless—

(a) his birth is registered at an Indian consulate within one year of its occurrence or the commencement of this Act, whichever is later, or, with the permission of the Central Government, after the expiry of the said period; or

(b) his father is, at the time of his birth, in service under a Government in India.

(2) If the Central Government so directs, a birth shall be deemed for the purposes of this section to have been registered with its permission, notwithstanding that its permission was not obtained before the registration.

(3) For the purposes of the proviso to sub-section (1), any male person born outside undivided India who was, or was deemed to be, a citizen of India at the commencement of the Constitution shall be deemed to be a citizen of India by descent only.

5. Citizenship by registration.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section and such conditions and restrictions as may be prescribed, the prescribed authority may, on application made in this behalf, register as a citizen of India any person who is not already such citizen by virtue of the Constitution or by virtue of any of the other provisions of this Act and belongs to any of the following categories:—

(a) persons of Indian origin who are ordinarily resident in India and have been so resident for six months immediately before making an application for registration;

(b) persons of Indian origin who are ordinarily resident in any country or place outside undivided India;

(2) Under Sections 3 and 4 which deal with acquisition of citizenship by birth and descent, the provisions are restricted to the acquisition after 25-1-1950. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 110 (113, 114): 1961 (1) Cri LJ 516: 1961 Jab LJ 662 (DB).

(3) According to rule of private international law, the nationality and domicile of a minor are ordinarily determined by the nationality and domicile of his father. It is on this principle that Section 4 (1) and Section 8 (2) of Citizenship Act are based. Doubtless, this is not an invariable rule and statutory provision (e.g. Section 5 (4)) have been made in that Act to enable a minor to acquire a nationality different from that of his father. AIR 1961 Orissa 150 (151): 1961 (2) Cri LJ 353: 26 Cut LT 610.

(4) A child born in Karachi in 1949 to a father domiciled in India being a minor takes the domicile of its father and although in the circumstances its mother is held to have migrated to Pakistan no question of the migration of the child can arise so as to affect its status of Indian citizenship. AIR 1957 Madh B 1 (3): 1956 Madh BLJ 893 (DB).

(1) Citizen includes only natural persons and not juristic persons like Corporations. AIR 1963 SC 1811 (1821, 1823, 1835): (1964) 4 SCR 99. (Observations of Mukherjee, J. in AIR 1951 SC 41 held to be obiter, AIR 1954 SC 119 and AIR 1955 SC 661, Considered. AIR 1953 Raj 188; AIR 1961 Cal 258; AIR 1959 Cal 45 and AIR 1953 Assam 177, Impliedly Overruled.)

(2) Orders mentioned in Sec. 21 General Clauses Act, 1897, are not orders contemplated in S. 5 of the Act. AIR 1967 SC 107 (109) : (1962) 1 SCR 772.

(3) The Act provides for citizenship of India after 26-1-1950 by acquisition in five different modes. Art. 10 of Constitution is subject to the provisions of the Act. AIR 1963 Guj 226 (229) : 1963 (2) Cri LJ 265 : (1963) 4 Guj LR 1073 (DB).

(4) Although clauses (a) and (e) overlap to a certain extent they are mutually exclusive and hence where clause (e)

Provided that in prescribing the conditions and restrictions subject to which persons of any such country may be registered as citizens of India under this clause, the Central Government shall have due regard to the conditions subject to which citizens of India may, by law or practice of that country, become citizens of that country by registration.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this sub-section, a person shall be deemed to be of Indian origin if he or either of his parents, or any of his grand-parents, was born in undivided India.

(2) No person being of full age shall be registered as a citizen of India under sub-section (1) until he has taken the oath of allegiance in the form specified in the Second Schedule.

applies to a case the application of clause (a) thereto is immediately excluded. AIR 1958 Raj 172 (174) : ILR (1958) 8 Raj 928 (DB).

(5) Person born in India having no domicile in India at commencement of Constitution cannot acquire Indian Citizenship either under S. 5 of Citizenship Act or under Art. 5 of Constitution. (1963) 67 Cal WN 99.

(6) Person coming to India from Pakistan on the basis of passport can be treated as citizen of Pakistan. AIR 1962 All 383 (387) : 1962 (2) Cri LJ 166 : 1962 All LJ 123 (DB). (AIR 1959 All 79, Dissented from.)

(7) Mere long residence or acquisition of property is not enough to establish an intention of abandoning a domicile of origin and acquiring a domicile of choice. AIR 1966 Cal 552 (566) : 70 Cal WN 82 (DB).

(8) According to the rule of private international law the nationality and domicile of a minor are ordinarily determined by the nationality and domicile of his father. It is on this principle that S. 4(i) and S. 8(2) are based. However, under S. 5(4), a minor can acquire a nationality different from that of his father. AIR 1961 Orissa 150 (151, 152) : 1961 (2) Cri LJ 353 : 26 Cut LT 610.

(9) A person who has lost his Indian citizenship by virtue of Art. 7 of Constitution by going to Pakistan and remaining there even after attaining majority, cannot claim Indian citizenship unless the Central Government after due enquiry, registers him as a citizen of India under S. 5. AIR 1961 Orissa 174 (176) : 1961 (2) Cri LJ 658 : 27 Cut LT 189.

(10) A person cannot claim a right of residence on the basis of his alleged domicile when he clearly communicated his intention to give up his claim to Indian citizenship and also to leave India immediately by withdrawing the application for citizenship. AIR 1966 Cal 552 (566) : 70 Cal WN 82 (DB).

(11) The case of a person who has lost his Indian citizenship by his migration to Pakistan after 1-3-1947 and in respect of whom there is conclusive proof of his having become a citizen of that country falls under clause (c) of sub-section (1). Therefore the Collector has no jurisdiction to grant a certificate of citizenship by registration to such a person and it is only the Central Government which has power. AIR 1958 Raj 172 (175) : ILR (1958) 8 Raj 928 (DB).

(12) Where in 1947, A in Government service having his original domicile in territory of India chose to make final option for Pakistan, but later on after resigning came back to India in February 1948 and obtained a certificate from collector purporting to register him as citizen of India under S. 5 (i) (a), A's case was neither governed by S. 5(3) nor by Section 5(1)(c). The grant of certificate under S. 5(1)(a) was valid. AIR 1959 All 79 (80, 81, 82) : 1958 All LJ 729 (DB).

(13) When a certificate is in the form prescribed by rules and it purports to be granted by Sub-Deputy Collector in exercise of powers under S. 5 of Citizenship Act, it is not open to the State to contend at the hearing of the writ petition that the certificate has not been granted by the proper authority. AIR 1963 Assam 55 (55, 56) (DB).

(14) Where a person is born in Peshawar but domiciled in India at Jamshedpur since 1918 and his application for Indian citizenship was made through bona fide mistakes, in absence of fact that he acquired citizenship of any other country he cannot be held to be a foreigner. 1961 BLJR 793. (Order of deportation quashed.)

(15) Neither the Act nor the rules require the Collector to make an enquiry in case he rejects the application under S. 5(1)(a). Even if he is satisfied that all the conditions mentioned in R. 9 have been fulfilled he has ample power to refuse the certificate of citizenship under S. 5. The Court has thus, no power to interfere with the order of the Collector summarily rejecting the application under S. 5(1)(a). AIR 1965 Cal 160 (161) (DB). (AIR 1961 Cal 299, Overruled.)

(16) That a person files an application for grant of Indian Citizenship under S. 5(1) (a) is evidence of the fact that he is not an Indian citizen. AIR 1965 Cal 1 (2) : 1965 (1) Cri LJ 22 : 68 Cal WN 1140 (DB).

(17) The proviso to S. 5(1) makes it abundantly clear that the intention of

(3) No person who has renounced, or has been deprived of, his Indian citizenship, or whose Indian citizenship has terminated, under this Act shall be registered as a citizen of India under sub-section (1) except by order of the Central Government.

(4) The Central Government may, if satisfied that there are special circumstances justifying such registration, cause any minor to be registered as a citizen of India.

(5) A person registered under this section shall be a citizen of India by registration as from the date on which he is so registered; and a person registered under the provisions of clause (b) (ii) of Article 6 or Article 8 of the Constitution shall be deemed to be a citizen of India by registration as from the commencement of the Constitution or the date on which he was so registered, whichever may be later.

6. Citizenship by naturalisation.—(1) When an application is made in the prescribed manner by any person of full age and capacity who is not a citizen of a country specified in the First Schedule for the grant of a certificate of naturalisation to him, the Central Government may, if satisfied that the applicant is qualified for naturalisation under the provisions of the Third Schedule, grant to him a certificate of naturalisation:

Provided that, if in the opinion of the Central Government, the applicant is a person who has rendered distinguished service to the cause of science, philosophy, art, literature, world peace or human progress generally, it may waive all or any of the conditions specified in the Third Schedule.

(2) The person to whom a certificate of naturalisation is granted under sub-section (1) shall, on taking the oath of allegiance in the form specified in the Second Schedule, be a citizen of India by naturalisation as from the date on which that certificate is granted.

(18) Sub-section (3) applies to the case of a person who has lost his Indian citizenship by any of the methods prescribed by Ss. 8, 9 and 10 and hence can be of no avail in determining the jurisdiction of the collector to grant certificates of citizenship to persons whose case falls under clause (e) of sub-section (1). AIR 1958 Raj 172 (174) : ILR (1958) 8 Raj 928 (DB).

(19) The Collector in the absence of any fraud cannot strictly speaking legally cancel a certificate of citizenship granted by him under sub-section (1)(a) even where he had acted without jurisdiction in granting the certificate. But the High Court dealing with the matter under its jurisdiction under Art. 226 will not interfere with the cancellation inasmuch as its effect was to restore only the true position. AIR 1958 Raj 172 (175): ILR (1958) 8 Raj 928 (DB).

(20) Where a person went to Pakistan prior to 1948 on temporary visit and returned to India after commencement of Constitution on Pakistan passport giving permanent address in Pakistan, such a person could not claim to be citizen of India on 26-1-1950 and civil suit by him for injunction restraining Government from deporting him did not lie. His only remedy was to obtain a permit for resettlement in India under Art. 7 of Constitution or in alternative to apply for registration under S. 5 of Citizenship Act. AIR 1967 All 565 (568).

(2) Where an application by a foreigner residing in U. P. is dismissed by Government of India and the order is communicated to him by U. P. Government, petition by him under Article 226 of Constitution is not maintainable. AIR 1960 All 565 (566, 567). (Information of Superintendent of Police not being order of deportation is also not open to challenge — AIR 1960 All 551, Followed.)

7. Citizenship by incorporation of territory.—If any territory becomes a part of India, the Central Government may, by order[a] notified in the Official Gazette, specify the persons who shall be citizens of India by reason of their connection with that territory; and those persons shall be citizens of India as from the date to be specified in the order.

8. Renunciation of citizenship.—(1) If any citizen of India of full age and capacity, who is also a citizen or national of another country, makes in the prescribed manner a declaration renouncing his Indian citizenship, the declaration shall be registered by the prescribed authority; and, upon such registration, that person shall cease to be a citizen of India:

(2) Where by an act of State there is cessation of territory by one State to another, the subjects of the former State can enforce only those rights which the new sovereign recognises. Similarly where there is acquisition of territory by a State, as between the new sovereign and the subjects of the former sovereign who become the subjects of the new sovereign by acquisition of territory, the rights of such subjects against the new sovereign depend upon recognition of liability by the new sovereign. Whether the new sovereign has recognised the rights of the new subjects as against itself and has undertaken the liabilities arising thereunder is a question of fact depending upon the action of the new sovereign after acquisition of territory concerned. AIR 1966 SC 442 (444 to 446): (1966) 1 SCR 357. Section 8 — Note 1

(1) The question whether a person is an Indian citizen or a foreigner, as distinct from the question whether a person having once been an Indian citizen has renounced that citizenship and acquired a foreign nationality, is not one which is within the exclusive jurisdiction of Central Government. Court can decide such a question. AIR 1961 SC 1467 (1469): 1961 (2) Cri LJ 573: (1962) 1 SCR 737.

(2) Article 10 of Constitution is subject to provisions of Citizenship Act — Matters falling under Sections 8 and 10 can be decided by Court. AIR 1963 Guj 226: 1963 (2) Cri LJ 265: (1963) 4 Guj LR 1073 (DB).

(3) Sections 8 (2) and 4 (1) are based on principle of private international law that nationality and domicile of minor are ordinarily determined by those of his father. AIR 1961 Orissa 150 (151, 152): 1961 (2) Cri LJ 353: 26 Cut LJ 610.

(4) Person obtaining Pakistani passport can be considered as foreigner. AIR 1962 All 383 (389): 1962 (2) Cri LJ 166: 1962 All LJ 123 (DB).

(6) Onus of proving that citizen of India has lost his citizenship is on party seeking to deprive him of those rights. AIR 1963 All 260 (263): 1963 (1) Cri LJ 724.

(7) Where in prosecution under Section 14 of Foreigners Act (1946) the accused is an Indian citizen by reason of birth, the burden is on prosecution to prove that he had in someway renounced or forfeited Indian Citizenship. AIR 1961 All 507 (508): 1961 (2) Cri LJ 441: 1961 All LJ 222.

(8) Mere long residence or acquisition of property is not enough to establish an intention of abandoning a domicile of origin and acquiring a domicile of choice. AIR 1966 Cal 552 (566): 70 Cal WN 82 (DB).

Provided that if any such declaration is made during any war in which India may be engaged, registration thereof shall be withheld until the Central Government otherwise directs.

(2) Where a male person ceases to be a citizen of India under sub-section (1), every minor child of that person shall thereupon cease to be a citizen of India:

Provided that any such child may, within one year after attaining full age, make a declaration that he wishes to resume Indian citizenship and shall thereupon again become a citizen of India.

(3) For the purposes of this section, any woman who is, or has been, married shall be deemed to be of full age.

9. Termination of citizenship.—(1) Any citizen of India who by naturalisation, registration or otherwise voluntarily acquires, or has at any time between the 26th January, 1950 and the commencement of this Act voluntarily acquired, the citizenship of another country shall, upon such acquisition or, as the case may be, such commencement, cease to be a citizen of India:

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to a citizen of India who, during any war in which India may be engaged, voluntarily acquires the citizenship of another country, until the Central Government otherwise directs.

13. Election cases.

1. "Any citizen of India."— (1) Section 9 embodies that prohibition which is recognized in the rule of international Law, namely, that no one can be a citizen of two independent States. ('57) AIR 1957 Andh Pra 1047 (1051): ILR (1957) Andh Pra 755 (DB).

(2) Section 9 applies to only those citizen of India, who acquired citizenship of other country on or after 26-1-1950, and not before that date. AIR 1960 All 431 (433). (Case under Section 14 of Foreigners Act, 1946.)

(3) Section 9 lays down a general principle that an Indian citizen will lose his citizenship if he voluntarily acquires citizenship of another country. Its purpose is to ensure that no citizen shall carry the political burden of a duel citizenship with its inevitable consequence of divided loyalties. But Parliament did not want to discourage Indian citizens from going abroad to Pakistan or any other country in search of jobs or livelihood. AIR 1963 All 260 (267): 1963 (1) Cri LJ 724.

(4) Person, not a citizen of India on 26-1-1950, cannot file suit for injunction restraining Government from deporting him. His remedy is for registration under Section 5, or obtaining permit for resettlement under Article 7 of Constitution. AIR 1967 All 565 (568).

(5) Where A, a lady residing in Lahore since 1946 and having no real intention to acquire Indian domicile, enters India in 1953 on Pakistan passport, she cannot claim to be a citizen of India. AIR 1959 Punj 375 (377, 378): 1959 Cr LJ 1018.

(6) Where a person and his wife did migrate to Pakistan and they were not Indian citizens when they entered India in 1954, the provisions of Citizenship Act were inapplicable to them. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 106 (110): (1959) 2 Andh WR 472 (DB).

(7) General rule of Private International Law regarding disability of certain classes of persons, like minors from changing their domicile, cannot be applied to a person who has migrated to Pakistan after 1-3-1947. Such a person is governed by Article 7 of Constitution and will be deemed not to be a citizen of India at the commencement of Constitution. AIR 1947 Pat 266 (267, 268) (DB). (AIR 1955 SC 282 and AIR 1961 SC 58, Rel. on; AIR 1965 All 191, Dissented from.)

(8) A minor cannot change his nationality without action being taken or consent being given by his guardian. AIR 1961 All 507 (508): 1961 (2) Cr LJ 441: 1961 All LJ 222: 1961 All WR (HC) 241.

2. Acquisition of citizenship of India — Voluntarily.— (1) Section does not lay down an objective test. Obtaining of passport from another country implies exercise of free volition by citizen in view of Paragraph 3 of Schedule 3 of Citizenship Rules (1956). AIR 1965 SC 1623 (1628): (1965) 2 Mad LJ (SC) 162: 1966 SCD 67.

(2) An inference drawn that an individual has acquired the nationality of a foreign State from the solemn declaration by that individual and acceptance of that declaration by the accredited official of that State, cannot be said to transgress the provisions of Section 9 (1) requiring expatriation to be voluntary. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (146): (1960) 2 MLJ 290: ILR (1960) Mad 697 (DB).

(3) Word "voluntarily" means person obtaining passport acted of his own volition and knew nature of his act and did not act in performance of a legal duty, nor due to coercion, or fraud, or misrepresentation, or mistake. When a person left India and after staying in Pakistan for five years came to India on Pakistani passport, acquisition of passport by him was voluntary. AIR 1969 All 223 (228).

(4) The expression "voluntarily" was used in Section 9 (1) in contradistinction to an acquisition of citizenship by operation of law. The expression is used to mean "naturalisation" in the narrow sense of that term, and as excluding compulsory, involuntary or collective naturalisation which some States have adopted at different times. The concept of private law rules regarding mistake which invalidate a contract or disposition cannot be invoked in interpreting the expression. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (138): (1960) 2 MLJ 290 (DB).

(5) Mere long residence or acquisition of acquisition of property is not enough to establish an intention of abandoning a domicile of origin and acquiring a domicile of choice. AIR 1966 Cal 552 (556): 70 Cal WN 82 (DB). (AIR 1964 Cal 422, Rel on.)

(6) The mere fact that a passport is given by a foreign country to a person, who is an Indian national, whether the passport is legal evidence or not, cannot lead to any irresistible inference that the said person had voluntarily acquired the citizenship of the foreign State for such a passport can also be issued to a citizen by birth or descent. AIR 1961 Raj 122 (125) (DB). (Case under Representation of the People Act (1951). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1962 SC 1156.)

2-A. "By naturalisation, registration or otherwise."— (1) Under Section 9 (1) place where naturalisation takes place is rendered immaterial that provision will apply even where a person obtained Pakistani passport not while in Pakistan but during the course of his residence in India. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (146): (1960) 2 MLJ 290: ILR (1960) Mad 697 (DB).

(2) A person cannot claim a right of residence on the basis of his domicile, when he clearly communicated his intention to give up his claim to Indian citizenship and also to leave India immediately by withdrawing the application for citizenship. AIR 1966 Cal 552 (566): 70 Cal WN 82 (DB).

2-B. "Between the 26th January, 1950 and the commencement of this Act."— (1) Even if an Indian citizen acquires foreign citizenship between 26-1-1950 and commencement of Citizenship Act, 1955, he also retains Indian citizenship by virtue of Section 9 (1), till the commencement of the Citizenship Act. Therefore, if he returns to India before commencement of the Act, he cannot be called a foreigner. AIR 1969 All 165 (170): 1969 Cri LJ 450.

(2) A person cannot be considered to have lost his citizenship merely by virtue of his remaining in Pakistan after 26-1-1950. AIR 1965 All 191 (192, 193): 1964 All LJ 760: 1965 (1) Cri LJ 522 (DB).

(3) Under Section 9 (1) the acquisition of foreign nationality would entail the loss of Indian citizenship only if the foreign citizenship was acquired after 26-1-1950. The obtaining of a Pakistani passport would afford indubitable evidence as to whether the foreign citizenship had been acquired after 26-1-1950 in view of Pakistan Citizenship Act (2 of 1951) and no further enquiry would be necessary. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (140): (1960) 2 MLJ 290 (DB).

(4) Section 9 (1) is in terms retrospective from 26-1-1950 and unless the rules contained any specific provision they would operate in so far as they related to the termination of citizenship during the same period, that is retrospectively Paragraph 3 of Schedule III cannot be read as confined to cases where the passport was obtained from 30-12-1955. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (143): (1960) 2 MLJ 290 (DB).

(5) For deciding the question of loss of Indian citizenship in the case of a person who had gone to Pakistan, whether that person went to Pakistan before or after 26-1-1950 is material. 1963 All WR (HC) 700: 1963 All Cr R 392.

(2) Under Section 9 (1) which constitutes the expatriation is stated objectively; and the intention with which these acts are done are not the conditions which impart validity to or import effectiveness to them. They operate in law regardless of the intentions of the actor. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (138): (1960) 2 MLJ 290 (DB).

(3) In determining whether a citizen of India lost his Indian citizenship and acquired that of Pakistan by combined effect of Section 9 of Indian Citizenship Act and Pakistan Citizenship Act, the Court shall apply the general principles of International Law. AIR 1963 All 260 (267): 1963 (1) Cr LJ 724. (Migration involves change of domicile.)

(4) If an Indian citizen has lost his citizenship under Section 9 (1), he ceases to be a citizen of India. 1966 BLJR 78.

(5) Once a citizen of India has acquired Pakistani citizenship between 26-1-1950 and the date of commencement of Citizenship Act (1955), he ceases to be a citizen of India. AIR 1961 Orissa 174 (176): 1961 (2) Cri LJ 658.

(6) If the person is not a citizen of India by reason of his acquisition of Pakistani citizenship, he is a foreigner within Section 2 (a) of Foreigners Act, 1946. (1960) 2 MLJ 290: ILR (1960) Mad 697: AIR 1961 Mad 129 (138) (DB).

(7) Where an Indian voluntarily migrates to Pakistan and obtains a Pakistani passport on a declaration of that nationality, he loses his Indian citizenship by virtue of the Act and Rules. AIR 1968 Madh Pra 29 (33): 1968 Cri LJ 172: 1967 MPLJ 743 (DB).

(8) Citizenship Act does not deal with regaining of citizenship already lost under Article 7 of the Constitution. (1959) 2 Andh WR 472: AIR 1960 Andh Pra 106 (108) (DB).

4. "Whether, when or how any person has acquired the citizenship of another country."— (1) Where there is proof that a person is, a citizen of India and he has lost his Indian citizenship by reason of acquiring the nationality of a foreign State then alone any question of invoking the provisions of Section 9 (2) arises. Where a Pakistani national has been legally deported out of India on a particular date, there is no question of Section 9 (2) being invoked or coming into play. 1965 Mad LJ (Cri) 150: 1965 (1) Cri LJ 506: * AIR 1965 SC 618 (621).

(2) Section 9 of this Act has no application to petition under Article 226 of Constitution against order of deportation made against a person under Section 3 (2) (c) of Foreigners Act, because the question therein is whether that person is a foreigner or an Indian citizen. AIR 1961 SC 1526 (1526, 1527) :(1962) 1 SCR 744: 1961 (2) Cri LJ 703.

(3) Question whether a person has acquired citizenship of another country by any of the means specified in Section 9 must be determined by Central Government. But the Central Government acquires the exclusive jurisdiction to determine this question only if and when it arises, not otherwise. AIR 1963 All 205 (206): 1963 (1) Cr LJ 562. (Question in suit whether plaintiff lost his Indian citizenship — Absence of plea by State that plaintiff acquired citizenship of Pakistan — Court has jurisdiction to decide question raised in suit.)

(4) The only relevant date of the arising of the question referred to in Sec. 9 (2) is date on which question arises before Central Government of India and not before government of any other country. AIR 1966 All 127 (128).

(5) A suit by the plaintiff for a declaration that he is a citizen of India and for a permanent injunction restraining the State from deporting him from India, involves the determination of the question whether the plaintiff voluntarily acquired the citizenship of another country and thereby ceased to be a citizen of India. AIR 1963 All 482 (483, 484): 1963 All LJ 75: 1963 All WR (HC) 236.

(6) In a case under S. 14, Foreigners Act, that the accused is a foreigner, is a fact in issue to be decided by the Court. The question whether they acquired the citizenship of another country is related to such a fact in issue. Jurisdiction of Court to decide it has not been taken away by Section 9 (2). AIR 1960 All 336 (337, 338): 1960 All LJ 86: 1960 Cri LJ 771. (Decision of Court is liable to be superseded by that of Central Government under Section 9 (2).)

(7) The question whether a person is a citizen of a country or not is a question of fact. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 106 (110): ILR (1960) 2 Andh Pra 546: (1959) Andh WR 472: 1959 Andh LT 894 (DB).

(8) The question as to whether any decision under Section 9 is necessary is dependent on whether a person in the first instance was an Indian national or whether or not he was deemed to be an Indian citizen under Article 5 of Constitution and further whether subsequently he acquired the nationality of another country. AIR 1964 Bom 235 (237, 238): 66 Bom LR 216: 1964 (2) Cri LJ 399. (Question whether person concerned is Indian national — Question of decision by Central Government under Section 9 does not arise.)

(9) It is only in cases where a dispute arises as to acquisition of foreign citizenship by a person who was originally an Indian citizen that the question has been left by the Citizenship Act to be determined by an authority prescribed by the Act in such manner and having regard to such rules of evidence as may be prescribed in this behalf. (Per A. K. Mukherjee J.). AIR 1965 Cal 1 (3): 68 Cal WN 1140: 1965 (1) Cri LJ 22 (DB). (Section 9 held not applicable to the facts of the case.)

(10) Bar of Section 9 (2), Citizenship Act does not apply to a case where question arising for decision is whether a person has migrated to Pakistan in 1949 and has never become a citizen of India under Constitution and hence Court of law and not the Central Government has to decide that question. ('62) 66 Cal WN 108.

(11) Where in terms of the notice issued under the Foreigners Act by which a person is required to leave India, the authorities concerned proceed upon the footing that he was a foreigner — not that he was once an Indian Citizen and had lost the right of citizenship by acquiring the citizenship of a foreign country; no question can possibly arise as to application of sub-section (2) of Section 9 of the Citizenship Act and Rule 30 of the Citizenship Rules which contains reference to Schedule III. 1963 (2) Cr LJ 210 (213) (Cal).

(12) The question whether a person has or has not acquired the citizenship of another country is a matter dependent upon the municipal law of that country. AIR 1961 Mad 129: (1960) 2 MLJ 290 (DB).

(13) The question whether a man is a citizen of India or not can be determined by a Court of law, and the Court will, in this connection, take into consideration Articles 5, 6 and 7 of the Constitution. 1966 BLJR 78.

5. "It shall be determined by such authority."— (1) Section 9 (2) and Rule 30 (2) of Citizenship Rules (1956) contemplate inquiry to decide whether passport is voluntarily obtained. Inquiry can be made by Central Government only and not by Courts. AIR 1965 SC 1623 (1627): (1965) 2 Mad LJ (SC) 162: (1966) SCD 67.

(2) Question whether person lost citizenship of India under Section 9 (1), having acquired passport from Pakistan Government has to be decided by Central Government and not by Court. AIR 1963 SC 645 (647, 649): (1963) 1 Cri LJ 617: 1963 Supp 1 SCR 429.

(3) A person has right to approach Central Government to decide question whether he has lost his Indian Citizenship (Point conceded). AIR 1962 SC 70 (72): (1962) 1 SCR 779: (1961) 2 SCA 649. (View expressed in AIR 1960 All 637, held was open to grave doubt.)

(4) In view of Section 9 (2) of the Citizenship Act, a Court cannot decide whether an Indian citizen has acquired the citizenship of another country.

Under Rule 30 of the Citizenship Rules, 1956, the authority to decide that question is the Central Government. AIR 1961 SC 1467 (1469, 1470): 1961 (2) Cr LJ 573: (1961) 2 SCA 643. (Case under Section 14, Foreigners Act, 1946.)

(5) The order of Central Government under Section 9 (2) and Rule 30 determining that a person had voluntarily acquired citizenship of Pakistan after 26-1-1950 and before 15-3-1955, must be regarded as an executive order falling withing Article 77 (1) of Constitution and is valid though passed in the name of Central Government and not President. AIR 1969 All 165 (167): 1969 Cri LJ 450.

(6) Determination by Central Government of question whether person has acquired citizenship of another country during relevant period after 26-1-1950 and before 22-3-1954, is conclusive. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 105 (108, 109): (1966) 1 An WR 127: 1967 Cr LJ 423 (DB).

(7) The point as to whether a person has voluntarily acquired citizenship of a foreign State after the 26-1-1950 is one which falls to be determined by the Central Government under Section 9 (2). AIR 1965 All 191 (192, 193): 1956 (1) Cri LJ 522: 1964 All LJ 760 (DB).

(8) Decision of question whether person has acquired foreign citizenship is judiciai. AIR 1969 All 223 (229, 230).

AIR 1961 All 137 (138).

(10) The Central Government is the competent authority to determine the question of acquisition of citizenship of another country for the purposes of Section 9 (2) and for no other purposes. Thus, Courts can determine the question of nationality unless the jurisdiction is one way barred by Section 9 (2). AIR 1960 All 431 (433): 1960 Cri LJ 875: 1959 All LJ 833. (Case under Section 14 of Foreigners Act).

(11) Central Government will have jurisdiction to determine nationality only in those cases where it is found that the person was a citizen of India on 26-1-1950 and had thereafter changed his nationality. 1966 All LJ 867 (DB).

Consequently order passed by Government holding K to have voluntarily acquired citizenship of Pakistan did not suffer from any infirmity. AIR 1967 SC 1143 (1145): (1967) 2 SCR 401: 1967 Cri LJ 1074.

(2) While Rule 30 of Citizenship Rules, 1956 contemplates the Central Government as authority for determining the question arising under Section 9 (2), Clause 4 of Schedule III of the Rules, takes within its ambit the case of a migrated person as also one to be determined under the powers conferred under Section 9 (2) and specifies that the permanency of residence and the intention of the migrant as considerations to be taken account of. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 241 (243, 244): (1959) 1 Andh WR 138: 1959 Cri LJ 561.

(3) Rules of evidence under Schedule III of Citizenship Rules, 1956 have not a compulsive force and though the authority normally would take them into account is not strictly bound to do so. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (140): (1960) 2 MLJ 290 (DB).

(4) Presumably enquiry under Sec. 9 (2) read with Rule 30 and Schedule III is to take place at the instance of the Central Government on receiving certain information that the person concerned has lost the citizenship of India. AIR 1959 Punj 261 (263): 60 Pun LR 696.

(5) Central Government can be said to have taken decision determining citizenship of a person under Rule 30 of Citizenship Rules by the date the Central Government has taken necessary steps to communicate the decision to the person concerned. AIR 1969 All 165 (168).

(9) Rule 30 and Schedule III of Citizenship Rules, 1956 not only prescribe the authority competent to determine questions mentioned in Section 9 (2) but also lay down the rules of evidence and thereby, by necessary implication, the determination of questions in a quasi-judicial manner. (3) Entry in the passport is a conclusive evidence of the acquisition of the citizenship right of the country issuing the passport in view of Sch. III of Rule 30 framed under Section 9. AIR 1962 Assam 38 (38) (DB).

(4) A passport of Pakistan, on the strength of which a person enters India, raises a presumption against him that he has acquired the citizenship of that country. Such a presumption is rebuttable. The burden of proof in that event shifts on that person to explain that the declaration contained therein that he is a national of Pakistan is not true. AIR 1961 Guj 109 (114): (1961) 2 Guj LR 57.

(5) No doubt a passport is an identity and travel document but it might also evidence the nationality of the person to whom it is issued. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (138): (1960) 2 MLJ 290 (DB).

(6) Para. 3 of Sch. (3) Sch. 3, Rule 3, Citizenship Rules, 1956 which makes it obligatory on the enquiring authority to infer the acquisition of citizenship of foreign country from the fact that the passport of foreign country has been obtained by an Indian citizen, is a 'rule of evidence' and falls within the scope prescribed by Section 9 (2). The challenge to its validity on the ground that it is a rule of substantive law must, therefore, fail. Thus, the rule must be held to be intra vires. (Per Majority: Dasgupta and Sarkar JJ, contra.) (5) Clause 3 and Clause 5 (b) and (d) of Sch. 3 of Citizenship Rules which result in summarily defining an Indian Citizen of his citizenship by bringing Section 9 (1) into play, must be considered null and void in view of Article 19 (1) (e) and Article 13 (2) of Constitution. (6) Section 9 of the Citizenship Act does not violate the provisions of either Article 14 or Article 19 of the Constitution. It is not, correct to say that the Parliament has entrusted an arbitrary power to the Central Government for depriving citizenship rights of any person or class of persons. (10) In view of Article 11 of the Constitution, Parliament is competent to provide for the termination of citizenship by enacting Section 9. Parliament is also competent to make rules of evidence for purposes of determining whether a person has ceased to be an Indian citizen or not. The rules of evidence framed in Clause 3 of Sch. III of Citizenship Rules, 1956 are not violative of Article 19 of the Constitution and the Central Government has power to determine the question of citizenship in accordance with those rules. (12) Para. 3 of Sch. III of Citizenship Rules, 1956 cannot be held to be beyond the rule-making power under Section 9 (2) on the ground that the rule-making power under Section 9 (2) enabled only a rule of evidence to be prescribed, but Para. 3 of Sch. (13) Para. 3 of Sch. III of Citizenship Rules, 1956, is not invalid on ground of unreasonableness. AIR 1961 Mad 129 (141, 142): (1960) 2 MLJ 290 (DB). (1943 KB 223, Rel. on.)

(14) Section 9 (2) contemplates, an enquiry to find out and arrive at a conclusion as to whether an Indian citizen had or had not acquired foreign nationality. Provisions of Para. 3 of Sch. 8. Jurisdiction of Civil Court. — (1) Civil Court is not prohibited from determining questions concerning nationality of a person other than those mentioned in Section 9 (2). AIR 1962 SC 70 (72).

(4) The question whether a person is an Indian citizen or a foreigner, as distinct from the question whether a person having once been an Indian citizen has renounced that citizenship and acquired a foreign nationality, is not one which is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Central Government to decide and hence the Civil Court is competent to determine it by virtue of Section 9 (2) read with Rule 30. 1961 Andh LT 930: (1962) 1 Andh WR 110: AIR 1962 Andh Pra 247 (249).

(5) Where the Citizenship Act, 1955 came into force while a suit raising a question referred to in Section 9 (2), was pending, the jurisdiction of the Civil Court to determine the question is not barred by that provision. AIR 1963 All 260 (263): 1963 (1) Cr LJ 724.

(9) Section 9 (2) debars a Court from trying the issue whether an Indian citizen has acquired citizenship of another country, but the section does not bar the Court from considering the question whether the person concerned ever became a citizen of India. AIR 1965 Cal 1 (2): 1965 (1) Cri LJ 22: 68 Cal WN 1140 (DB).

(10) Suit for injunction restraining Government from deporting plaintiff alleging himself to be citizen of India is not barred. What is barred is decision by Court of question whether plaintiff has acquired foreign citizenship. When such question arises, proper course for Civil Court is to refer it to Central Government and stay further hearing until decision of Central Government is received and then decide suit according to law. AIR 1969 All 223 (226). (AIR 1963 All 482, Foll.; and AIR 1962 SC 70, Rel. on.)

9. Jurisdiction of Criminal Court. — (1) The question whether a person is an Indian citizen or a foreigner, as distinct from the question whether a person having once been an Indian citizen has renounced that citizenship and acquired a foreign nationality, is not one, which is within the exclusive jurisdiction of the Central Government to decide. The Courts can decide such question. AIR 1961 SC 1467 (1469, 1470): 1961 (2) Cri LJ 573: (1962) 1 SCR 737. (Case under Section 14, Foreigners Act.)

(2) When the very question whether the person concerned is an Indian national is in dispute the question of any decision by the Central Government under Section 9 of the Act and the rules framed there under does not arise. Courts are competent to decide the question whether or not a person is an Indian citizen or whether or not he was deemed to be an Indian citizen under the provisions of Article 5 of the Constitution. 66 Bom LR 216: 1964 (2) Cr LJ 399: AIR 1964 Bom 235 (237, 238).

(4) There is no repugnance between the provisions of Section 9 (2) of the Citizenship Act and the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code and the Evidence Act as to lead to the inference that Section 9 (2) takes away the jurisdiction of a Criminal Court to decide the question even though it relates to a fact in issue or a relevant fact. 9-A. Prosecution under Section 14, Foreigners Act, 1946. — (1) Where after obtaining decision of Central Government under Section 9 and Rule 30, a person is prosecuted under Section 14 of Foreigners Act (1946) by State Government, the proceedings do not get vitiated on the ground that the order communicating decision of Central Government was served upon him after framing of charge under Section 14 against him. Unless there is some question of prejudice being caused, Court should not disregard decision of Central Government. AIR 1969 All 165 (169).

(3-A) As the decision on the question whether a person had acquired the citizenship of another contry can be decided only by the Central Government an order of State Government, before obtaining the decision of the Central Government, expelling a person on the ground that he had obtained Pakistan citizenship is not a valid order. 14. Disposal of application under Sections 5 and 6.—(1) The prescribed authority or the Central Government may, in its discretion, grant or refuse an application under Section 5 or Section 6 and shall not be required to assign any reasons for such grant or refusal.

Revision.—(1) Any person aggrieved by an order made under this Act by the prescribed authority or any officer or other authority (other than the Central Government) may, within a period of thirty days from the date of the order, make an application to the Central Government for a revision of that order:

Provided that the Central Government may entertain the application after the expiry of the said period of thirty days, if it is satisfied that the applicant was prevented by sufficient cause from making the application in time.

(2) On receipt of any such application under sub-section (1), the Central Government shall, after considering the application of the aggrieved person and any report thereon which the officer or authority making the order may submit, make such order in relation to the application as it deems fit, and the decision of the Central Government shall be final.

(1) Section 10 is rather vague as no test is laid down therein as to when a person's citizenship gets in doubt. It could not be intention of the legislature that whenever a citizen of this country visits a foreign country on business or otherwise for short or long time his citizenship becomes doubtful and he must necessarily apply under Section 13 of the Act to escape the risk of being deported under the Foreigners Act. AIR 1959 Punj 261 (264): 60 Pun LR 696.

Preamble.

Whereas the law by which the Civil Courts are authorized to employ Amins upon local investigations is defective, and requires amendment; [b][ ° ° ° ] It is enacted as follows:—

[a] Short title given by the Amending Act, 1897 (V of 1897). Presidency of Fort William means the former Bengal Presidency.

This Act was declared, by the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874 (XV of 1874) Sec. 7 and Sch. V to be in force in Province of Agra (the former North--Western Provinces) except the Scheduled Districts. Agra is no longer a province. It is one of the districts of the State of Uttar Pradesh.

It has been declared, by notification under the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (XIV of 1874), to be in force in the Scheduled portion of the Mirzapur District and in Jaunsar Bawar—See Gazette of India, 1879, Pt. I, pp. 382-383.

This Act has been extended to the district of—

(i) Rampur, by Rampur (Application of Laws) Act, 1950 (U. P. Act XII of 1950) (30-12-1949);

(ii) Banaras, by Banaras (Application of Laws) Order, 1949 (30-11-1949); and

(iii) Tehri-Garhwal, by Tehri-Garhwal (Application of Laws) Order, 1949 (30-11-1949).

The Act has now been extended to the Union Territory of Pondicherry by Act 26 of 1968, S. 3, Sch. Pt. I (with effect from 5-9-1968).

This Act is repealed throughout Bengal by the Bengal Civil Court Amins Act, 1899 (Beng. II of 1899), S. 1.

[b] Certain words were omitted by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

1. Repeal of Regulations.—[Repealed by the Repealing Act, 1870 (XIV of 1870).]

2. Appointment of Amins.—In each district, officers to be designated Civil Court Amins shall be appointed for the purposes of this Act, and shall be remunerated by fixed monthly salaries.

[a][The number of Amins to be employed in each district shall be determined by the State Government.]

[a] Substituted for the original paragraph by A.O., 1937 (1-4-1937) and A.L.O., 1950.

3. Amins by whom appointed and to what Courts attached.—The [a][District Judge shall from time to time attach the Civil Court Amins] to the several Courts of the district according as the state of business may require:

Provided that an Amin attached to any particular Court may, with the sanction of the Judge, be employed occasionally by any other Court.

[a] Substituted for "Civil Court Amins shall be appointed by the Judge of the district and the Judge shall from time to time attach them", by A.O., 1937 (1-4-1937) and A.L.O., 1950.

4. Declaration to be made by Civil Court Amins.—[Repealed by the Indian Oaths Act, 1873 (X of 1873).]

(i) in investigating or adjusting accounts[b] in any suit or other judicial proceeding;

(iii) in delivering over possession[b] of lands, houses and other immovable property, in execution of decrees or orders of Court;

(iv) in the sale of movable property[b] and of houses, gardens and other immovable property of the kind described[c] in S. 3, Regulation 7, 1825;

(v) in ascertaining the sufficiency of sureties and the means of persons suing in forma pauperis.

[a] The words "Subject to such general directions and restrictions as may from time to time be prescribed by the Sudder Court" were repealed by the Repealing Act, 1873 (XII of 1873).

[b] For powers of Courts as to and provisions relating thereto, see Civil P. C. (1908), Order 26, Rule 11 and Order 41, Rule 27; Sec. 75, Order 26, Rule 9; Order 41, Rule 7; Order 21, Rule 35; and Order 21, Rule 78, respectively.

[c] That is "orchards, or small portions of lakhiraj land". Ben. Reg. VII of 1825 was repealed by the Repealing Act, 1874 (XVI of 1874), but not so as to affect the provisions referred to here, see S. 1, para. 2, of that Act.

6. Procedure in referring accounts to Civil Court Amins.—[Repealed by Act X of 1861].

7. Procedure in cases of local enquiry.—[Repealed, ibid.]

8. Expense of Amins how charged.—Whenever a Civil Court Amin may be employed on any duty connected with a pending suit, or the execution of a decree, except the sale of property, the Court shall estimate the time which the duty may be expected to occupy, and shall charge for the expense of the Amin such fixed rate per diem as may be determined by the Sadr Court.

The amount shall be paid into Court by the party at whose instance or for whose benefit the Amin is deputed, and shall be added to the costs of suit.

9. When employed to sell property, deduction from proceeds.—When a Civil Court Amin shall be employed to sell property, a deduction at the rate of one anna[a] in the rupee shall be made from the proceeds of the sale.

Expenses, if no sale takes place.

If no sale takes place by reason of the claim being satisfied, or for any other cause, a charge shall be made for the expenses of the Amin according to the time he may be employed.

A deposit to meet this charge calculated in the manner prescribed in the preceding section, shall be made before the Amin is deputed, and shall be returned to the depositor if the sale takes place.

All sums paid for the employment of Amins, and all sums deducted from the proceeds of sales, shall be credited to [b][the revenues of the States].

[a] In its application to the State of U.P., for the words 'one anna" substitute the words 'six naye paise'—see U.P. Act 20 of 1963, S. 2, Sch., item 1.

[b] Substituted for "Government" by A.O., 1937 (1-4-1937) and A.L.O., 1950.

10. Power of Civil Courts, North-Western Provinces, to employ Revenue officers.—Nothing contained in this Act shall be held to prohibit the Civil Courts in the North-Western Provinces[b] of the Presidency of Fort William from making use of the agency of the Revenue officer in investigations and adjustments of accounts connected with land paying revenue to Government [a][° ° °].

[a] The words "under such general directions as may from time to time be prescribed by the Sudder Court" were repealed by the Repealing Act, 1873 (XII of 1873), and the words "Wherever a Tuhseeldar, a Naib-Tuhseeldar or a Peshkar shall be employed in any such investigation or adjustment under the orders of a Civil Court, he shall possess all the powers vested in the Civil Court Amins by Sec. 7 of this Act; and the provisions of the said section shall be applicable to the proceedings held by such officer" with which the section concluded were repealed by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"After the Chinese invasion of our country in 1962 it was felt that in order to minimise loss of life, to maintain continuity of prohibition and to restore quickly the disrupted civil services, Civil Defence measures should be adopted in places which were the most likely targets of enemy air attack. With a view to providing the legal cover, a Chapter on the subject was included in the Defence of India Act, 1962 and rules for Civil Defence services were framed thereunder.

2. This law will however, cease to be operative six months after the revocation of the emergency but the Civil Defence Organisation as such has to be retained to provide the necessary machinery for raising and training the volunteers to man the various Civil Defence services and also to make other preparations so as to enable the authorities to adopt Civil Defence measures at short notice wherever necessary.

3. The Bill aims at continued maintenance of Civil Defence services which are already in position in the States and Union territories. It also enables the Central Government and the State Governments to extend the scope of Civil Defence if and when it may become necessary to do so.

4. This Bill incorporates all the provisions of Chapter III of the Defence of India Act and other relevant provisions spread over other chapters of the Defence of India Act and Rules. It also provides for payment of compensation to Civil Defence volunteers for injuries sustained while on duty".

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Bill is sufficiently explained in the Report of the Special Committee printed below." Simla, 3rd September, 1907. —H. ERLE RICHARDS.

[Report of the Special Committee appointed to consider the amendment of the Civil Procedure Code.]

We have the honour to present this report on the proposals to amend the Code of Civil Procedure which have been submitted for our consideration by the Government of India and, annexed to it, a draft Bill amended by us. A detailed account of the alterations introduced in the Bill will be found in the Notes on Clauses which form the second part of this Report, but we desire by way of perface to make some observations of a general character on the defects in the existing law which appear to us to call for reform and on the more important of those alterations.

1. The Code of Civil Procedure of 1882 has been in force for 25 years and the experience of those years has shown that the general llnes on which it proceeds are sound. The matters in which it has proved defective are, for the most part, matters of detail, and they arise, as it seems to us, mainly from the fact that it is impossible to frame a fixed and rigid Code in such a manner as to sufficiently meet the varying needs of an area so diversified as that to which the Code applies. In oui opinion it is essential that there should be some machinery to enable variations to be introduced in procedure to meet the different requirements of different localities as well as to enable defects to be remedied as they are discovered without resort to the tardy process of legislation. We propose to make provision for these purposes by a rearrangement of the Code. We recommend that matters of mere machinery should be relegated to Rules capable of alteration by each High Court, subject to certain checks, and that those provisions only should be retained in the body of the Code in which some degree of permanence and uniformity is desirable. This re-arrangement is in accordance with precedent and possesses advantages so obvious that it is needless to enlarge upon them.

2. The objection — and as it appears to us the only objection of substance — that can be urged against this proposal is that until the scheme of distribution had become familiar to those who have to administer the Act, the change may cause some confusion and the familiar numerical references to the present Sections will no longer apply. We are sensible that some inconvenience must arise from this cause in the first instance, but this is but a small disadvantage in comparison with the advantages to be obtained by the change, and we cannot think that any one will seriously contend that such a slight and temporary drawback should stand in the way of a reform which appears to us in other respects to be wholly beneficial.

3. The adoption of this principle has necessarily involved a departure from the arrangement of the present Code, but in other respects, we have advisedly adhered as closely as possible to the existing language, the meaning of which is now well understood by Courts and by practitioners. Speaking generally, it may be said, that we have only departed from the phraseology of the Code where experience has suggested improvements or competent authority has called for some change. We have refrained from altering the wording, merely, because it might be capable of improvement; for in any change, even of a verbal character, there is a risk of opening a door to fresh litigation. In the amendments that we have introduced, we have endeavoured to state general rules of procedure rather than to provide in detail for every possible contingency; for, we hold it to be a sound view that excessive elaboration of details of procedure tends to cramp the actions of the Court and in consequence, to encourage technicalities. For this reason, we have made no attempt to embody in the Code a digest of the very numerous decisions on the existing Sections; we have made amendments to meet case-law only on points on which there is a conflict of authority. And in this connexion we desire to point out that at the present time there is even less justification for the enactment of elaborate provisions in regard to procedure than at the time when the Code of 1882 was passed. Since then, the standard of legal efficiency in the mofussil has been materially raised, and the principles of procedure are now so well understood that the Courts may be trusted to apply them intelligently in cases for which no provision may be made in terms.

But although we have made the present Code the basis of our draft, we have carefully examined the Bill settled by the Select Committee in 1903, and we desire to express our acknowledgments to that Committee for the store of information it contains, and for the materials collected in their report.

Apart from the re-arrangement to which reference has been made, we have not introduced many changes of a radical character in the Code.

4. The general nature of some of the amendments we recommend, may be conveniently illustrated by a brief examination of the extent to which the various stages of a suit will be affected by them.

A. To begin with, it is hoped that the multiplicity of suits will be further curtailed by the new provisions we have inserted to remove limitations which we regard as needless on the comprehensiveness of a suit, and by the wider powers of amendment vested in the Courts under the Bill. An adequate check is provided by the power of a Court to interfere where the embarrassment is likely to result.

B. Increased facilities have been given for the service of process to which further reference is made in the Notes on Clauses. It is hoped that in the gradual introduction of service by post may be found a solution of one of the principal detects in our legal system.

C. In our opinion, it is most necessary that litigants in this country should come to trial with all issues clearly defined, and that cases should not be expanded or grounds shifted without reference to the true facts. For this purpose, we think that the present system of pleadings in the mofussil which is notoriously lax, should be improved, and we have incorporated in the rules an order on pleadings, which, it is hoped, will lead to sounder and fairer methods of arriving at the real points in dispute. The forms have been revised and we hope that they will be brought into more general use in the mofussil.

We have not been able, within the time at our disposal, to make these forms, or the other forms in the Appendix to Schedule I complete; but this is a matter of detail which can be further considered before the Bill is passed into law.

D. It is not possible to secure expedition in the disposal of suits, unless the questions of fact on which there is a real contest are narrowed down as far as possible. As a step towards this, we have incorporated in the rules an order in which provision is made for the admission not only of documents but also of facts. It must be left to litigants and their advisers to make adequate use of this order, but it is hoped that the Courts will encourage the use of it, since it certainly affords a means whereby the two principal evils of ligtigation, delay and expenses, can be materially diminished.

E. We attach much importance to a proper use being made by Courts in the mofussil of the procedure prescribed for the first hearing. The Code as it stands makes provision for the examination of parties by the Court, and we have altered the language so as to compel the production of documents at the first hearing. In our opinion, this will act as a substantial check on the fabrication of documentary evidence.

F. The provisions relating to the hearing of suits do not call for material alteration, but we have thought it well to provide expressly for the cases where a party dies between conclusion of the hearing and delivery of judgment. It would obviously be wrong that such an accident should in any way interfere with the disposal of the case, and we have therefore inserted a provision to enable judgment to be pronounced notwithstanding the death.

G. A change of importance has been made in regard to decrees. In the first place we have inserted an express provision recognizing the distinction between preliminary and final decrees. We hope, in this way, to afford facilities for checking the delay that now results from the objectionable practice of leaving for determination in execution questions which should be decided by the decree. This change should ensure the more expeditious disposal of a class of suits which at present are conspicuous for the delay to which they give rise. Another amendment of importance which we have introduced is in regard to mortgage-suits. These are very numerous and involve complicated questions of law. Hitherto some confusion has been occasioned by the co-existence of the provisions of the Transfer of Property Act and of the Code in regard to execution in mortgage-suits. We think that the provisions regulating this matter should be dealt with in their entirety in the Code, and we have therefore introduced rules in Order XXXIV to give effect to our view. We propose that the sections of the Transfer of Property Act affected by this change should be repealed. We desire to call the attention of those Provinces to which that Act does not apply to the effect of these changes.

In our opinion, it is expedient to give greater assistance to the Courts in the framing of decrees. The importance of this branch of procedure cannot be overrated; it is surrounded by difficulties which are a fruitful source of error and consequently of litigation. We have amplified the provisions of the Code to meet this defect, and have introduced some forms which can be adopted to meet the requirements of individual cases. We think that further forms might be added with advantage before the Bill becomes law.

H. Amongst other matters, we removed limitations which at present exist on the power of appointing Receivers, and have conferred a power to appoint Receivers on Subordinate Courts.

5. Execution.—The subject of execution is, perhaps, one of the most difficult with which we have had to deal. The present system, in the mofussil at any rate, tends to excessive delay and affords facilities for defeating the claims of creditors. At the same time the creditor often has only himself to blame, owing to his own laches in prosecuting his rights. In the Presidency town the same objections cannot be fairly raised; the system works well; whilst, in the mofussil, the difficulties arise not so much from the machinery itself, as from the defective manner in which it is worked. One of the most fruitful sources of litigation is the setting aside of execution sales, on the ground of irregularity in the publication of the sale proclamation. It is notorious that in many of these cases the Court's officer either through negligence or dishonesty has not duly published the proclamation, but it is impossible to deal with such cases by any provision in a Code. After a most careful consideration of the subject, we have not seen our way to any very drastic changes in the present system. We have found ourselves unable to accept the somewhat far-reaching proposal of the Committee of 1902 in relation to the execution of decrees by precept; but we are so far in accord with the view expressed by that Committee as to have been able to insert in the Bill a clause which enables the Court which passed the decree to issue a precept to any other Court to attach property of the judgment-debtor pending execution in the ordinary course. Beyond this we have felt we could not safely go.

We anticipate that there will be a substantial saving of time, and consequent expense, from the provision requiring that mesne profits shall be ascertained by the Court under the decree itself, and not as now in execution proceedings.

Clause 53 has been introduced to settle a long mooted point upon which there is much diversity of judicial opinion, as to whether or not questions as to the liability of ancestral property in the hands of a son or other descendant to whom it has come otherwise than by descent for the payment of the debt for which the decree was passed, can be determined under Cl. 47 of the present Bill, corresponding with Section 244 of the existing Code. We think they should be.

Other amendments deserving notice relate to (1) the power to break open the outer door of the judgment-debtor's dwelling house; (2) the date from which the purchaser's title accrues; (3) oral application for immediate execution; (4) the discretion of the Court in the execution of decrees for the restitution of conjugal rights; (5) the execution against partnership property; (6) extended facilities for attaching salaries; and (7) powers to decree-holders to carry decrees into effect at the expense of the judgment-debtor.

We regard the changes made in relation to execution as calculated to materially assist the judgment-creditor in recovering the fruits of his judgment.

6. Arbitration.— Two questions of importance have arisen in connexion with this subject: (1) Should any of the Sections of the Arbitration Act of 1899 be incorporated into the Code? (2) Should the right of appeal as now existing be altered, and if so, in what direction? We are of opinion that the best course would undoubtedly be to eliminate from the Code all the clauses as to arbitration, and insert them in a new and comprehensive Arbitration Act. There are, perhaps, difficulties as to this at present. We have determined, therefore, to have the arbitration clauses much as they are in the present Code; but we have placed them in a Schedule in the hope that at no distant date they may be transferred into a comprehensive Arbitration Act.

In regard to appeals, some change has been made. Upon this question, adopting the view of the Judicial Committee as expressed in Ghulam's case (ILR 29 Calcutta 167), we are strongly in favour of finality in cases of arbitration. If rights of appeal be given, the disappointed party will take advantage of every such right. To meet the difficulty expressed in the case reported in ILR 25 Calcutta 141 (which followed many other cases in the Calcutta High Court), we have inserted the words "or being otherwise invalid" in sub-section (c) of Section 521 of the present Code. If therefore, either party considers the award as invalid on any ground, he can apply to have it set aside. We have thought it right to give one appeal from the opinion expressed by the Court on a special case under Section 517, and to allow one appeal as from order under Sections 521, 523 and 526. And having, regard to the rather wide language of the Judicial Committee in Ghulam's case we have further thought it advisable to make it clear that an order granting an application either under Section 523 or Section 526 is not to be deemed a decree within the meaning of the Code; otherwise there would be a wider right of appeal from orders under these Sections than from a decree under Section 522. The other alterations deal with the text, rather than with any question of policy or principle.

7. Suits relating to public matters.— We have inserted a clause to enable actions for public nuisances to be brought, with the consent of the Advocate-General, irrespective of special damage. It has been represented to us that such a power is needed and we concur in that view.

8. Public Charities.— The suggestion has been made on high authority that some express reference should be made in the Code to the power of the Court to apply Cy pres doctrine in the settling of schemes. But this power would appear to exist already within its proper limits (Mayor of Lyons' case LR 3 IA 32) and we do not think it necessary to make express reference to it.

It has been represented to us by more than one gentleman whose opinion is entitled to weight, that the power to enquire into the affairs of public charities should be made more extensive. The clause, as it stands, gives sufficient powers to the Courts to direct accounts and to frame schemes when once a suit has been instituted, but it is said that members of the public interested in any public charity ought to have the means of calling for and inspecting accounts without undertaking the burden of a suit, at least in the first instance. We are told that revenues derived from charitable trusts are in some cases very large in amount, that no accounts of their expenditure are ordinarily rendered and that there is good ground for believing that a considerable portion is mis-spent or squandered on useless objects.

The Hon'ble Dr. Rashbehary Ghose supports these views and has submitted a clause to give effect to them. It is in the following terms:

93-A. (1) The Court may also upon an applications by any two or more persons having the like interest and having obtained the like consent, direct any trustee of such charity to cause to be prepared and filed in the Court, within such time as may be specified in the order, a detailed account of the receipts and disbursements in connection with the trust property for a period not exceeding three years next preceding the date of the application.

(2) Such accounts, when filed in Court, shall be open to insection by the public.

(3) A trustee who fails to comply with any such directions shall be removed if a suit for that purpose be instituted, unless he can show good cause for such failure.

We have given to the subject our best consideration and desire to record our sympathy with the motives of the proposers. But we have not inserted the clause in the Bill because we think that the question is one of policy on which the public opinion of the communities interested should first be obtained. It affects primarily as we understand, the Hindu and, to a less extent, the Mahomedan community. And we should not feel justified in recommending an amendment of the law on such a subject as this, unless the leaders of those communities were to express their support of the proposal in unequivocal terms. If it is eventually decided to adopt the amendment, then we think that the clause proposed by Dr. Ghose may be accepted.

9. Suits by or against firms.— Attention is directed to the new provision in regard to suits by or against firms (O. XXX), which will, we hope, prove acceptable to the commercial community.

10. New procedure.— We have given power to provide by Rules for Counter-claims, Third Party Procedure, Summary Procedure in suits for debt or liquidated demands, as for instance, rent, or any other definite sum payable under a contract and originating summons. We are of opinion that these forms of proceeding may usefully be adopted in some areas but that this is a matter which should be left for each High Court to decide.

11. Appeals.— As regard appeals from original decrees we have departed but slightly from the existing Code. We have thought it advisable to give legislative sanction to the view that no appeal shall lie from a consent decree, or as to costs except by leave of the Court; but the most important change is that incorporated in Clause 97, which renders it obligatory upon a party, who considers himself aggrieved by a preliminary decree, to appeal from that decree, at the risk of being precluded from disputing its correctness on an appeal from the final decree. We feel strongly that this is a most useful provision, as tending to that which is so desirable, viz., finality in litigation.

As regards appeals from appellate decrees the only substantial departure from the existing Code is the insertion of Clause 103. Experience has shown the desirability of this clause, the effect of which will be to avoid remands, with their consequent delay and expense.

As regards appeals from order a comparison of Clause 104 of the Bill with Section 588 of the existing Code would support a prima facie inference that the right of appeal from orders has been materially curtailed. But this inference is dispelled on looking at sub-clause (h) of Clause 104 which allows an appeal from any order made under Rules from which an appeal is expressly allowed by Rules. We have gone carefully into the question of the cases in which an appeal should be allowed from these orders and our conclusion is expressed in the Rules themselves.

12. Rules.— The distribution of the provisions of the Code between the body of the Bill and the Rules is a matter on which opinions may well differ. The general principle on which we have proceeded has been to keep in the body of the Bill those provisions which appear to us to be fundamental and those provisions which confer powers operating outside the Province in which the Court is situated. In some cases we have adopted the plan of inserting leading provisions in the Bill, stating in general terms the powers of the Court, and of leaving the details to Rules; in matters of less importance the provisions have been relegated altogether to Rules. The result of this re-arrangement is to reduce the Act, as distinct from Schedules, to 155 clauses. The existing order of sequence has, speaking generally, been maintained, but the reduced bulk of the Bill has rendered it no longer necessary to reproduce the division into chapters.

It is proposed to vest the power of making Rules in High Courts, subject to the control of Local Governments, (or, in the case of the Calcutta High Court, of the Government of India), but we think it most desirable that in exercising this power, the Courts should have the advice of representatives of the various branches of the legal profession, and we have accordingly provided that, in the case of Chartered High Courts and of Chief Courts, Rules shall only be made after those Courts have taken the opinion of a Rule Committee on which there will be representatives of the Bar, of Vakeels or Pleaders and, in Presidency towns, of Attorneys. In the case of other High Courts power has been given to establish such Rule Committees as the Governor-General in Council may determine. It is believed that Standing Committees of this kind will be of great value. We have thought it better to require the same sanction as is required by the Indian High Courts Act of 1861, in order that the rule-making power should correspond with the power conferred under that Act; but we are of opinion that, in the interest of uniformity, it is expedient that all amendments of Rules should be communicated to the Government of India and to other High Courts before sanction is given to them. This, we understand, can be effected by executive order.

If our proposal is adopted, it will probably be useful to publish annually in every Province some manual corresponding to the English "Annual Practice" containing—

(1) the Act;

(2) all Rules of procedure made under it or under other Acts in the Province;

(3) notes of decisions on the Act and Rules.

13. We are sensible that there may be defects and flaws in the Bill which we append to this Report. The subject is complicated and technical and the time at our disposal has been limited. We do not doubt therefore that much improvement may be made in the Bill before it is finally passed into law. But, in our opinion, it is framed on the right lines. We believe for the reasons we have stated that in any reform of Civil Procedure it is essential to introduce some elsticity; to give wider powers of control to the High Courts, and to invest them with a larger discretion in regard to the conduct of cases which come before them. Mr. Dikshit, Subordinate Judge from Bombay, has been present throughout our deliberations, and we take this opportunity of acknowledging the help we have derived from his experience of the working of the Code in the mofussil. We desire also to record our acknowledgments of the services of Mr. Law, of the Legislative Department, who has attended to the clerical and press-work to our entire satisfaction.

(8) A Code of procedure must be regarded as such. (10) The Code applies to proceedings under the Arbitration Act. AIR 1925 All 154 (155): 47 All 179.

(11) Hindu Law does not override express provisions as regards procedure laid down in the Code. AIR 1918 Cal 987 (988).

(12) Where a suit is barred under the terms of the Provincial Insolvency Act, no recourse can be taken to the Code. AIR 1930 Rang 317 (319): 9 Rang 7.

(15) Proceedings under Income-tax Act are not civil proceedings and hence rules relating to suits and appeals in exercise of civil jurisdiction are not applicable to those proceedings. AIR 1967 Mad 337 (340): (1965) 2 Mad LJ 275.

(16) General principle of pleading in suits including the maxim — Secundum allegata et non probata applies to writ proceedings. ILR (1968) 2 Punj 318 (325).

2. Retrospective operation.— (1) The Code is not retrospective so as to affect vested rights. ('10) 5 Ind Cas 102 (105) (FB) (Mad) *AIR 1914 PC 66 (67): 36 All 350.

(2) Except in the case of a right of appeal, the Code applies retrospectively so as to affect all other rights and matters dealt with by it. (Right of appeal is a vested right coming into existence at the very inception of suit and would not be affected by subsequent amendment of section providing for appeal, unless the amendment is retrospective in operation.)

(3) The Code applies to all cases pending or about to be instituted at the time it came into force. ('11) 9 Ind Cas 815 (816) (Cal).

(4) A suit must be determined according to the law in force at its institution. A change in the law pending the action cannot affect the rights of the parties in the absence of a provision to the contrary. 3. Code, how far exhaustive.— (1) The Code is exhaustive on all matters specifically dealt with by it. The law in such matters must be ascertained only with reference to its provisions and a Judge cannot disregard or go outside the letter of the enactment according to its true construction. AIR 1952 Punj 381 (382) * AIR 1951 Madh B 1 (5): ILR (1952) Madh B 15 (FB) * AIR 1950 Pat 309 (310): 29 Pat 381 * AIR 1944 Sind 73 (79): ILR (1943) Kar 429 (DB) * ('02) 29 Cal 707 (715): 29 Ind App 196 (PC).

(2) It is a rule of construction of a statute like the Civil Procedure Code, that the Court ought not to act on the principle that every procedure is to be taken as prohibited unless it is expressly provided for, but should proceed on the opposite principle that every procedure is to be understood as permissible till it is shown to be prohibited by law. (3) The Code is not exhaustive of all forms of procedure necessary to be used in the administration of justice. AIR 1917 Pat 495 (497) (DB) * ('06) 33 Cal 927 (932) (DB) * AIR 1917 Pat 375 (377) (DB).

(4) The Code, not being exhaustive, should be construed liberally and, as far as possible, merely technical objections should not be allowed to defeat substantial justice. AIR 1953 Mys 57 (58): ILR (1953) Mys 238 (DB).

3-A. Interpretation of the Code.— (1) A code of procedure is designed to facilitate justice and further its ends. Too technical a construction of sections which leaves no room for reasonable elasticity of interpretation should therefore, be guarded against (provided always that justice is done to 'both' sides) lest the very means designed for the furtherance of justice be used to frustrate it. AIR 1955 SC 425 (429): (1955) 2 SCR 1 * AIR 1961 Pat 152 (154): 1961 BLJR 478 * AIR 1957 Pat 260 (263, 264) (DB).

(2) Laws of procedure are grounded on principle of natural justice. Of course, there must be exceptions and where they are clearly defined they must be given effect to. Laws of procedure should be construed, whereby that is reasonably possible, in the light of that principle. AIR 1955 SC 425 (429): (1955) 2 SCR 1 * AIR 1957 Pat 260 (263, 264) (DB) * AIR 1961 Pat 152 (154): 1961 BLJR 478.

(3) Procedure is a handmaid and not mistress of law and rules of procedure should subserve and not govern. Procedure is only a channel to administer law and it should not be instrumental in impleading or obstructing justice. AIR 1959 Punj 71 (74): ILR (1958) Punj 2430 (DB).

(4)The body of the Code creates jurisdiction while the rules indicate the mode in which it is to be exercised. . . . . The body of the code is expressed in more general terms, but it has to be read in conjunction with the more particular provisions of the rules. AIR 1917 Cal 657 (658): ILR 43 Cal 148 (152) (DB) * AIR 1914 Cal 163 (164): ILR 41 Cal 108 (111) (DB) * AIR 1917 Cal 44 (46): ILR 44 Cal 929 (938) (FB) * AIR 1957 Andh Pra 172 (181): (1957) 1 Andh WR 318 (FB) * AIR 1939 Nag 186 (190): 1939 Nag LJ 228 (FB).

(5) Main body of the Civil P. C. sets forth the fundamental principles which can be amended by the legislature itself. The rules in Schedule 1 deal with matters of detail which can be modified by the High Courts with the previous approval of certain authorities. No rule in Schedule can confer upon any Civil Court jurisdiction which it would not have under the provisions in the body of the Code. AIR 1954 Madh Bha 156 (158): Madh BLR 1956 Civil 584 (2).

(6) In the case of a conflict between the Civil Procedure Code and its Schedule, the Code must prevail. (1914) 22 Ind Cas 690 (691) (DB) (Cal) * AIR 1939 Nag 186 (190): 1939 Nag LJ 228 (FB).

(7) The forms given in the schedule to the Code of Civil Procedure cannot control the clear words of the Code itself. AIR 1918 Cal 631 (632): 21 Cal WN 1147 (DB).

(8) It is not right to interpret the Code of 1908 with reference to the Codes of 1859 and 1882. AIR 1930 Oudh 148 (159): 7 OWN 232 (FB).

(9) The provisions of the Civil Procedure Code are subject to the provisions of the Limitation Act. Both Acts are general Acts and are in pari materia. The two Acts therefore, must be read together and must be treated as complementary of each other. AIR 1939 All 403 (405, 412): 1939 All LJ 522 (FB).

(10) A thing for which provision has been made must be done in that way or not at all. AIR 1967 All 136 (140): 1966 All LJ 990. (Attachment before judgment — Though a Court has jurisdiction to attach property, in order to achieve that object it is bound to follow procedure provided by the Code.)

(11) When language of statute is plain and does not admit of more than one meaning, duty of interpretation does not arise and language itself best declares intention of law-giver. AIR 1967 Punj 53 (59): 68 Pun LR 591 (FB). (No vagueness or ambiguity in various terms as used in Clause (ccc) introduced by Punjab amendment in Sub-section (1) of Section 60, Civil P. C.)

(12) Provision which has the effect of conferring a privilege on certain classes of debtors and of trenching on the ordinary right of creditor to realize his money from debtor's property must receive strict construction. AIR 1967 Punj 53 (59): 68 Pun LR 591 (FB). (Construction of Clause (ccc) introduced in sub-section (1) of Section 60 of the Code by Punjab amendment.)

(13) When a statutory provision creates a fiction it is first necessary to find out the purpose for which it was created in order to understand the scope and implication of the fiction. AIR 1967 Mad 45 (50): (1966) 2 Mad LJ 346 (FB). (Interpretation of sub-section (1) of Section 44-A, Civil P. C.)

(14) Order 1, Rule 8 of the Code is nothing but a rule of procedure for the convenience of the litigants where the number of persons interested in the subject-matter of litigation is numerous, and there will be no justification for putting a stricter interpretation on the expression "the same interest" as not to cover cases either preliminary or final. It shall be deemed to include the rejection of a plaint and the determination of any question within Section 47 or Section 144, but shall not include—

(a) any adjudication from which an appeal lies as an appeal from an order, or

7-A. CLASSES OF DECREES — See Notes 8 to 13.

8. Compromise decree.

9. Preliminary decree.

10. Final decree.

11. Decree partly preliminary and partly final.

12. Order rejecting plaint.

13. Decision under S. 47 or S. 144.

14. APPEALABLE ORDERS.

15. DISMISSAL FOR DEFAULT.

1. Decree and order — Distinction. — (1) Definition of "decree" is important because right of first appeal and second appeal is determined by reference to it. Clause 2, Notes on clauses by Special Committee. AIR 1941 Oudh 590 (591) (DB) * AIR 1968 Andh Pra 239 (252) (FB).

(2) Whether the adjudication in any case is a decree or an order must be tested, not by reference to general principles but by the expression of the Code, construed in its plain and obvious sense. ('01) 23 All 152 (156, 157) (PC) * ('03) 30 Cal 660 (663, 664) (FB).

(3) The true nature of the adjudication under appeal, considered in the light of the provisions of the Code and not what it appears to be on its face that determines the question whether the adjudication is an order or a decree. ('55) 59 Cal WN 1056 (1058) * ('47) 1947 Mad WN 723 (731) (DB) * AIR 1939 Mad 897 (899): ILR (1940) Mad 394 (DB). (Per Krishnaswami Ayyangar J.) * AIR 1960 Mad 349 (350).

(4) An adjudication must be either "decree" or "order," but not both. ('15) AIR 1915 PC 116 (117, 118): 42 Ind App 91: 42 Cal 914.

(5) Both a decree as well as an order are formal expressions of any decision of a civil Court. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 216 (218): (1964) 1 Andh WR 185 (DB).

(6) Presence or absence of formal expression is not the true criterion of difference between decree and order. Nature of decision rather than the manner of its expression must determine its character as a decree or order. ('37) AIR 1937 Pat 349 (350).

(7) Finality of a decree or decision does not necessarily depend upon its being executable. AIR 1963 SC 992 (995) * AIR 1965 All 298 (299).

(8) An order is distinct from decree but where it has the force of a decree, it stands at par with a decree for purposes of Court-fee when the effect of the communication of order is that the decree already transmitted for execution stands amended, the order has the force of a decree. AIR 1965 All 298 (299) * AIR 1963 Pat 30 (32): 1962 BLJR 813 (DB) * AIR 1966 Mys 150 (151) (DB). (Order refusing to wind up company has not the force of decree.)

(9) Since Order 1, Rule 10 and O. 9, R. 2 have expressly called dismissals of suits under them as orders such dismissals are not decrees under Section 2 (2) although ordinarily the dismissal of a suit is decree. AIR 1916 All 326 (326): 38 All 357 (DB) * ('83) 9 Cal 627 (628) (DB) * AIR 1919 Mad 871 (873): 42 Mad 219 (DB) * AIR 1926 Nag 75 (75) * ('10) 8 Ind Cas 409 (409) (DB) (Oudh).

(10) "Decree" has been expressly defined in the Agra Tenancy Act (3 of 1926) and the definition contained in the Civil P. C. will not apply to that Act. AIR 1934 All 100 (100) (DB) * AIR 1938 All 124 (125).

(11) Rejection of application for sale under Section 4, Partition Act, is not a "decree". AIR 1941 Cal 311 (314) (DB).

(12) Expression 'order' in Article 11 of Sch. II of Court-fees Act, 1870 as amended in Madras — Not used in its generic sense so as to include all orders deemed to have been included within the definition of decree. AIR 1968 Andh Pra 239 (244) (FB).

(13) Award of Court in a reference under Section 18 of Land Acquisition Act (1894) is a decree. AIR 1967 Guj 118 (123).

(14) Order under S. 2 of the Partition Act (1893) is a decree within meaning of Section 2 (2), C. P. C. AIR 1967 Cal 627 (627) (DB).

(15) A proceeding under Section 11, Kerala Agriculturists Relief Act (31 of 1958), is a decree. 1960 Ker LT 1177: 1960 Ker LJ 1315.

3. "Intermeddler".
4. Representative Suits.

1. Scope.—(1) There is no justification for holding that the word "estate" as used in S. 2(11) means the whole estate. AIR 1964 All 233 (234) : 1963 All LJ 222 (DB).

(7) In order to determine the legal representative of a deceased person it is not necessary that the existence or quantum of the estate to be represented should first be ascertained. The character of legal representative must accrue after and on account of the death of the person whose estate is to be represented. A transferee in a transfer inter vivos cannot be a legal representative. AIR 1956 Trav-Co. 147 (150) : 1955 Ker LT 739 (FB).

(8) When the mortgagor exchanges the mortgaged property with the property of A, during the pendency of the mortgage suit, and after the mortgagee obtains a decree upon his mortgage the mortgagor dies, the execution can properly proceed against A, who must be held to be the legal representative of the deceased mortgagor, he being a transferee pendente lite and bound by the decree. (1937) 2 Mad LJ 359, Foll. (1960) AIR 1960 Madh Pra 198 (200): 1960 Jab LJ 404: 1960 MPLJ 287.

(12) "mesne profits"[a] of property means those profits which the person in wrongful possession of such property acutally received or might with ordinary diligence have received therefrom, together with interest on such profits, but shall not include profits due to improvements made by the person in wrongful possession :

[a] For recovery of mesne profits. see O. 20, R. 12.

SECTION 2 (12) — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. "Person in wrongful possession."
3. "With interest on such profits."
4. Assessment of mesne profits.
5. Onus.

1. Scope. — (1) Mesne profits are profits to which a person is entitled but from which he has been kept out by the defendant. AIR 1957 Raj 358 (358).

(2) Profits which a manager of joint Hindu family has to account for are not mesne profits. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 766 (770).

(3) Mesne profits can be claimed only regarding immovable property and not in regard to such property which cannot be deemed to be immovable property. AIR 1957 Manipur 9 (13).

(4) The expression "mesne profits" in Section 144 has not a different meaning from that in Section 2 (12). 1966 Ker LJ 844 (848) * AIR 1959 Andh Pra 182 (184).

(5) Mesne profits had to be decided by Court executing decree. They are to be determined by the decree itself and not in execution proceeding. Final decree will be passed for mesne profits which will be ascertained in an application and this cannot be regarded as a proceeding in execution but it is a proceeding in continuation of the suit itself. ILR (1963) Andh Pra 560 (DB).

(6) Where under a suit for partitions one co-owner was made liable to another for future mesne profits, the amount of mesne profits decreed was a "debt" within Section 2 (c), Kerala Agriculturists Debt Relief Act (31 of 1958). ILR (1959) Ker 1269 (1271) (DB).

(7) Use and occupation of land without consent of landlord — Suit for — Liability is under Tenancy Act and not under general law relating to claim for mesne profits as defined in Section 2 (12) Civil P. C. 145 PR 1893 and AIR 1953 HP 89, Dissented from. AIR 1955 NUC (Pepsu) 1351: ILR (1955) Patiala 115 (DB).

2. "Person in wrongful possession." — (1) The position of a person who is not found to be the real owner after the decision of the case is that he has been in wrongful possession from the very start. A suit brought against such a person for recovery of mesne profits does not become a suit for accounts merely because accounts have to be examined in order to ascertain the amount due to the plaintiff. Such a suit, therefore cannot be framed as a suit for account, and the plaintiff cannot put his own valuation on it. AIR 1963 Madh Pra 194 (195, 196, 197): 1963 MPLJ 87 (DB). (8 Nag LR 36 and AIR 1947 Bom 255, Rel. on.)

(2) Where the tenant fails to deliver up possession of the premises to the landlord on the expiry of his lease, his liability is that of a trespasser and if the property is not controlled by the Rent Control Act, the landlord is entitled to the mesne profits. AIR 1969 Delhi 59 (62, 63) (DB). ( (1904) Pun Re 5 and 1958 Pun Re 33 and AIR 1919 Lah 72 and AIR 1924 Lahore 643 and AIR 1928 Lah 554 and Civil Revn. No. 248 of 1948 Dated 3-9-1948 (Lah) and F. A. No. 190 of 1944 Dated 8-9-1948 (Lah), Dissented from.)

(3) Where a Court decrees mesne profits, it is declaring the possession of the person concerned as wrongful; when such possession is subsequently declared by statute to be rightful the decree becomes otiose, and the award of mesne profits becomes ineffective and unenforceable for the period the statute has superseded the decree. Eviction having been prohibited by statute, the continuance of the defendant-tenant in possession has to be held lawful and therefore the decree for mesne profits has to be held abrogated by virtue of the statute for the period the statute remains in force and the landlord-decree-holder is not entitled to any mesne profits for the period. AIR 1962 Ker 55 (55): 1961 Ker LT 704.

(4) The plaintiff is not bound to pay the defendant compensation for improvements as a condition precedent to obtaining possession. The defendant being a rank trespasser is not entitled to such compensation. AIR 1966 Ker 286 (292) (DB) * AIR 1966 Ker 72 (75): 1965 Ker LT 666 (DB).

(5) Defendant obtaining decree for possession — Execution — Possession obtained — Appellate Court holding decree to be without jurisdiction — Plaintiff regaining possession — Not entitled to mesne profits — Defendant's possession was not wrongful. AIR 1959 Mys 25 (27, 28): ILR (1958) Mys 461.

(6) Even upon a decree for specific performance, no title to the property passes until a conveyance is actually executed in obedience to decree or by Court in execution. Until title actually passes to plaintiff, the defendant continues to be the owner of the property and he cannot be said to be in unlawful possession thereof and therefore liable for mesne profits. AIR 1966 Mys 215 (216).

(7) Suit for redemption — Court holding debt discharged and decreeing suit for redemption — Mortgagee held was not in wrongful possession till date of decree when relationship of mortgagor and mortgagee came to an end. ILR (1953) Mys 103: AIR 1953 Mys 121 (122).

(8) The expression 'mesne profits' as defined in Section 2 (12), is restricted only to those profits which are derived by a person in wrongful possession of property belonging to another. It has no application to profits accountable by a person not in wrongful possession of the property such as by a co-sharer, before partition. 27 Cut LT 43: AIR 1961 Orissa 111 (112) (DB). (AIR 1935 Pat 80 and AIR 1951 Mad 938 (FB) and AIR 1957 Andh Pra 766 and AIR 1958 Andh Pra 520 and AIR 1956 Pat 244, Rel. on. AIR 1935 Bom 306 and AIR 1938 Bom 231 (FB), Dissent. from.) * AIR 1964 Orissa 94 (96) * ILR (1958) Cut 161 (163, 164) * AIR 1955 NUC (Raj) 4612 * 1954 Raj LW 723.

(9) Sale to defendant held invalid and possession decreed — Execution of decree stayed in appeal — Because possession was ordered to be subject to payment by decree-holder defendant's possession cannot become lawful until payment on a later date — Decree-holder was held entitled to mesne profits of which he had been deprived by the stay. 1955 Nag LJ 557: ILR (1955) Nag 1042 (DB). (AIR 1921 Nag 162, Dissented from.)

(10) The position of a tenant, who was let into possession by a person whose title to the property was recognised by the plaintiff though ultimately it turned out to be well founded, cannot be regarded as that of a trespasser for purposes of mesne profits. In such a case the tenants cannot be viewed as trespassers from the time of their lease. It is only after the title of the plaintiffs to the suit lands has been accepted that their possession should be regarded as wrongful. AIR 1955 Andhra 36 (38, 39): (1954) 2 Mad LJ (Andhra) 141.

(11) Mesne profits against bona fide stranger-purchasers — Mortgage-decree and sale in execution thereof proved void against minor as he was not represented by proper guardian-ad-litem — Possession of auction-purchasers from date of delivery of possession must be held to be wrongful and hence they are liable for mesne profits. AIR 1968 Pat 12 (20, 22).

(12) Restitution of property on reversal of decree for eviction — Possession before restitution held wrongful in view of retrospective operation of Amending Act — Decree-holder is entitled for mesne profits. 1962 Ker LJ 1063 (1064).

3. "With interest on such profits." — (1) A person claiming mesne profits will be entitled to interest on the mesne profits up to the date of the plaint as part of the mesne profits. (1958) 1 Andh WR 427: AIR 1959 Andh Pra 64 (69, 70).

[Note:— This case is reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1231 * AIR 1953 Mys 121 (122).]

(2) Interest is an integral part of mesne profits and has, therefore, to be allowed in the computation of mesne profits itself. That proceeds on the theory that the person in wrongful possession appropriating income from the property himself gets the benefit of the interest on such income. (1965) 2 SCWR 259: (1965) 2 SCJ 9: AIR 1965 SC 1231 (1235) * AIR 1963 SC 1405 (1413).

(3) The rate of interest to be allowed in regard to mesne profits or under Section 34 is discretionary, as there is no question of any contractual rate or any particular rate fixed by statute. The only limitation which is prescribed by Section 34 as it stands now, is that the rate shall not exceed 6 per cent. per annum a limitation which did not figure in the section before its amendment by Act LXVI of 1956 though Courts as a general rule, seldom awarded any rate in excess of 6 per cent. per annum. (1965) 2 SCJ 9: AIR 1965 SC 1231 (1236) * 1962 Ker LJ 1063 (1065) * AIR 1959 Andh Pra 64 (69, 70). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1231.)

(4) Mahant in possession of Devasthanam properties — Mahant removed under provisions of Act — Dispute over title of properties continuing for number of years — Mahant is liable to pay interest on mesne profits at normal rate of 6 per cent. (1965) 2 SCJ 9: (1965) 2 SC WR 259: AIR 1965 SC 1231 (1237). (AIR 1959 Andh Pra 64, Reversed.)

(5) It is for the trial Court while passing the final decree fixing the quantum of mesne profits to decide on the question of interest that may be allowed on the amount of profits. Where such decree is clear and unambiguous it will be incompetent for the executing Courts to modify it by making a provision for awarding future interest. If, on the other hand, the decree is capable of sustaining a construction that the question of interest is left to the discretion of the executing Court, it may be open to that Court to exercise such discretion in favour of the decree-holder and to allow him interest also by way of damages at the rate of 6 per cent. Where the decree has simply awarded a fixed amount by way of mesne profits, it has to be taken that interest on such amount has been disallowed. In such a situation the executing Court is clearly incompetent to direct recovery of interest also on the amount fixed by the decree. 1954 Ker

(14) "order" means the formal expression of any decision of a Civil Court which is not a decree :

4. Assessment of mesne profits. — (1) The mesne profits necessarily should be the net profits i.e., the profits derived after making deductions towards the necessary expenditure for earning the said profits. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 64 (71): 1958 Andh LT 19: (1958) 1 Andh WR 427 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1231.) * 1966 Ker LJ 844 (848) * AIR 1954 Pat 447 (448): 1954 BLJR 300 (DB).

(2) The criterion for calculation of mesne profits cannot be what the person out of possession might have got had he been on the land. Mesne profits could only consist of what the person in wrongful possession of such property actually received or might with ordinary diligence have received therefrom. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 182 (184, 185): (1959) 2 Andh WR 641 (DB) * AIR 1963 SC 1405 (1413) * AIR 1966 Bom 266 (267) * (1966) 70 Cal WN 56 * 1966 Ker LJ 844 (848) * AIR 1952 Cal 47 (52) * AIR 1955 Andhra 36 (37).

(3) Past mesne profits should be claimed on the date of the suit because it is a cause of action which has already arisen on that date and failure to demand it would bar a future suit under O. 2, Rule 2. But the cause of action for a period after the filing of the suit could not have arisen on the date of the suit and if a claim for mesne profits for that period is to be ruled out it must be on grounds other than the ones in Order 2, Rule 2. 1965 Jab LJ 1012 (1016) * (1968) 9 Guj LR 220 (223, 236) * AIR 1966 Madh Pra 186 (188, 189) * AIR 1963 Madh Pra 194 (195, 196): 1963 Jab LJ 129 (DB).

(4) Mesne profits are something which a plaintiff cannot evaluate and it is solely for the Court to determine them on evidence before it. The claim in a suit for mesne profits is only a rough estimate even if a precise amount is stated and it is for the Court to ascertain the true amount and this can be in excess of amount claimed. AIR 1966 Ker 286 (292) * AIR 1963 SC 1405 (1413) : (1964) 1 S C R 515. (The assessment of compensation based, not on the value of the user but on an estimated return on the value of the property, cannot be sustained.)

(5) There is no basis for holding the lessor a trespasser and make him liable jointly along with the tenants for profits on the calculation of what the tenants got out of the land. (1954) 2 Mad LJ (Andhra) 141: 1954 Andh LT (Civil) 128: AIR 1955 Andh 36 (37).

(6) The true test in calculating mesne profits is what the ordinary prudent agriculturist would have grown on the land from which the plaintiffs have been excluded. Merely because for the previous years the plaintiffs have claimed in the plaint mesne profits at reduced rates, there is no question of estoppel. It is no doubt a circumstance to be taken into account for the purpose of assessment of mesne profits, but the admission in the plaint is by no means, conclusive. It might well be that the plaintiffs deliberately claimed mesne profits at a low rate for the purpose of avoiding payment of court-fee. 1954 BLJR 300: AIR 1954 Pat 447 (448) (DB).

(7) A claim for waste in respect of property in the possession of other and to which plaintiff has no access stands on much the same footing as a claim for mense profits. The plaintiff can only leave it to the Court to ascertain and determine compensation due, and he can only make an approximate claim as in the case of mesne profits. AIR 1966 Ker 286 (293) (DB).

(8) Suit for redemption — Mortgage amount deposited — Fact notified in decree — Plaintiff held entitled to get mesne profits from date of decree when defendant got notice of deposit. 1959 Ker LR 1296 (1298).

5. Onus. — (1) Profits actually received are within the contemplation of mesne profits and the burden of proving profits actually received is upon the person who has been in possession of the property. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 428 (429) * AIR 1966 Ker 286 (292) (DB).

[See also AIR 1956 Hyd 164 (165): ILR (1956) Hyd 1 (DB).]

(2) Local law creating special tribunal may lay down that its procedure would be governed by the Code. But this would not make the Tribunal a Civil Court. AIR 1957 All 495 (499). (AIR 1951 Pat 140, AIR 1932 All 651 and 37 Bom 114, Dissented from.)

(3) Section 5 provides that in cases where the Code applies to Revenue Courts, the State Government may declare that any portions of the Code so applicable shall not apply to those Courts or shall apply to them with such modification as the State Government may prescribe. AIR 1956 Hyd 164 (165): ILR (1956) Hyd 1 (DB).

[b] Substituted for "Provincial" by A. L. O., [26-1-1950].

[c] The words "with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council" are repealed by the Devolution Act, XXXVIII of 1920.

[d] Substituted by Government of India (Adaptation of Indian Laws) Order, 1937, for "Local Official Gazette".

[e] The words "with the sanction aforesaid" are repealed by the Devolution Act XXXVIII of 1920.

[f] For promoting the development of democratic institutions and securing a greater measure of participation by the People in the Five Year Plans, in almost all the States and Territories Zilla Parishads or Panchayats have been established and functioning for the last many years. Nyaya Panchayats or Gram Panchayats or Panchayati Adalats formed under these Acts have been given criminal and civil jurisdictions, within defined limits. Procedure to be followed by them has also been prescribed by these Acts and hence it has been laid down in many of these Acts that Code of Civil Procedure or Code of Criminal Procedure or Evidence Act shall not apply to them. For example, see West Bengal Panchayat Act, 1956 (1 of 1957), S. 96; Punjab Gram Panchayat Act, 4 of 1953, S. 66 and Rajasthan Panchayat Act 21 of 1953, S. 49.

(7) Section 6 speaks of only the pecuniry jurisdiction and not of territorial nor even of jurisdiction of the Court with reference to the nature of the suit. This section is not primarily concerned with actual fixation of pecuniary limit of ordinary jurisdiction. That is essentially within province of the Civil Courts Act. AIR 1966 AP 66 (67: (1965) 1 Andh WR 366.

(8) The City Civil Court and not the High Court, has exclusive jurisdiction to entertain and dispose of suit under Section 19, Hindu Marriage Act (1955) without any qualification that the matter should be within the pecuniary limits of its jurisdiction. AIR 1960 Cal 577 (579, 580).

(3) The question of maintainability of a suit must be dealt with on the footing of the allegations in the plaint being correct. (Suit for declaration that plaintiff is Indian citizen and for permanent injunction restraining Government from deporting him out of India — Maintainability — Application for temporary injunction — Application cannot be dismissed on sole ground that suit is not maintainable under Section 9, Citizenship Act.)

(4) It is necessary to consider what the cause of action in the plaint is and what is the substantive relief which the plaintiff would be entitled to, if he succeeds in the suit, in order to determine whether the Court has jurisdiction, irrespective of what prayers the draftsman has thought fit to put in the plaint. AIR 1956 Bom 649 (649).

AIR 1965 SC 338 (342): (1964) 3 SCR 763.

(7) The illegality of the claim made in the plaint cannot take away the jurisdiction of the Court to entertain the suit, though it may be a ground of defence to the suit. AIR 1933 Sind 29 (32): 26 Sind LR 395.

8. Consensual Jurisdiction. — (1) Where a consensual jurisdiction conferred by a statute requires for its constitution the consent of all the parties, this must mean the consent of all whose interests are concerned in the proceedings. The absence of consent, whether due to unwillingness to consent or inability to consent as in the case of minors, is equally fatal. AIR 1944 PC 5 (6).

16. Suits of a civil nature. — (1) Suit of Civil nature ordinarily means a suit in which any valuable right is sought to be enforced. In most cases a justiciable right has a pecuniary value. AIR 1962 All 20 (21) * 1967 All WR (HC) 610 (611). (Suit of a civil nature means suits to enforce legal rights.)

(2) It is not the status of the parties to the suit but the subject-matter of the suit, which determines whether or not the suit is one of a civil nature. [But see AIR 1936 All 117 (117, 118) (DB).]

(3) A civil right means a right vesting in a person in his capacity as the citizen of a State, and it does not seem to matter whether that right arises out of a statute or otherwise, and when a tax is imposed on a citizen and he claims that he is not liable and goes to Court to establish that right, he is asserting a civil right. AIR 1960 All 84, Diss from. AIR 1965 Punj 459 (462): 67 Pun LR 729 (FB) * AIR 1959 All 607 (608): 1959 All LJ 727 (DB). ("Civil" means pertaining to private rights and remedies of a citizen.)

(4) In view of Section 9, Court cannot entertain a suit which is not of a civil nature. Prima facie suits raising questions of law, religious rites and ceremonies only are not maintainable in a civil Court for they do not deal with legal rights of parties. The explanation to the section implies two things, namely, (i) a suit for an office is a suit of a civil nature and (ii) it does not cease to be one even if the said right depends entirely upon a decision of a question as to the religious rites or ceremonies. AIR 1961 SC 1720 (1724): (1962) 2 SCR 509.

(5) The Explanation to this section certainly does not confine the limits of the nature of suits contemplated by the main section. The section takes within its broad sweep all questions where one person claims any privilege in himself as against others. It cannot be assumed that only a right which is claimed, in relation to a temple, such as the right to perform worship in a temple, or the right to receive religious honours or privileges attached to an office as its perquisite or remuneration could be agitated under Section 9. AIR 1967 Mad 451 (453): (1967) 1 MLJ 371.

(6) Where a proceeding is in aid of establishing a civil right or for disputing one it would be a civil proceeding. Broadly speaking if the proceedings taken establish or negative a man's office or status or would affect his right to property of any kind it will be a civil proceeding. AIR 1963 Cal 364 (366) (DB).

(7) A suit by or against the Government or a local authority like a municipality can be one of a civil nature. AIR 1940 Lah 451 (454).

(8) In every democratic country the right of franchise is considered to be a very valuable right, and though the exercise of the right results in electing members to legislative bodies, which have political power, the nature of the right is essentially of civil character. AIR 1959 All 607 (609) (DB). (AIR 1958 Andh Pra 642, Dissented from.)

(9) Right to seek election of legislature is civil right. Election petition is civil proceeding within Article 133 of the Constitution. AIR 1959 All 607 (610) (DB). (AIR 1958 Andh Pra 642, Dissented from.)

(10) Suit for declaration of plaintiff's right to patta and possession of land. Plaintiff claims rights of a purely civil nature which a civil Court is competent to determine and grant redress. (22) If on the allegations in the plaint the suit is properly instituted in a Civil Court, the jurisdiction of the Court will not be barred simply because the plaintiff could have, by alleging additional facts, obtained relief from the Revenue Court. (Note. — AIR 1960 All 573 is itself overruled on another point in AIR 1962 All 248 (DB).)

(23) In order to determine whether the suit is entertainable by the Civil Court or not, the Court has to see whether the suit related to a decision or order in respect of any matter which the different authorities under the Act have the power to determine and not whether any order passed under the Act is wrong or against the provision of the Act. 1968 Cur LJ 940 (942) (Punj).

(24) Bhopal State Land Revenue Act (4 of 1932), Sections 89, 93 and 95 — Entry in regard to right to hold land — Correctness of such entry, can be questioned in suit based on title — Not only Section 95 does not by necessary implication bar a suit but also assumes that in such a suit the correctness of such an entry could be questioned subject to the presumption under Section 95. AIR 1966 SC 1718 (1720): (1966) 3 SCR 617.

(25) The question whether a person is a permanent holder is to be decided by the State Government, or by its officer as contemplated in proviso to Section 2 (4) of Bombay Merged Territories and Areas (Jagir Abolition) Act (1953). But there is nothing in the Act which says that, the jurisdiction of the Civil Court is taken away in respect of any such land merely because a question such as the one contemplated under Section 2 (4) is raised by the defendants in the suit. The jurisdiction of a Civil Court, however, can be said to have been taken away by implication since such a question is to be determined by a specified authority, and more particularly as the decision of that authority is made final. But that would be only with regard to any such question and not of a suit which can be instituted in a Civil Court. What is therefore taken away is the jurisdiction of a Civil Court from determining any such plea or question falling under S. 2 (4). (1967) 8 Guj LR 297.

1. Scope and object.— (1) Object of Section 10 is to prevent Courts of concurrent jurisdiction from simultaneously entertaining and adjudicating upon two paralled litigations in respect of same cause of action, same subject-matter and same relief. AIR 1953 Bom 117 (119, 120): ILR (1953) Bom 416 (DB) ° AIR 1953 Hyd 55 (56): ILR (1952) Hyd 763 ° AIR 1951 Punj (Simla) 275 (277) * ('88) 11 All 148 (155) (SB) ° AIR 1917 Cal 637 (637): 43 Cal 144 (147) (DB) ° AIR 1962 All 108 (109, 110).

[See however AIR 1960 All 184 (188, 189). (The words 'no Court shall proceed with the trial of any suit' do not apply to the simultaneous hearing of a later and an earlier suit, after consolidation of the two, if the matter in issue in both, is directly and substantially the same.) ]

(2) Conditions for attracting Section 10 are, (i) in the later suit the matter in issue is also directly and substantially in issue in the previous suit; (ii) the suit must be between the same parties, or between the parties under whom they or any of them claim; and, (iii) they should be litigating under the same title. It is immaterial whether both suits are laid in the same Court or pendng in different Courts. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 14 (14, 15): (1962) 2 Andh WR 257 ° AIR 1966 Cal 382 (385): 70 Cal WN 375 (DB).

(3) The rule in Section 10 forms no part of the rule of res judicata. ('89) 11 All 148 (154) (SB). (Per Mahmood J.)

(4) Subject-matter and causes of action in two suits need not be the same. AIR 1947 Nag 154 (155): ILR (1947) Nag 141. (AIR 1932 Cal 751, Foll.)

(5) One test of applicability of Sec. 10 is whether, on the final decision being reached in the previous suit, such decision would operate as res judicata in subsequent suit. AIR 1954 Punj 113 (113): ILR (1953) Punj 266 (DB) ° AIR 1953 Bom 117 (120): ILR (1953) Bom 416 (DB) ° AIR 1947 Nag 154 (155). ILR (1947) Nag 141 * 1962 Jab LJ 371 ° 1962 Jab LJ 120.

(7) Under Section 10 previously instituted suit alone should be proceeded with and the subsequent suit must be stayed. AIR 1934 All 131 (132).

(8) Delay in applying for stay is no ground for refusing stay. AIR 1942 Bom 314 (315).

(9) Where parties have agreed that any suit as to a particular matter must be brought in Court x but one of them files a suit in Court y and then the other party sues in Court x, the suit in y, though earlier, may be stayed and the suit in x may be proceeded with in spite of this section. (10) When there is a special provision in the Code of Civil Procedure for dealing with the contingencies of two suits being instituted recourse to the inherent power under Section 151 is not justified. (11) The provisions of Section 10 cannot be circumvented by the device of a temporary injunction, issued under inherent power at the instance of the plaintiff in the later suit, against the plaintiff in the earlier suit, restraining him from continuing such suit, the reason being that a Court ought not to achieve indirectly what it cannot do directly. AIR 1962 SC 527 (536): 1962 Supp (1) SCR 450.

(12) Section 10 does not become inapplicable on a Court holding that the previously instituted suit is a vexatious suit or has been instituted in violation of the terms of the contract. Hence, even in such cases resort to Section 151 to restrain the prosecution of the earlier instituted suit is not jusifiable. AIR 1962 SC 527 (536). (AIR 1954 Bom 176, Overruled.)

[Note: In view of the Supreme Court decision as stated in points (10), (11) and (12) above, the undermentioned cases holding that the Court may stay earlier suit on grounds of convenience and avoidance of an abuse of the process of the Court, apart from the question of any agreement between parties, must be treated as no longer good law.—Ed. 1962 All LJ 464 ° AIR 1953 Raj 184 (184): ILR (1952) 2 Raj 254 * AIR 1941 Cal 670 (671, 672): ILR (1941) 1 Cal 490.]

1. Scope. — (1) Section 11 embodies the doctrine of res judicata or the rule of conclusiveness of judgments as to the points decided, in every subsequent suit between the same parties. AIR 1960 SC 941 (943): (1960) 3 SCR 590. (Principle explained — Need to give finality to judicial decisions.) * AIR 1943 Cal 76 (84): ILR (1942) 2 Cal 299 (DB).

(2) The rule of res judicata enacted in S. 11 is based on the principle that a decision once rendered by a competent authority on a matter in issue between the parties after a full enquiry should not be permitted to be re-agitated. AIR 1957 SC 38 (43): 1956 SCR 781 ° AIR 1961 SC 1457 (1463): (1962) 1 SCR 574 ° AIR 1960 SC 941 (943): (1960) 3 SCR 590 * AIR 1966 Andh Pra 269 (271): (1966) 1 Andh WR 50 ° AIR 1963 All 210 (212): 1962 All LJ 1153 ° 1960 All WR (HC) 475: 1960 All LJ 620.

(3) Section 11 is intended not only to prevent a new decision but also to prevent a new investigation so that the same person cannot be harassed again and again in various proceedings upon the same question. AIR 1942 All 302 (305) (DB).

(4) The general principles of res judicata do not qualify in any way the provisions of Sec. 11. AIR 1926 Cal 568 (573, 574) (DB) ° AIR 1933 Lah 614 (614).

(5) Case falling within terms of S. 11 — S. 11 must be applied and not any general principles of res judicata. (7) Where there has been an executable judgment between the parties, the rule of res judicata will prevent a fresh suit between them for the same relief. [But see AIR 1924 All 927 (928).]

(12) What is conclusive is not merely decision in earlier litigation, but also decision of such points as formed the groundwork of that decision; what is in substance ratio and fundamental to decision is also res judicata. AIR 1967 Raj 272. (AIR 1954 All 215 and AIR 1954 Cal 8, Dissent from.)

(13) Where a decree is passed on the footing of facts admitted, res judicata extends not merely to the actual decision in the case but to the common facts admitted by both the parties and made the foundation of the decree. AIR 1942 Oudh 354 (356) (DB) * AIR 1932 Mad 519 (521) (DB).

(14) The section does not create any right or interest in property but only operates as a personal bar. AIR 1921 Mad 306 (308): 44 Mad 514 (DB).

(17) A decision will not cease to be res judicata merely because the view of law on which it is based ceases to represent the correct law owing to a later judicial decision or legislative enactment. (59) The general principle of res judicata applies to writ petitions filed under Article 32 or Article 226. But the application of the doctrine of res judicata to the petitions filed under Article 32 does not in any way impair or affect the content of the fundamental rights guaranteed to the citizens of India. It only seeks to regulate the manner in which the said rights could be successfully asserted and vindicated in Courts of law. AIR 1964 SC 1013 (1018): 1963 Sup (1) SCR 172.

(60) Constructive res judicata which is a special and artificial form of res judicata enacted by Section 11 should not generally be applied to writ petitions filed under Article 32 or Article 226. This principle would be applied to cases where Courts are dealing with cases where the impugned tax liability is for different years. When the question as to whether any law has been declared by the Supreme Court by implication, such implied declaration, though binding, must be held to be subject to revision by Supreme Court on a proper occasion where the point in question is directly and expressly raised by any party before the Supreme Court. It would not be open to a party to ignore the said judgment and move the Supreme Court under Article 32 by an original petition made on the same facts and for obtaining the same or similar orders or writs. 27. Two suits or appeals tried together — Appeal from decision in one.— (1) A sues B for adjustment of accounts and for recovery of sums found due. A decree is passed in favour of A for Rs. 680. A and B both appeal, A on the ground that more is due and B on the ground that nothing is due to plaintiff but that money is due to him. Both the appeals are tried together and a single judgment is passed, whereby B is granted a decree for Rs. 1,400. A's appeal being dismissed, he prefers a second appeal from the decree in B's appeal but not from the decree in his own appeal. Held that the second appeal was not barred by res judicata by reason of not appealing from the decree in his own appeal. AIR 1928 All 274 (275): 50 All 517 (DB) * AIR 1927 Oudh 575 (575) (DB).

(2) A sues B on a mortgage. B contends that the interest claimed is excessive. The suit is decreed in favour of A as claimed but costs are disallowed. A appeals against the disallowance of costs and B against the award of interest. In a single judgment both appeals are disposed of by which A is given the disallowed costs in his appeal and interest also is reduced in B's appeal. A then prefers a second appeal against the decree in B's appeal. Held that the second appeal was not barred by res judicata by reason of no appeal having been preferred against the decree for costs in his own appeal. AIR 1923 All 490 (492): 45 All 506 (FB). (8) Where subject matter of each of the two suits or appeals is different and the decisions in the two proceedings though stated in one judgment really amounts to two decisions and not one decision common to both proceedings an appeal filed against the decision in one proceeding will be barred by rule of res judicata if no appeal is filed against the decision in the other proceeding. (10) Where a decision is given simultaneously in two suits, it cannot be a decision in a former suit. But the moment the decree passed on the basis of that judgment in one suit becomes final either because no appeal is preferred against it, or the appeal filed against it is dismissed, then at that point of time there comes into existence a judgment which must be regarded as final between the parties so as to operate as res judicata in subsequent suits provided the other requisites of Section 11 are also present. Explanation IV — General.— (1) The rule of constructive res judicata as embodied in Explanation 4 is part of the general principles of the law of res judicata and, therefore, the explanation cannot be said to have introduced any innovation in the law of res judicata. ('03) 26 Mad 760 (767) (DB).

(2) An adjudication is conclusive and final not only as to the actual matter determined but as to every other matter which the parties might have litigated and have had decided as incidental to or essentially connected with the subject-matter of the litigation. 1960 All LJ 254 (258): 1960 All WR (HC) 238.

(3) The principle underlying Explanation 4 is that where the parties have had an opportunity of controverting a matter, that should be taken to be the same thing as if the matter had been actually controverted and decided. ILR (1959) Cut 448 * AIR 1939 Mad 818 (824) (DB).

(4) Section 30 of the Patiala Relief of Indebtedness Act (5 of Smt. 1999) allows an objection that the decree-holder was not entitled to realise more than twice the amount of the money advanced, to be taken in execution proceedings though no objection was taken during the trial of the suit, and therefore, the special enactment must have precedence over the principle of implied decision laid down in Explanation 4 to this section. AIR 1952 Pepsu 35 (36): 2 Pepsu LR 674.

(5) Under Section 26 of the Rajasthan Premises (Control of Rent and Eviction) Act (17 of 1950), the executing Court has to satisfy itself that one or the other of the conditions mentioned in Section 13 of the Act is satisfied before it executes the decree passed before the Act came into force. If the question whether any of the conditions mentioned in Section 13 existed was not raised in the trial Court, or if raised was not decided by it, the executing Court can decide the question for itself. AIR 1954 Raj 43 (44): ILR (1952) 2 Raj 290.

(7) Where a matter is constructively in issue it cannot, of course, be said to have been actually heard and decided. It could only be deemed to be heard and decided. (8) Where the effect of the decision in the former suit is necessarily inconsistent with the defence that ought to have been, but not raised, that defence must be deemed to have been finally decided against the person who ought to have raised it. (9) A matter constructively in issue will not be deemed to have been decided where the case has not been tried upon the merits, as where the prior suit was dismissed for non-joinder of parties. AIR 1922 Mad 259 (262) (DB).

(10) Explanation IV does not dispense with the other essential requirements of the section such as the sameness of the parties, the competency of the Court, and litigation under the same title. 61 Bom LR 1607: ILR (1960) Bom 154. (Prior suit by plaintiff in a Court having no jurisdiction to try it — Plea that defendant's debts had been extinguished by law not raised therein by plaintiff — As decree in the suit is void, plaintiff is not debarred from raising the plea in a subsequent suit for declaration that defendants' debts had been extinguished.) * AIR 1930 Mad 264 (267) (DB) * AIR 1927 Oudh 341 (344) (DB).

(13) Plea of non-joinder rejected as having been raised at late stage — Plea will be barred by constructive res judicata if it ought to have been raised at proper time. AIR 1926 Cal 511 (511) (DB).

(14) Plea of constructive res judicata must be found firmly by proving the facts from which a Court can infer that at the critical time the person sought to be barred might and ought to have raised the plea. 1940 Nag L Jour 562 (565) (DB).

(9) For the purpose of deciding a question of res judicata, each cause of action in the subsequent suit should be treated as a separate suit and if it be found that one of these causes of action was relied upon in the earlier suit, then, although taking all the causes of action together the second suit may be said to be outside the jurisdiction of the former Court, the former decision will operate as res judicata in the subsequent suit. (10) The rule of res judicata cannot be avoided because in the former suit only a part of the cause of action was sued on in an inferior Court while the later suit embraced the whole cause of action and was therefore, instituted in a superior Court. (11) If as a result of any rise in the value of the property the suit is subsequently instituted in a higher Court that by itself cannot save the operation of the rule of res judicata. AIR 1966 Pat 268 (269).

(12) The decision on an issue by a Court of inferior jurisdiction would not operate as a bar to the trial of that issue by a Court of superior jurisdiction in a subsequent suit, if the latter suit was beyond the jurisdiction of the Court of inferior jurisdiction. 71. Jurisdiction as regards subject-matter.— (1) A revenue Court cannot be said to have concurrent jurisdiction over questions of title, with Civil Courts dealing with questions of title. A decision of such Court therefore, upon an issue incidentally arising as to the title to immovable property cannot operate as res judicata in any subsequent suit for the determination of enforcement of any right or interest in immovable property. AIR 1924 Bom 454 (454): 48 Bom 541 (DB) * AIR 1927 Mad 96 (96) * ('81) 3 Mad 192 (196, 199) (FB).

72. Competency must be of trial Court in former suit.— (1) The words "in a Court competent to try such subsequent suit . . . . ." refer to the competency of the original Court and not Appellate Court in the previous litigation. 73. Competency if affected by existence of another Court with preferential jurisdiction.— (1) Where a former judgment, between the parties, of a Court acting on the regular side is relied upon in a small cause suit, the circumstance that the small cause suit could not have been tried by the former Court will not make it a Court incompetent to try the subsequent suit. ('02) 27 Mad 63 (64) (DB) * AIR 1917 All 263 (264): 39 All 717 (719) * ('04) 28 Bom 338 (340) (DB) * AIR 1918 Nag 163 (164): 14 Nag LR 115 (116).

74. Explanation II. — (1) Under Explanation it is the competency of the original Court that determines res judicata, irrespective of any provision as to right of appeal from the decision of such Court and the fact that appeals do not lie or lie to different Courts is immaterial. AIR 1939 Sind 329 (330): ILR (1940) Kar 15 (DB) * AIR 1918 All 52 (53, 54): 41 All 54 (59) (DB) * AIR 1928 Cal 758 (758) (DB).

75. Competency must have existed at date of former suit. — (1) Words "in a Court competent to try such subsequent suit" must be construed to refer to the jurisdiction of the Court at the time when the first suit was brought. (2) Court which tried first suit competent to try subsequent suit if then brought — Decision of such Court would be conclusive, although on a subsequent date by a rise in the value of the property which was the subject-matter of the suit or from any other cause the said Court ceases to be the proper Court to take cognizance of the suit relating to that matter. (3) The augmentation of a claim by accrual of interest is not similar to a rise in the value of one and the same property and, therefore, if a subsequent suit on a pecuniary claim has to be filed in a Court of superior jurisdiction on account of the accumulation of interest, the former decision would not conclude the matter. ('02) 29 Cal 395 (399, 400): 29 Ind App 99 (PC).

(6) When the parties have had the opportunity of putting their respective cases before the Court and the Court has come to a conclusion on the evidence, the rule of res judicata comes into operation and it is not open to the defeated party to re-open the matter by merely alleging that the evidence and the averments which the Court believed were untrue. (16) A party who has successfully pleaded a certain agreement as a bar to execution of a decree against him cannot in a subsequent suit against him be allowed to say that the agreement not being registered is inadmissible in evidence. 1. Scope. — (1) Section 13 is based on the principle prevailing under English system of jurisprudence that where a Court of competent jurisdiction has adjudicated that a certain sum is due from one person to another, a legal obligation arises to pay that sum on which an action of debt to enforce the judgment can be maintained. ('97) 20 Mad 112 (114) (DB).

(2) Owing to the principle of territorial sovereignty a judgment delivered in one country, in the absence of international agreement cannot have a direct operation of its own in another. AIR 1966 Goa 38 (43) (FB).

(5) Where a claim made is abandoned but the decree implies that the claim has not been accepted by the Court, the Court must be deemed to have directly adjudicated upon it. AIR 1944 Mad 427 (427, 428) (DB).

(6) Every step in the reasoning which led the Court to its conclusion need not have been directly adjudicated upon. AIR 1947 PC 192 (195): 74 Ind App 203: ILR (1947) Bom 563.

(7) Ordinarily it is not open to Indian Courts to sit in appeal over a foreign judgment unless it offends against rules under Section 13. AIR 1938 Bom 173 (177): ILR (1938) Bom 16 (DB).

(8) Indian Courts can refer to the pleadings of the parties and the reasons of the Judge to decide whether any of the exceptions in Section 13 applies AIR 1943 Bom 201 (204): ILR (1943) Bom 366 (DB).

(10) Rules laid down in Section 13 are rules of substantive law and not merely of procedure. AIR 1962 SC 1737 (1741): (1963) 2 SCR 577.

(11) Conclusiveness of foreign judgment — Judgment need not have been delivered before institution of subsequent suit. AIR 1963 SC 1 (19): (1963) 3 SCR 22.

AIR 1952 Nag 303 (304) : ILR (1952) Nag 182 (FB). (AIR 1942 All 387: ILR (1942) All 862, Doubted) * AIR 1954 Madh B 156 (158) (DB) * ('51) 87 Cal L Jour 375 (378) (DB) * AIR 1941 Lah 347 (351) (DB) * AIR 1941 Mad 129 (136) (DB) * ('87) 14 Cal 661 (667, 670) (DB) * AIR 1934 Pat 292 (296): 13 Pat 486 (DB) * AIR 1930 PC 188 (189): 54 Bom 495: 57 Ind App 194 * ('08) 30 All 560 (561, 562) (FB) * ('07) 5 Cal L Jour 580 (581, 582) (DB) * AIR 1926 Lah 503 (504) (DB) * ('10) 5 Ind Cas 853 (838) (DB) (Lah) * AIR 1929 Oudh 341 (347): 4 Luck 573 (DB) * AIR 1967 All 375 (377): 1967 All WR (HC) 52 * AIR 1968 Mys 82 (84): (1967) 1 Mys LJ 27 * AIR 1953 Orissa 25 (29, 30) : (1953) 19 Cut LT 1 (DB).

(2) Section applies whether several properties are situated in different districts or the same property extends over several districts. ('82) 8 Cal 703 (705) (DB).

(3) For the applicability of the section the property must, in the particular circumstances of the suit, be capable of being described as a single entity. AIR 1942 All 387 (389): ILR (1942) All 862 (DB).

(4) The section is intended for the benefit of suitors and to prevent multiplicity of suits. ('94) 16 All 359 (363) (DB).

(5) Section embraces evidently all the suits relating to immovable property to which S. 16 may apply. (1861) 1861 SDN WP 588.

(6) The section applies only where the properties are situated in India and in jurisdictions to which the Code applies. [See AIR 1941 Mad 129 (132) (DB).]

(7) Once the Court seized of jurisdiction in the case, such jurisdiction would continue till the disposal of the suit and would not be affected by a portion of the territory in which part of the property is situate, ceasing to be a part of British India, pending the decision of the suit. AIR 1943 FC 24 (28): ILR (1943) Kar (FC) 21: 1943 FCR 39. (AIR 1942 Mad 614: ILR (1942) Mad 376, Affirmed.)

(8) Under the Code of 1859, leave had to be obtained from a superior Court to institute a suit in one Court in respect of properties situated in several districts. No such sanction is now necessary. (9) There being no inconsistency in this section, its provisions applied to rent suits in Oudh filed under the Oudh Rent Act. AIR 1929 Oudh 341 (347): 4 Luck 573 (DB).

(10) The provisions of this section were applied to an application for filing an award under the now repealed Sch. II, para 20. AIR 1942 Sind 79 (80): ILR (1942) Kar 36 (DB) * AIR 1941 Mad 129 (134, 137) (DB).

(11) Section cannot apply to suits in respect of immovable property, which are not of any of the categories mentioned in S. 16. AIR 1942 Cal 69 (72): ILR (1942) 1 Cal 235 (DB).

(12) Where suit property situated in different places was alienated to different persons there being a single cause of action to recover property, suit is not bad for multifariousness and is covered by S. 17. AIR 1968 Mys 82 (84): (1967) 1 Mys LJ 27.

2. "Courts." — (1) The word "Courts" in this section must be held as meaning Courts to which the Code applies. AIR 1941 Mad 129 (137) (DB) * AIR 1930 PC 188 (190): 54 Bom 495: 57 Ind App 194 *

(2) Where some of the lands comprised in a mortgage are situated in the jurisdiction of Court A and some in a scheduled district to which the Code does not apply, the Court A cannot, in a suit for sale on the mortgage, order the sale of the property in the scheduled district. AIR 1919 PC 150 (152): 42 Mad 813: 46 Ind App 151 * AIR 1930 PC 188 (190): 54 Bom 495: 57 Ind App 194.

[But see AIR 1934 Pat 292 (296): 13 Pat 486 (DB).]

(3) The words "within the jurisdiction of different Courts" in S. 17 mean "within the jurisdiction of different Courts in India, except the areas as mentioned." AIR 1955 Cal 159 (161) (DB).

(2) Where a mortgage deed mentioned non-existent property within one local area and existing property in another, the Court having jurisdiction over the former area, is not competent to entertain a suit on the mortgage and grant a decree for sale. AIR 1914 PC 67 (71): 41 Cal 972 (988): 41 Ind App 110.

(3) Where the plaintiffs brought a suit in Cuttack Court for declaration of title and injunction against two sets of defendants resident within Cuttack and Kendrapara jurisdictions in respect of properties also situate within those two jurisdictions, the suit, as framed was not bad for multifariousness and was maintainable in Cuttack Court under S. 17 read with O. 1, R. 3, C. P. C. AIR 1960 Orissa 159 (160, 161). (AIR 1952 Nag 303 (FB), Foll.; AIR 1942 All 387, Diss. from.)

(4) Sections 16 to 18 deal with suits relating to immoveable property and suits relating to mixed actions. A reading of Ss. 15 to 20 lead to following legal consequences (1) that a Court has jurisdiction to entertain a suit if the cause of action arises within its jurisdiction though defendant does not reside therein and (2) that a Court has jurisdiction to entertain a suit if the defendant carries on business within its jurisdiction though cause of action arose outside it where therefore, cause of action arose in Pakistan, and the defendant was carrying on business at Delhi, Courts in Delhi can entertain a suit. (1955) 57 Pun LR 51: ILR (1955) Punj 633 (636, 637).

4. Different causes of action.—(1) Where a plaintiff has two or more causes of action in the suit, he can take advantage of the provisions of this section if the joinder of such causes of action is permitted by the provisions of O. 1, R. 3 and O. 2, R. 3. If the joinder of such causes of action is bad for multifariousness, then the suit cannot be tried in either of the Courts within whose jurisdiction the properties are situate. AIR 1940 All 205 (206) (DB) * AIR 1933 Mad 622 (624) (DB) * ('81) 7 Cal 739 (745) (DB) * ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 397 (403) * ('10) 5 Ind Cas 835 (838) (DB) (Lah) * ('13) 21 Ind Cas 438 (410) (DB) (Cal) * AIR 1968 Mys 82 (84): (1967) 1 Mys LJ 27.

(2) Where in a suit for partition, the properties are situated in two territorial jurisdictions and the causes of action in respect of two sets of properties are distinct such suit is not maintainable in one jurisdiction. AIR 1964 Pat 79 (80) (DB).

5. Separate suits.—(1) Where the plaintiff has a cause of action in respect of properties situated within the jurisdiction of different Courts, there are two courses open to him — (1) he may file a suit on the whole claim in any one of the Courts or (2) he may file separate suits on the same cause of action in respect of each of the properties situated within the jurisdiction of the said Courts and none of such suits will operate as a bar to the others. AIR 1917 Mad 350 (351) (DB). (Suit for partition.) * ('67) 3 Mad HCR 376 (377) * ('84) 1884 Pun Re No. 162 p. 408 (410).

[See also ('05) 28 Mad 216 (223, 224) (DB) * ('70) 5 Mad HCR 419 (421, 422) (DB).]

6. Withdrawal of part of claim.— (1) Where a suit is brought in B in respect of the properties situate, one in B District and the other in A district, and the claim in respect of the lands in B is withdrawn or compromised or abandoned by the plaintiff, the B Court does not thereby lose its jurisdiction to proceed to adjudicate on the claim respecting the property in A unless the withdrawal or compromise or abandonment is fraudulent or is a mere device to evade the provisions of the Code as to local jurisdiction. ('08) 30 All 560 (566, 567) (FB). (1885 All WN 125, Overruled.)

[See also ('94) 16 All 359 (363) (DB).]

(2) Where a suit in respect of a house and certain land was filed in a Court within whose jurisdiction the house alone was situate and an appeal from the decree in the suit was filed in the Court to which appeals lie from the decrees of that Court, it was held that the fact that the plaintiff abandoned his claim in respect of the house in appeal and that the appeal related only to the land which did not lie within the jurisdiction of the Appellate Court, would not affect the jurisdiction of that Court to hear the appeal. AIR 1938 Oudh 65 (69) (DB).

18. Place of institution of suit where local limits of jurisdiction of Courts are uncertain.—(1) Where it is alleged to be uncertain within the local limits of the jurisdiction of which of two or more Courts any immoveable property is situate, any one of those Courts may, if satisfied that there is ground for the alleged uncertainty, record a statement to that effect and thereupon proceed to entertain and dispose of any suit relating to that property, and its decree in the suit shall

(3) The fact that at the time of the decision the plaintiff is found not to have title to a portion of the property within jurisdiction, as alleged does not take away the jurisdiction unless the inclusion of such portion is not bona fide. AIR 1930 Nag 189 (191): 26 Nag LR 103.

7. Execution.—(1) No Court can execute a decree in which the subject matter of the suit or of the application for execution, is property situated entirely outside the local limits of its jurisdiction. ('11) 39 Cal 104 (108) (DB) * ('90) 17 Cal 699 (703) (FB).

Also see S. 38.

(2) Where a Court has acquired, under this section, jurisdiction over property situated partly within its limits and partly outside it, it will continue in execution proceedings also. ('92) 19 Cal 13 (15) (DB) * AIR 1933 Lah 687 (687): 14 Lah 457 * ('73) 11 Beng LR 56 (64, 66) (SB)* AIR 1925 Pat 139 (139. 140) (DB).

[See also ('75) 23 Suth WR 154 (155) (DB).]

(3) The reason is that the proceedings in execution of a decree are only a continuation of the proceedings in the suit in which the decree is passed. See ('02) 1902 Pun Re No. 8, p. 30 (33) (DB).

(4) If a Court has jurisdiction to try the suit and to pass a decree therein, it has jurisdiction to sell all the properties comprised in the decree though some of them may be beyond its jurisdiction. The Court may, however, in its discretion, under S. 39 of the Code, send the decree for execution to the other Court. ('92) 19 Cal 13 (16) (DB) * AIR 1925 Pat 139 (140) (DB).

8. Chartered High Courts.— (1) This section does not apply to Chartered High Courts in the exercise of their original civil jurisdiction. ('55) AIR 1955 Bom 55 (58).

(2) Under Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent, the High Court can entertain a suit for land suituate partly within and partly without the local limits of its ordinary original civil jurisdicion provided the leave of the Court is first obtained. ('77) 2 Cal 445 (463, 465) (DB) * AIR 1933 Cal 295 (300): 60 Cal 54 (DB) * ('98) 22 Bom 922 (926) * ('80) 4 Bom 482 (488).

[See also ('01) 24 Mad 293 (295) (DB).]

(3) For a suit under Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent for land situate partly within and partly outside local limits of original civil jurisdiction, it is not necessary that the cause of action should arise within such local limits or be one specifically with reference to the portion of the property within those limits. ('08) 36 Cal 28 (40, 41).

(4) Where the suit is for land situated outside the jurisdiction of the High Court and for moveables within the High Court has no jurisdiction to deal with lands and no leave to sue therein can be given. ('96) 19 Mad 448 (451) (DB) * ('80) 4 Bom 482 (488).

(5) The restrictions in Cl. 12 of the Letters Patent apply to the case of a plaintiff and not to that of a defendant. ('97) 24 Cal 190 (193) * ('10) 37 Cal 907 (911).

(6) A suit to determine title of land wholly within the original jurisdiction of Calcutta High Court could only be instituted in the High Court under Cl. 12 of Letters Patent. Jurisdiction of Mofussil Court as determined by Secs. 17 and 16. Provisions of O. 2, R. 3 Civil P. C. do not give a Court jurisdiction which is not given to it under Ss. 16 and 17. AIR 1962 Cal 616 (622).

2. Allegation of uncertainty.— (1) When an allegation as to the uncertainty of the property in dispute lying within the Court's jurisdiction is made, the Court must be satisfied that there is such uncertainty; and if so satisfied, it may record a statement and proceed with the case. It must try the question itself and cannot take the decision of a Revenue Court in respect of boundaries as settling the matter. (3) When there has been no notification fixing the boundaries of a particular district, that fact might create a reasonable uncertainty as to whether a certain property is within that district or not. ('97) 24 Cal 449 (454) (DB).

3. Non-recording of statement as to uncertainty. — (1) The non-recording of the statement as to uncertainty will not vitiate the decree where the Judge has, in fact, brought his mind to bear upon the question. ('01) 1901 Pun Re No. 1. p. 3 (5).

(2) It will not vitiate the decree unless it appears that no reasonable uncertainty existed at the time of the suit, and there has been a failure of justice in consequence thereof. AIR 1922 Cal 345 (346): 49 Cal 37 (DB).

(2) Section 19 cannot be regarded as in the nature of an exception to S. 20. It is true that the provisions of S. 19, overlap, to some extent the provisions of S. 20 but is only an extension of S. 20. Section 19 appears to have been enacted only for the purpose of elucidating the position that the place, where the wrong is done to the person or movable property is the place where the cause of action arises within the meaning of S. 20 (c) of the Code. 3. Suit must be for compensation. — (1) Suits for injunctions, e.g., against disturbances of rights of patent and trade mark, are excluded from the scope of the section. See ('95) 19 Bom 557 (564).

(2) Where the defendant has, by means of a tort, become possessed of a sum of money at the expense of the plaintiff the plaintiff may elect to sue either for damages, for tort or for the recovery of money obtained by the defendant. In the former case, the suit would be one falling within this section and in the latter, within Section 20. AIR 1936 Sind 229 (231): 30 Sind LR 182 (DB).

A also agreed to pay its price if there was any damage to it. On demand by B, A failed to hand back the stack or to pay its price as agreed. Thereupon B sued A claiming certain amount as damages on account of 'wrongful conversion of goods'. It was held that the suit was not one for damages for wrong done to moveable property to which Section 19 could apply, but was one for damages for breach of contract and the place of suit was to be determined with reference to provisions in Section 20. 5. "Resides." — (1) The word "resides" does not apply to legal entities. Where a tort was committed for which the Secretary of State was liable, the suit could be brought only where the tort was committed and not elsewhere on the ground that he "resided" there. AIR 1927 Mad 689 (690): 50 Mad 449 (DB).

(2) Suit against Government for arrears of salary and travelling allowance — Plaintiff residing at A but throughout his service employed at place other than A — Notice under Section 80 given to Collector of A and suit filed in Court at A — Held, Court at A had not jurisdiction to try suit under either Section 19 or 20. 1. Scope and principle. — (1) Section 20 enacts the rule as to the forum in cases of personal actions, and has to be read subject to the provisions of Sections 15 to 19. (1896) 19 Mad 477 (478) (DB) * AIR 1953 Madh B 38 (39) * (1903) 30 Cal 453 (457) (DB) * AIR 1931 Mad 705 (707).

(2) The section is designed to secure that justice might be brought as near as possible to every man's hearth-stone and that the defendant should not be put to the trouble and expense of travelling long distances in order to defend himself. AIR 1956 Punj 188 (188): ILR (1956) Punj 1299 * AIR 1963 SC 1681 (1683): (1964) 3 SCR 164. (Principle behind the provisions of Cls. (a) and (b) of Section 20 is that the suit be instituted at a place where the defendant is able to defend the suit without undue trouble.)

[See also AIR 1967 Cal 24 (25): ILR (1960) 2 Cal 85. (Jurisdiction on basis of contractual clause — Court wherein evidence is readily available has to be preferred.)

(3) Section 20 does not relate to defect of jurisdiction arising out of nature of Court but about the place of trial of the suit. AIR 1950 Ajmer 49 (50).

(4) If several causes of action are joined against a defendant, it is necessary that the Court should have jurisdiction over all causes of action. See Note 13.

(5) The onus is upon the plaintiff to establish one or other of the facts mentioned in the section. AIR 1952 Raj 31 (32) (DB) * AIR 1930 Bom 150 (151): 54 Bom 192 (DB).

(6) After the question of local jurisdiction is decided, the question of pecuniary jurisdiction may arise before any plea affecting the suit is entertained. (1903) 30 Cal 453 (457) (DB) * 1910 Pun Re No. 83, p. 242 (242, 243): 7 Ind Cas 718 (718).

(7) The rules stated in the various portions of the section are alternative and give a choice of forum to the plaintiff. (1913) 21 Ind Cas 789 (801) (DB) (Mad) * (1949) 53 Cal WN 261 (265) * AIR 1936 All 514 (515) * AIR 1923 Mad 109 (111) * ('37) 20 Nag L Jour 238 (240).

(8) Very strong reasons must be shown for depriving a plaintiff of such right. AIR 1914 Low Bur 37 (39): 7 Low Bur Rul 129 (DB).

[See AIR 1956 Cal 33 (35).]

(9) A plaintiff cannot take advantage of his own default to choose his own forum. AIR 1921 Lah 213 (213, 214).

(10) Court does not get jurisdiction, where in order to bring a suit within the jurisdiction, the plaintiff makes a false avernment. AIR 1923 All 137 (138): 45 All 193 (DB) * 1955-2 Mad L Jour 228 (229).

(11) A Court is not deprived of its jurisdiction by the fact that the place where the cause of action arises ceases to be situate within its jurisdiction, or by the defendant changing his residence beyond its jurisdiction. AIR 1928 Mad 746 (747) (DB) * AIR 1933 Nag 318 (320): 29 Nag LR 342 * 1869 Pun Re No. 88.

Explanation II.—A corporation shall be deemed to carry on business at its sole or principal office in [a][India] or, in respect of any cause of action arising at any place where it has also a subordinate office, at such place.

Illustrations.

(a) A is a tradesman in Calcutta. B carries on business in Delhi. B, by his agent in Calcutta, buys goods of A and requests A to deliver them to the East Indian Railway Company. A delivers the goods accordingly in Calcutta. A may sue B for the price of goods either in Calcutta, where the cause of action has arisen, or in Delhi, where B carries on business.

(b) A resides at Simla, B at Calcutta and C at Delhi. A, B and C being together at Benares, B and C make a joint promissory note payable on demand, and deliver it to A. A may sue B and C at Benares, where the cause of action arose. He may also sue them at Calcutta, where B resides, or at Delhi, where C resides; but in each of these cases, if the non-resident defendant objects, the suit cannot proceed without the leave of the Court.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Explanation III of Section 17 of the Code of 1882 related to the place where a suit arising out of a contract could be instituted. The committee have omitted this explanation, which has become unnecessary owing to the addition made to sub-clause (c) of this section of the words "wholly or in part" in reference to the cause of action — See S. O. R.

Section 21 (contd.)

1. Scope and object.— (1) It is a fundamental rule that a judgment of a Court without jurisdiction is a nullity and that want of jurisdiction cannot be waived. To this rule there are two exceptions recognised by the Indian law, Sec. 11, Suits Valuation Act, 1887 and S. 21, Civil P. C. AIR 1955 All 569 (571) (DB) * AIR 1941 Mad 129 (136) (DB) * AIR 1941 Nag 36 (44): ILR (1941) Nag 1 (FB) * AIR 1938 Mad 257 (259, 261) (DB) * AIR 1938 Pesh 77 (78) (DB) * AIR 1967 Ker 97 (99) (DB) * AIR 1960 Pat 136 (138) (DB) * 1956 Raj LW 268: ILR (1956) 6 Raj 102.

(2) Section 21 is framed on the analogy of S. 11 of the Suits Valuation Act 1887. AIR 1954 SC 340 (342): 1955-1 SCR 117 * AIR 1923 Cal 619 (622) (DB) * AIR 1914 Lah 385 (388): 1914 Pun Re No. 87 (DB).

(3) Under S. 21 an objection as to the place of suing cannot be entertained by an Appellate Court except under the circumstances mentioned in the section. AIR 1956 Mad 593 (594) * AIR 1952 Cal 473 (480): ILR (1953) 1 Cal 208 (DB) * AIR 1925 Mad 117 (119, 123) (DB) * AIR 1923 Cal 619 (622) (DB).

(4) The object of S. 21 is that when the Court of first instance after giving an affirmative finding on jurisdiction takes proceedings on the merits of the case, the latter should not be rendered abortive in case the higher Court comes to a contrary finding on the point of territorial jurisdiction. AIR 1954 SC 340 (342) : 1955-1 SCR 117 * AIR 1956 Mad 593 (594) * AIR 1914 Lah 385 (387, 388) : 1914 Pun Re No. 87 (DB) * ('62) 64 Punj LR 213 (220) (DB).

(5) Trial Court can raise the issue of jurisdiction and consider it whether the same was pleaded by the defendants or not. ILR (1958) Mys 736 (738).

(6) Section 21 applies to all objections as to the place of suing. [But see AIR 1958 Punj 289 (293) (DB).]

(7) The effect of S. 21 is to cure, for all purposes, objections to territorial jurisdiction except under the conditions specified in the section. AIR 1920 Mad 1019 (1024): 43 Mad 675 (FB) * AIR 1955 Cal 331 (334) * AIR 1935 Oudh 358 (360): 11 Luck 187 (DB).

(8) Section 21 does not apply to an objection based on an agreement between the parties that the suit should only be filed in a particular Court. AIR 1955 Madh B 193 (198): ILR (1956) Madh B 237 (FB) * AIR 1964 Mys 147 (154) (DB). (AIR 1958 Punj 289, Dissented from.)

(Even if it be held that S. 21 does not in terms apply to proceedings in execution, the principle underlying it does so apply.)

(13) The section only applies to want of territorial jurisdiction. It does not apply to the inherent incompetency of a Court to deal with a cause. 5. Failure of justice.—(1) Before an appellate or revisional Court could entertain an objection to jurisdiction it is necessary to show that the trial in the wrong Court has led to a failure of justice. (Failure of justice not shown in second appeal — Objection to place of suing not allowed.) * ILR (1960) 10 Raj 43.

(2) The condition "unless there has been a consequent failure of justice" implies that at the time when the objection is taken in the appellate or revisional Court, the suit has already been tried on the merits. The section does not preclude the objection as to the place of suing, if the trial Court has not given a verdict on the merits at the time when the objection is taken in the appellate or revisional Court. (A sale or delivery by a Court of a property outside its territorial jurisdiction conducted or made without objection cannot subsequently be objected on the ground of want of territorial jurisdiction.)

[But see AIR 1923 Cal 619 (622) (DB).]

(3) If the defendant did not take objection with regard to the jurisdiction of the Court and a decree was passed by a Court duly constituted for the purpose or, at any rate, regarding which the question was doubtful as to whether that Court had jurisdiction or a different kind of Court altogether, it is not open to the judgment-debtor, in the course of execution proceedings, to say that the Court had no jurisdiction to pass that decree. (6) Where a Court sells properties without objection by the judgment-debtor after the territorial jurisdiction has been withdrawn from it, the estoppel against the judgment-debtor cannot be extended to apply to a subsequent purchaser of the same property at a sale held in execution of a decree against the same judgment-debtor in another suit. AIR 1920 Mad 505 (506, 507, 508): 43 Mad 135 (DB).

(7) The failure of a party to object to the territorial jurisdiction of a Court to pass a final decree does not amount to a waiver of objection to the Court's jurisdiction to sell the property in execution of that decree. AIR 1927 Mad 627 (630): 50 Mad 882 (DB).

(8) When a Court has jurisdiction over the subject-matter of an execution petion, the mere fact that the Court deals with the petition without a formal order of transfer of the decree by the Court which passed it, would not make the orders passed on such petition null and void. AIR 1943 Mad 449 (453): ILR (1943) Mad 804 (DB).

(9) Objection as to absence of jurisdiction taken at trial, but given up at later stage and consent decree passed — Execution cannot be objected on the ground that Court had no jurisdiction to pass a decree. 1961 MPC 852: 1961 Jab LJ 1484.

(6) Where the plea as to want of jurisdiction has been heard and decided in plaintiff's favour and the defendant thereupon applies for transfer on the basis of the evidence of jurisdiction, the section will apply. AIR 1927 Lah 183 (184, 185).

(7) This section has reference only to cases which, at the option of the plaintiff, can be brought in more Courts than one. AIR 1914 All 351 (352) * AIR 1934 All 569 (571).

(8) This section does not apply to a case in which the question is whether a suit should be tried by the Court subordinate to a High Court or by a High Court. AIR 1934 All 14 (16): 56 All 201.

(9) Where some of the defendants to a suit are residents within the jurisdiction of one Court and others within the jurisdiction of another Court and the suit is instituted in the former Court by leave of Court granted under Section 20 (b), the proper remedy, where such leave has been granted without notice to the opposite party, is to apply to have the suit transferred. AIR 1938 Pesh 15 (17).

(10) Any declaration made under this section determining the Court in which the suit shall proceed, is in substance and in effect a direction that the suit shall be transferred to that Court. AIR 1958 Ker 82 (83) (DB).

2. "Apply to have the suit transferred." — (1) An application for transfer should ordinarily be made by petition and affidavits setting forth the grounds of ransfer. ('83) 9 Cal 980 (982).

(2) Where there are several suits to be transferred a separate application is necessary for each suit. ('70) 2 NWPHCR 147 (147, 148).

(3) Even before a guardian ad litem has been appointed to a minor defendant, any next friend of the minor may apply on his behalf for transfer of the case to another Court. ('89) 16 Cal 771 (776).

(4) Even assuming that provisions of Civil P. 3. Notice to the other parties necessary. — (1) The notice must be given prior to the making of the application. AIR 1916 Lah 95 (96): 1917 Pun Re No. 11 * AIR 1928 Lah 183 (183, 184).

(2) 'At or before such settlement' when read with the requirement that the application should be filed at the earliest possible opportunity can mean only that the application shall be filed either before the settlement of issues or simultaneously with the settlement of issues. The language of Section 22 does not warrant any interpretation of the word 'at' to mean and include also 'after'. AIR 1968 Andh Pra 205 (206): (1968) 2 Andh WR 225.

(3) A party taking transfer proceedings in the trial Court and then approaching the High Court cannot be said to be guilty of laches. ('28) AIR 1928 Mad 15 (15, 16).

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 25 — Clause 25 of the Bill as introduced has been rendered unnecessary by the omission of Clause 22. We have accordingly taken it out and have put in its place a new clause taking power for the Governor General in Council to transfer cases from one High Court to another under certain circumstances. We think that the exercise of such a power may sometimes be necessary and it has been brought to our notice that the absence of any provision on the point in the existing Code has given rise to difficulty. The new clause proceeds on the analogy of Section 527 of the Code of Criminal Procedure 1898". — S. C. R.

INSTITUTION OF SUITS

(5) Neither Rr. 142 to 148-A of the Ahmedabad City Civil Court Rules nor Order 37, Rules 1 and 2 as amended by Bombay High Court are inconsistent with Section 27 of the C. P. Code, and are not therefore ultra vires the rule making power of the High Court under S. 122 of the Civil Procedure Code — Such rules cannot however be justified under Article 227 of the Constitution. 3. Manner of service — See O. 5, R. 10

1. Notifications. — (1) For notifications issued under this section, see Appendix IV.

Provided that the Courts issuing such summonses or processes have been established by the authority of the Central Government or that the State Government of the State in which such summonses or processes are to be served has by notification in the Official Gazette declared the provisions of this section to apply to such Courts."

30. Power to order discovery and the like.—Subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed, the Court may, at any time, either of its own motion or on the application of any party,—

(a) issue a warrant for his arrest;
(b) attach and sell his property;
(c) impose a fine upon him not exceeding five hundred rupees;
(d) order him to furnish security for his appearance and in default commit him to the civil prison.

[See O. 16, Rr. 10 to 13, 17 and 21.]

(1) The antithesis that Section 32 draws between Section 27 and S. 30 is that an omission to appear in response to summons under Section 27 carries no penalty in the strict sense, while disregard of summons under Section 30 may entail punishment. AIR 1955 SC 425 (430): (1955) 2 SCR 1.

(2) Application for discovery of documents by party rejected on ground of vagueness — Court can even after such rejection and at any stage of suit issue directions suo motu within conditions and limitations prescribed by Rules in Code but not same directions which were earlier prayed for but rejected on merits. (1965) 69 Cal WN 242 (245, 247).

(3) In matters of discovery, production and inspection of documents an Industrial Tribunal has the same powers which the Civil Courts have under the C. P. Code. 1959 Ker LT 462 * AIR 1956 Cal 592 (593). (Inspection of documents not be ordered until affidavit of documents has been directed to be filed — Procedure applies to Industrial Tribunals.)

(4) Section 30 (c) lays down an exception to the general rule that on affidavit is not evidence within Section 3 of the Evidence Act. But an order of the Court is necessary to prove any fact by affidavit. 1962 Jab LJ 197 (199).

[See also AIR 1954 Nag 260 (263): 1954 Nag LJ 401 (DB). (Affidavit without order from Court — Allegations not controverted — Order receiving affidavit is tantamount to ordering it and complies with law: AIR 1953 Nag 135, Overruled.]

1. Applicability of the section. — (1) A fine can be imposed only on a person who is required to attend the Court in connexion with a case and who does not appear in obedience to the summons of the Court and not on a person who, after his failure to attend on the date for which he was summoned, is not required to give evidence or produce a document

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Thinking it unnecessary to impose penal consequences for a default of the class indicated in this section, the committee have omitted the last paragraph of Section 136 of the Code of 1882, which provided that any party failing to comply with any order under Chapter III of that Code, to answer interogatories or for discovery, production, or inspection, which has been served personally upon him, shall be deemed guilty of an offence under Section 188 of the Penal Code". — See S. O. R.

JUDGMENT AND DECREE

33. Judgment and decree.—The Court, after the case has been heard, shall pronounce judgment, and on such judgment a decree shall follow.

[See also AIR 1959 Andh Pra 645 (646): (1959) 2 Andh WR 532. (Application by defendant for summoning plaintiff as witness — Proper procedure is to issue summons in compliance with Section 32 and Order 16, Rule 10 not to require the plaintiff to appear in person under O. 9, Rule 12.)

(2) A witness whose evidence is necessary and who appears on the adjourned hearing at the instance of the party concerned without any fresh summons can be fined by the Court for his failure to appear at the previous hearing. AIR 1951 All 415 (417) (DB).

(3) The exercise of the jurisdiction which has been conferred upon a Court under S. 32 and O. 16, R. 12 to impose a fine upon a witness who fails to appear on the day for which he is summoned is not dependant upon the issuing of a proclamation or an order of attachment or a warrant under Rule 10 (2) and (3) of Order 16. AIR 1951 All 415 (417) (DB).

[But see AIR 1929 All 850 (852) (DB).]

(4) An omission to appear in response to a summons under Section 27 carries no penalty in the strict sense, while disregard of a summons under Section 30 may entail punishment. The spirit of this distinction must be carried over to the First Schedule. AIR 1955 SC 425 (430): 1955-2 SCR 1.

7. Judgment to be based on case set up by parties — See O. 20, R. 4 and Notes thereon.

1. Scope. — (1) This section does not preclude the High Court from making a rule to the effect that in suits for money no decree need be drawn up if neither party has to recover anything unless the Judge otherwise directs. AIR 1934 Pat 266 (269): 13 Pat 371 (DB).

2. "After the case has been heard." — (1) The failure of a Judge to give the parties an opportunity of putting their case before him vitiates the judgment. AIR 1920 Lah 246 (247) * AIR 1959 Andh Pra 212 (214): ILR (1958) Andh Pra 129 (133) (DB).

3. "A decree shall follow." — (1) A party or his pleader is under no obligation to move the Court to draw up a decree. (4) Where, after pronouncing judgment in a suit the Court fails to draw up a decree, the remedy of the party who wants the decree is to apply for it to the Court and if the application is refused, to move the High Court in revision. AIR 1955 Vindh Pra 39 (40) * ('57) 61 Cal WN 789 (793).

INTEREST

34. Interest.—(1) Where and in so far as a decree is for the payment of money, the Court may, in the decree, order interest at such rate as the Court deems reasonable to be paid on the principal sum adjudged, from the date of the suit to the date of the decree, in addition to any interest adjudged on such principal sum for any period prior to the institution of the suit, [a][with further interest at such rate not exceeding six per cent per annum as the Court deems reasonable on such principal sum] from the date of the decree to the date of payment, or to such earlier date as the Court thinks fit.

[See however AIR 1956 Assam 120 (120) * AIR 1955 Raj 33 (34): ILR (1955) 5 Raj 269 (DB) * (1966) 2 Mys LJ 25 (29): (1966) 6 Law Rep 809. (Production of copy of decree along with execution application not a condition precedent to execution.)]

(6) Where in a judgment passed in favour of a party it is stated that he shall not get a decree unless he produces a succession certificate, a decree cannot be passed till a succession certificate is produced. AIR 1920 Nag 148 (149). * AIR 1961 All 86 (86, 87). (Court has jurisdiction to extend time for filing of succession certificate.)

(7) Where a suit comprises several distinct subject-matters, there can be a separate decree in regard to each of them. AIR 1940 Lah 1 (3): ILR (1940) Lah 171 (DB).

(8) Common judgment in two suits — Separate decrees must be drawn up. AIR 1965 Manipur 24 (25).

(9) Since after consolidation there is only one case, and the suit consolidated has no independent existence for trial the suits on consolidation should be tried in one trial and should be disposed of by one judgment and decree. 1961 Raj LW 473: ILR (1961) 11 Raj 1173.

(10) An order directing a decree to be drawn up cannot be treated as a decree. AIR 1958 All 720 (728) (DB).

(11) The 'decree' as defined in Section 2 (2) comes into existence as soon as the judgment is pronounced. It does not necessarily mean the formal decree which is prepared in accordance with Section 33 and O. 20, R. 6. AIR 1962 Pat 398 (399, 400): 1962 BLJR 454 * AIR 1969 Guj 152 (155, 158).

(12) Section 33 has no application to the decree passed under the Hindu Marriage Act (1955); hence adjudication under Sections 9, 10, 11 and 12 of the Act and need not necessarily be followed by a formal decree. AIR 1969 Punj 69 (71, 72): 70 Pun LR 643 (DB).

(13) Order under Hindu Marriage Act (1955) is not decree as referred to in Section 33 Civil P. C. Hence, appeal from such order need not be accompanied by copy of decree. (1968) 70 Pun LR 643: 1968 Cur LJ 622.

(13) It cannot be said that because no subsequent interest was provided for in the judgment, it ought not to be included in the decree. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 476 (477).

(14) Where, the decree is not for a definite sum of money but is one for accounts and partition, Section 34 (2) does not apply and a suit for interest is not barred. AIR 1925 Bom 406 (409): 49 Bom 282 (DB).

(15) Though no subsequent interest was provided for in the judgment, it can be included in the decree. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 476 (477).

(16) Where in a suit on mortgage the judgment inadvertently omits to make provision for the payment of interest subsequent to the date fixed for redemption, the Court has power to correct the record and provide for the payment of interest from the date fixed for redemption. AIR 1956 Nag 239 (240) (DB).

(17) A combined reading of Section 34 with Rules 6 and 8-A of Order 34 and the use of form 8 in Sch. D makes it more than evident that the award of interest at the stipulated rate is not what is intended in the case of personal decrees; but interest is awardable as in the case of a decree for the payment of money even when that amount becomes due as balance which remains unrealised even after the hypotheca has been sold.

Where, therefore, a personal decree under Order 34, Rule 6 provides for the contractual rate of interest which is in excess of that allowable under the statute, relief can be given by allowing amendment of the decree and judgment even if an appeal has not been filed against the decree and judgment. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 619 (620, 621, 622).

(18) Error in preliminary decree — Plaintiff not asking for rectification — Application for final decree — Case remitted for rectification — Interest not allowed up to date of rectification but only from date of amendment of decree till realization of decretal amount. AIR 1968 J and K 85 (86).

(19) Compromise decree — Decree passed in terms of award mentioning principal amount due on mortgage with interest and also providing that the debtor should pay the amount with interest at 12 p. c. within a year by a certain date and get the property redeemed — Default — Debtor is liable to pay interest even after date fixed in decree at the rate stipulated in decree till payment — Provisions of Section 34 (2) and Order 34, Rule 11 (b) cannot be invoked as decree is not passed on judgment but on compromise. 1. Scope and object.—(1) The object of S. 35 in awarding costs to a litigant is to secure to him the expenses incurred by him in the litigation. AIR 1921 Cal 185 (191): 48 Cal 427 (DB).

(2) The object of Section 35 is not to enable a litigant to make anything, in the way of gain or profit, over and above the expenses for maintaining or defending the action, nor to give exemplary damages or smart-money, by way of penalty or punishment on the opposite party. AIR 1954 SC 26 (28) ° AIR 1921 Cal 185 (191): 48 Cal 427 (DB).

(4) The discretion of Court in awarding costs is subject "to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed". AIR 1937 Mad 145 (145).

(5) Apart from Section 35, the High Court has wide discretion in exercise of its inherent powers to award costs in suitable cases. AIR 1955 Orissa 65 (65): 1955 Cri L Jour 823: ILR (1954) Cut 623 (SB).

(6) The discretion of the Court under Section 35 can only be taken away by conditions and limitations which may be prescribed by law and not by conditions and limitations which may be prescribed by contract between the parties. AIR 1953 Bom 445 (447): ILR (1954) Bom 29 (DB) ° ILR (1965) Andh Pra 68.

(7) Power under Section 13 (2) of the Mysore Village Panchayats and Local Boards Act does not include power to award cost under Section 35 or 35A of the Code. (11) A decree-holder who files an execution petition before expiry of period specified for satisfaction of decree or before having necessary alterations made in a case where no time is specified as required by Section 82 will not be entitled to execution cost. 2. "Costs of and incident to all suits."— (1) The words "incident to all suits" are wide enough to cover costs incurred by party before the filing of the suit, but naturally or intimately connected with the suit. (1936) 40 Cal WN 762 (764).

(2) The words 'costs of and incident to all suits' occurring in Section 35 of the Code are wide enough to include not only court-fees payable on the plaint, but also court-fees payable on application filed by a plaintiff, and as such, court-fees payable by a pauper plaintiff are covered by Section 35. AIR 1959 Pat 384 (386, 387, 388): 1958 BLJR 447.

AIR 1960 Cal 190 (196): ILR (1960) 2 Cal 187.

(5) The words "to abide and follow the result" convey the suggestion that the successful party must be given his costs. (8) The powers of the Court in awarding costs are wide and there is no warrant for holding that when a Court accords permission for institution of a fresh suit under Order 23, Rule 1, it cannot award costs of the suit and it can only make the payment of such costs conditional upon the institution of fresh suit. AIR 1952 Pepsu 67 (68): ILR (1952) Patiala 95.

1. Principle and scope.
2. "Execution," meaning of.
3. "Orders."
4. What decrees may be executed. See S. 38.
5. Who may apply for execution. See O. 21, R. 11.
6. Against whom execution may be had.— See O. 21, R. 11.

TOPIC INDICATOR

Amended decrees and forms — See S. 38.
Executability of orders like decrees does not make the former decrees — See Note 1.
Execution of order — See Note 3.
Mesne profits, decree or order for — See Section 38.
Mode of execution — See Note 2.
Orders under other enactments — See Note 3.

1. Principle and scope.—(1) The principle underlying the section is that every Court has an inherent power to have its orders carried out. AIR 1956 Madh B 229 (230) • (1907) 34 Cal 860 (862) (DB) * AIR 1921 Pat 152 (154): 6 Pat L Jour 304 (DB) ° (1910) 6 Ind Cas 386 (387) (DB) (Cal).

(2) The fact that the provisions applicable for the execution of decrees apply to the execution of orders, does not make such orders "decrees" for all purposes. Where an order is itself not appealable an order passed in execution of that order cannot also be appealable. Where a non-appealable order, for costs, is sought to be executed and on objection being raised thereto the matter is decided under S. 47, such decision will not be appealable as a "decree". AIR 1919 Mad 23 (23) (DB).

(3) An order dismissing an application for execution of an order for costs would be one under Section 47. AIR 1925 Cal 57 (58, 59): 52 Cal 269 (DB).

(4) By virtue of Section 36, Order 21, Rule 35 (2) applies to an order for joint possession. AIR 1966 SC 470 (475): (1966) 1 SCR 628.

2. "Execution", meaning of.—(1) Execution is the enforcement of decrees and orders by process of Court, so as to enable the judgment-creditor to recover the fruits of the judgments. (1882) 9 Cal 773 (776, 777) (DB).

(2) The rateable distribution of the proceeds of an execution sale among a number of rival decree-holders is a mode of execution and hence Section 73 applies to the execution of orders by virtue of this section. AIR 1954 Cal 6 (7): ILR (1955) 1 Cal 148 ° AIR 1941 Lah 273 (273, 274): ILR (1942) Lah 460 (DB).

(3) The functions of an executing Court are judicial and not merely ministerial. (1870) 7 Bom HCR (AC) 37 (41) (DB).

3. "Orders."—(1) This section is applicable to all orders which can be included in the definition of the term "order" in Section 2, Clause (14). (3) In view of Section 36, orders of the Court executing award under the Bombay Agricultural Debtors' Relief Act (28 of 1947) holding that application for execution is not maintainable, or that satisfaction alleged is not proved, fall under Section 47, Civil P. 1. Scope and object.—(1) Under S. 38 a decree may be executed either by the Court which passed the decree or by the Court to which it is sent for execution. A decree cannot ordinarily be executed by any other Court. AIR 1952 Pat 4 (7): 30 Pat 1135 (DB) * AIR 1958 Andh Pra 763 (765) (DB).

(2) The expression "Court which passed the decree" includes the Courts mentioned in Clauses (a) and (b). The classification of Civil Courts under the Civil Courts Acts (e. g. Section 10 of Bombay Hereditary Offices Act (1874) had to be addressed to the Privy Council as a "court which passed the decree". Where, however, the jurisdiction of the Privy Council was abolished by constitutional changes it was now the Supreme Court which passed the decree. AIR 1960 SC 808 (810): (1960) 3 SCR 221.

(8) Ex parte decree passed by Gwalior Court on 18-11-1948 against resident of Allahabad — Decree is nullity as passed by a 'foreign court' — Decree transferred to Court at Allahabad on 14-9-1951 — Court held could not do so, nor Court at Allahabad could execute decree. AIR 1962 SC 1737 (1739): (1963) 2 SCR 577.

(9) A combined reading of Ss. 37 and 38 indicates that the Court of first instance is the Court which passed the decree under Section 38 and an application for execution of the decree can be filed therein. AIR 1965 SC 1477 (1485): (1965) 2 SCR 436.

(10) The expression 'jurisdiction to execute' as used in Section 37 (b) does not mean to exclude the competency of Court to entertain an application for execution of the decree. A Court which passed the decree would still have jurisdiction to entertain the application. 1968 All LJ 669 (672) (DB).

(11) There is a distinction between jurisdiction to entertain an application for execution and jurisdiction to execute the decree. The object of Section 37 was to give greater facilities to the decree-holder for executing his decree than were allowed to him under Section 38. Section 39 deals with the transfer of decrees. Now an application for execution can always be entertained by the Court which passed the decree. This is provided for by Section 38, but under Section 37 the decree-holder may in addition present his application to another Court if the original Court cannot execute the decree. AIR 1959 Punj 350 (351, 352): ILR (1958) Punj 378.

(12) A decree passed by Court A and being executed by Court B, was, due to the abolition of Court B, transferred to Court C for execution. However as court C could not have tried the suit which was decreed by the Court A, Court C could not be regarded as a 'Court' which passed the decree within the meaning of section 37. AIR 1963 Raj 4 (5): 1962 Raj LW 353. (AIR 1934 Cal 4, Dissented from.)

(13) If the executing court is the transferee court, it would have jurisdiction only to execute the decree. It would not acquire the entire jurisdiction of the Court which passed the decree", as the transferee court is not the court which passed the decree within the meaning of Section 37. AIR 1968 Orissa 140 (143): 34 Cut LT 560.

2. Decree by Appellate Court.—(1) Where a decree was passed in second appeal, it is the Court of first instance that is to execute the decree. [See also AIR 1963 Andh Pra 452 (454, 455): (1963) 1 Andh WR 261 (DB). (Appellate Court cannot entertain execution petition.) ° 1961 All LJ 597 (DB). (Case under Section 4, U. P. Zamindari Debt Reduction Act, 15 of 1953).]

(2) An appellate decree of the Privy Council was to be executed only by the Court of first instance and not by the High Court to which the decree was transmitted by the Privy Council. AIR 1914 Mad 222 (224): 38 Mad 832 (DB).

(3) An order for costs, passed by the High Court in refusing leave to appeal to the Privy Council, was not passed by that Court in appeal but in a special jurisdiction. The trial Court, therefore, had no jurisdiction, under this section, to execute that order unless it was transferred to it by the High Court for execution. AIR 1944 Cal 301 (301).

[See also AIR 1960 Mad 54 (54, 55): (1959) 2 Mad LJ 422. (Preliminary decree modified in cross objection in appeal in favour of decree-holder by allowing him costs — In execution, decree-holder can claim such costs.)]

(4) Where a decree is transferred for execution to another court, and after the transfer the decree is modified or affirmed by the appellate Court, the appellate decree can be executed by the transferee Court, which is in seisin of the execution and exercises all the powers of the Court that passed the decree. AIR 1957 Andh Pra 403 (406) ° AIR 1963 Madh Pra 154 (154, 155): 1961 Jab LJ 1270. (The transferee Court has jurisdiction to allow the amendment of the execution application to give effect to the appellate decree. It is not necessary for the decree-holder to apply again to the transferor Court to amend the decree and then send a fresh certificate of the amended decree to the transferee Court.)

(5) The words 'Appellate Jurisdiction' in Section 37 (a) are comprehensive enough to include revisional jurisdiction. Hence, where a decree for costs is passed by the High Court in revision, the Court of first instance, viz., the Munsiff's Court and not the High Court would have jurisdiction to execute that decree in view of Section 38 read with Section 37 (a). (3) If a special jurisdiction vested in a Court has been withdrawn after decree it ceases to exist. See AIR 1919 Pat 237 (238).

(a) By ceasing to have local jurisdiction after decree. (1881) 6 Cal 513 (515) (DB) ° AIR 1957 Trav-Co 69 (72): ILR (1956) Trav-Co 1314 (FB). ((1901) 28 Cal 238 and (1908) 35 Cal 974, Dissented from.)

(e) By a removal of its headquarters to another place within the same jurisdiction. (1881) 6 Cal 513 (515, 519) (DB).

4. (2) Court does not cease to have jurisdiction by the transfer to a different Court by the State Government of the area in which the property in respect of which the decree was passed is situated or the area in which the judgment-debtor lives, or the transfer by the District Judge of the business of the Court to another Court. (3) Where the Political Agent at Kolhapur who had jurisdiction only over Sirdars passed a decree against a Sirdar and the latter thereafter died leaving heirs who were not Sirdars, it was held that the Political Agent's Court "ceased to have jurisdiction to execute" the decree. (4) It was held on a consideration of the Government notifications that on the Court of the Subordinate Judge of B becoming a Court within the jurisdiction of the newly constituted Province of Orissa, it ceased to have jurisdiction to execute a decree passed by it while it had been in the Presidency of Madras but that the Court did not cease to exist. AIR 1939 Mad 463 (464) (DB) * AIR 1943 Pat 423 (424) (DB).

(5) The expression "ceased to have jurisdiction to execute" is intended to meet such a case as where an Additional or Subordinate Judge attached to more than one district, having passed a decree in one district leaves such district and sits in another district. Under the provisions of Section 15 of the Bengal Civil Courts Act, such Additional or Subordinate Judge is a Court. Where such a Court is sitting in a district other than that in which the decree was passed it has not ceased to exist, but it has ceased to have jurisdiction to execute that particular decree. (1881) 6 Cal 513 (519) (DB).

(6) Where a decree is passed in respect of a certain property and subsequent thereto the area within which such property is situate is transferred to the jurisdiction of another Court, the Court which actually passed the decree nevertheless does not cease to have jurisdiction to execute it. The Court to whose jurisdiction the subject-matter of the decree is transferred does not become the Court "which passed the decree". (10) Court to which the area has been transferred acquires inherent jurisdiction to execute the decree and so the absence of an order of transfer by the Court which passed the decree will at the worst amount only to an irregularity in the assumption of jurisdiction by the Court to whose jurisdiction the subject-matter of the decree is transferred and will not make its orders null and void. (11) The mere fact that a temporary Court which passed the decree is established for a certain period and is thereafter continued cannot deprive that Court of its character of the Court which passed the decree. Hence, such Court has jurisdiction to entertain an application for the execution of the decree. AIR 1935 Mad 849 (849): 58 Mad 1009 (DB).

1. Scope and object.— (1) Under this section a decree may be executed by the "Court which passed the decree" or by the Court to which it is sent for execution. (1912) 35 Mad 588 (590) • AIR 1958 Andh Pra 763 (765) (DB) • AIR 1922 Nag 189 (191) • AIR 1935 Mad 849 (850): 58 Mad 1009 (DB).

(2) Court which is neither the one which passed the decree nor the one to which the decree is transferred for execution cannot, as a general rule, execute the decree. AIR 1955 Bom 93 (95): ILR (1954) Bom 1173 (DB) • AIR 1957 Pat 654 (655, 656) (DB) • AIR 1936 Pat 615 (616): 15 Pat 439 (DB).

(3) A decree may be executed also by the Court to which the execution proceedings may be transferred under the provisions of Section 24. AIR 1925 All 276 (277): 47 All 57 (DB).

[See (1881) 5 Bom 680 (681) (DB).]

(4) Where there are two independent Courts within the same territorial limits having concurrent jurisdiction, either of them can execute the decree of the other. AIR 1919 Pat 367 (369) (DB).

[But see (1941) 73 Cal L Jour 351 (354, 355) (DB).]

(5) The execution to which this section refers is an execution under the Code. Where a decree-holder Co-operative Society applies to the Registrar of Co-operative Societies for recovery of the money under S. 57A of the Madras Co-operative Societies Act, 6 of 1932 it is not necessary that the decree should be transferred to the Registrar before he can take action. (6) Where a Court has at the time of the presentation of an execution petition, no jurisdiction over it or could only exercise its jurisdiction irregularly it is not bound to dismiss the execution petition if it afterwards obtains jurisdiction. AIR 1934 Mad 283 (286): 57 Mad 795 (DB).

(7) Section 45B of the Banking Companies Act (1949) is not inconsistent with and does not override Sections 38 to 42 of the Code. (1954) 53 Cal WN 641 (647).

(2) Though the decree of the appellate Court supersedes decree passed by the trial Court, the execution proceedings already instituted do not become dead. On and from the passing of the appellate decree the application for execution of the trial Court's decree becomes an application for the execution of the appellate Court's decree. Where the appeal is dismissed, there is obviously no difficulty in the procedure. Where in an appeal the decree is modified in such a manner that the proceedings can still go on, the Court may decide whether it will allow necessary amendment of the application for execution in order that it may become properly an application for execution of the appellate Court's decree. Where the lower Court's decree has been reversed, the execution proceedings cannot obviously go on. AIR 1959 Cal 73 (74) (DB).

(3) In exceptional cases, where the appellate judgment does not even affirm the decree of the lower Court, but simply dismisses the appeal, the general rule that the appellate decree alone is the one to be executed does not apply and the Courts should allow execution of the decree of the original Court. [See however AIR 1960 Mad 343 (344): 73 Mad LW 230.]

(12) There is nothing in S. 39 to compel the transferor Court to decide questions of limitation or of like nature before transferring a decree to another Court for any of the reasons mentioned in S. 39. The mere fact that an application filed before the transferor Court is called an execution petition under R. 138 (1) of the Madras Civil Rules of Practice, cannot convey the idea that it is an execution petition in itself. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 321 (323): (1959) 2 Andh WR 303 (FB).

(13) When decree passed by transferor Court is a foreign decree passed against non-resident foreigner and as such a nullity according to the Code governing the Court to which it is transferred, such transferee Court is incompetent to execute such a decree passed under different Code. (2) The decree-holder is not bound to state the mode in which the decree is sought to be executed. AIR 1929 Cal 529 (529, 530): 56 Cal 1176 (DB).

(3) The fact that the judgment-debtor is not liable to arrest in execution of the decree is not in itself a good ground for refusing to transfer the decree under this clause. AIR 1944 Mad 73 (74).

(4) Where a prohibitory order is to be served on the garnishee of the judgment-debtor, the decree may be transferred to Court within whose jurisdiction the garnishee resides. (1911) 39 Cal 104 (108, 109) (DB).

(4) Where subsequent to a decree, the immovable property which is the subject-matter of the decree is transferred to the jurisdiction of another Court, and if it proceeds to execute the decree against the property in the absence of a transfer of the decree to it for execution, the proceeding is not entirely without jurisdiction. ## SECTION 41 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and object.
2. "Shall certify."
3. Jurisdiction of transferee court, how long continues. See S. 42.

1. Scope and object.—(1) The Court to which a decree is sent for execution must on the determination of the proceedings in that Court, certify to the Court which passed the decree the result of those proceedings. (1909) Cal L Jour 239 (243) (DB) ° (1960) 1 Andh WR 260: 1960 Andh LT 261. (Where, therefore, the order passed by the transferee Court does not indicate that it purported to intimate to the transferor Court of the fact of non-satisfaction of the decree, the execution proceedings started in the transferee Court are not closed.)

(2) The effect of certification under Section 41 is to determine the jurisdiction of the transferee Court. AIR 1955 Assam 12 (14, 15) (DB) * AIR 1955 Pat 456 (457): 34 Pat 599 (DB) ° AIR 1924 Bom 359 (359, 360) (DB).

(3) A certificate under this section can be issued only in the following circumstances: (1) if the transferee Court has succeeded in fully execuing the decree; (2) if the transferee Court has completely failed to execute the decree within the limits of its jurisdiction; or (3) if the transferee Court has executed the decree partly and has failed to execute the remaining part of the decree within its jurisdiction. The mere fact that one execution case has been dismissed on part satisfaction cannot prevent the transferee Court from entertaining a fresh application for execution: and, during the pendency of the latter, certificate cannot be issued under Section 41 AIR 1955 Pat 456 (457): 34 Pat 599 (DB).

(4) issue of non-satisfaction certificate though found not in accordance with law is yet a step-in-aid of execution. AIR 1969 Orissa 147 (148, 149): 35 Cut LT 181. (AIR 1932 Pat 286, Foll.)

2. "Shall certify."—(1) There must be a formal certification by the transferee Court to the transferor Court and the fact of certification should not be left open to inferences to be drawn from entries in the register of suits of the transferor Court. AIR 1924 Bom 359 (359) (DB) * AIR 1961 Pat 149 (150): 1961 BLJR 75 (DB). (The act of sending a certificate under S. 41 is something in the nature of a judicial act and a formal order of the transferee Court to that effect would be necessary to satisfy the requirements of section 41. AIR 1955 Pat 456, Rel. on.)

[But see AIR 1923 Bom 371 (371) (DB).]

(2) The mere sending of a certificate by the transferee Court does not oust its jurisdiction to further execute the decree. The jurisdiction continues until a copy of the decree together with the full satisfaction or non-satisfaction certificate is returned. AIR 1951 Hyd 65 (66, 67, 68): ILR (1951) Hyd 362 (DB) ° AIR 1950 Cal 287 (293) ° AIR 1969 Orissa 147 (148): 35 Cut LT 181. (Mere communication of information without a formal order is not non-satisfaction certificate. AIR 1961 Pat 149, Rel. on.)

[But see AIR 1937 All 474 (475).]

(3) An order that the result of part satisfaction of the decree may be communicated to the transferor Court does not amount to a certificate. AIR 1938 All 412 (413) (DB).

(4) A report of the facts relating to an arrangement come to between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor is not such a certificate as is contemplated by the section. AIR 1937 All 766 (768) (DB).

42.[a] Powers of Court in executing transferred decree — The Court executing a decree sent to it shall have the same powers in executing such decree as if it had been passed by itself. All persons disobeying or obstructing the execution of the decree shall be punishable by such Court in the same manner as if it had passed the decree. And its order in executing such decree shall be subject to the same rules in respect of appeal as if the decree had been passed by itself.

[See AIR 1969 Orissa 147 (148, 149): 35 Cut LT 181.]

(6) The section prescribes no particular form of the certificate. Intimation sent by the transferee Court that the execution case is dismissed as infructuous is a sufficient compliance with the section. (11) Section 41 does not prescribe that certificate should precede the presentation of execution application to the transferor Court. AIR 1967 Mys 24 (25): (1965) 2 Mys LJ 85 (DB).

(12) An omission of the transferee Court to send a non-satisfaction certificate after deciding the execution case may be an irregularity but that would not affect the right of the decree-holder to file a second execution in Court which passed the decree. AIR 1960 All 558 (559).

[But see AIR 1953 Punj 24 (26, 27).]

(2) A combined reading of Sections 43 to 45 would show that the Indian Courts have power (1) to execute the decrees of those Indian Courts to which the Civil P. C. does not apply, such as the scheduled districts; (2) to execute the decrees of the Civil Courts outside India which are established by the authority of the Central Government; (3) to execute the decrees of the revenue Courts in any part of India to which the provisions of the Civil P. C. do not apply, and (4) to execute decrees of the Indian Courts in the States in which the State Government has notified that Section 45 would apply. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 407 (411) (DB).

(3) Part B States came into existence after the coming into force of the Constitution on 26-1-1950. The section as it stood on 26-1-1950 could apply only to decrees which were passed after that date and not to earlier decrees of States like Gwalior or Madhya Bharat which could not in any manner be considered to be decrees of Part B States. (4) Ex parte decree passed by Gwalior Court before coming into force of Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act (1951) i. e. 1-4-1951 — Decree is nullity outside Gwalior or Madhya Bharat — Decree transferred to Court at Allahabad after 1-4-1951 — Section 43 is inapplicable. AIR 1962 SC 1737 (1749): (1963) 2 SCR 577.

(5) The material date for determining whether a decree passed by a Court in a Native State can be executed in a Court which is outside the State is the date on which the decree was passed and not the date on which such decree was transferred for execution. 2. Courts established or continued by authority of the Central Government outside India.—(1) The Court of the Political Agent at Sikkim was held to be a Court "established or continued by the authority of the Governor-General in Council." (1911) 38 Cal 859 (861) (DB).

(2) The Court of the Dewan Ahilkar of Cooch Behar was situated in a foreign territory but was not established or continued by the authority of the Governor-General in Council. (1870) 13 Suth WR 154 (155) (DB).

(3) The Okhamandal Court in the Baroda State before its merger in the Province of Bombay was not a Court established or continued by the authority of the Central Government. AIR 1954 Cal 67 (69, 70).

(4) This section did not apply to the execution of the decrees of the Court of the Native Commissioners of Kondh situated within the family domains of the Maharajah of Benares. (1907) 34 Cal 576 (582, 583) (DB).

(5) Karaikkal Court was a Court continued by the authority of Central Government outside India. (1965) 78 Mad LW 723 (725): ILR (1966) 2 Mad 522. (34 Cal 576, Disting.)

3. Jammu and Kashmir.—(1) On the coming into force of the Constitution the Courts of Jammu and Kashmir and those of India ceased to be "foreign Courts" with regard to each other, and hence, the decrees of Courts in Jammu and Kashmir were executable by Courts in other States of India and vice versa. AIR 1955 J and K 5 (6) (FB).

(1) Section 44 like S. 43, only applies to cases where the decree to be executed was passed by a Court in a part of India to which the Code does not apply. AIR 1956 Bhopal 24 (26) * AIR 1958 Andh Pra 407 (411) (DB).

(2) Ex parte decree passed by Gwalior Court before coming into force of Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act (1951) i. e. 1-4-1951 — Decree is nullity outside Gwalior or Madhya Bharat — Decree transferred to Court at Allahabad after 1-4-1951 — Section 43 is inapplicable. 44A.[a] Execution of decrees passed by Courts in [b][° ° °] reciprocating territory.—(1) Where a certified copy of a decree of any of the superior Courts of [b][° ° °] any reciprocating territory has been filed in a District Court, the decree may be executed in [c][India] as if it had been passed by the District Court.

(2) Together with the certified copy of the decree shall be filed a certificate from such superior Court stating the extent, if any, to which the decree has been satisfied or adjusted and such certificate shall, for the purposes of proceedings under this section, be conclusive proof of the extent of such satisfaction or adjustment.

(3) The provisions of Section 47 shall as from the filing of the certified copy of the decree apply to the proceedings of a District Court executing a decree under this section, and the District Court shall refuse execution of any such decree, if it is shown to the satisfaction of the Court that the decree falls within any of the exceptions specified in clauses (a) to (f) of Section 13.

[d][Explanation 1.— "Reciprocating territory" means any country or territory outside India which the Central Government may, by notification[e] in the official Gazette, declare to be a reciprocating territory for the purposes of this section; and "Superior Courts", with reference to any such territory, means such Courts as may be specified in the said notification.

(3) A compromise or sole decree is subject to all the infirmities of the contract or compromise, on which it is made. There can be no objection in law to an Indian Court, otherwise competent and having jurisdiction to grant a declaration in respect of a foreign contract that it is not binding on the parties before it, and to restrain its operation or enforcement within the territories of India. AIR 1959 Cal 663 (665, 666): 63 Cal WN 442 (DB).

Section 44-A — Note 1

1. Scope.—(1) The fact that at the time when Burma ceased to be a reciprocating territory, execution was pending in an Indian Court will not make the decree executable by such Court as the question of executability must be determined according to the position prevailing at the time when execution is sought and not at the time when the decree is passed. (3) A decree of a Court in Pakistan although it was passed before partition is a foreign judgment and there being no reciprocity between India and Pakistan the decree cannot be executed by a Court in India when it is transmitted for execution after the date of partition. (4) The holder of a foreign decree can file the decree in any Court and apply to that Court for transmission of the decree to the Court by which it is to be executed. AIR 1952 Cal 508 (514, 515).

(5) Decree passed by Court at Mathura — By order dated 26-7-1950 — That Court transferred the decree for execution to the District Judge Gwalior — Held transfer of decree for execution was within jurisdiction of the execution Court. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 423 (424): 1959 Jab LJ 721.

(6) Defendant company carried on business at Calcutta and had overdraft arrangements with plaintiff Bank. As security defendants' property in East Pakistan was hypothecated. Held Calcutta High Court could entertain suit on the overdraft account and a decree if passed, could be executed in Pakistan by employing machinery provided by S. 13 although Pakistan was not a reciprocating territory. AIR 1960 Cal 779 (783, 784): 64 Cal WN 161.

(7) The whole purpose of the words as if it had been passed by the District Court in this section, clearly appears to be to determine or fix the particular District Court in India to execute the foreign decree or judgment and attract to its execution by such Court the manner of procedure that governs execution of its own decrees. The purpose and ambit of the fiction go no further. AIR 1967 Mad 45 (50, 51): (1966) 2 Mad LJ 346 (FB). (AIR 1964 Mad 221, Overruled.) ° AIR 1961 Bom 156 (156, 157): 62 Bom LR 608.

Explanation 2.—"Decree" with reference to a Superior Court means any decree or judgment of such Court under which a sum of money is payable, not being a sum payable in respect of taxes or other charges of a like nature or in respect of a fine or other penalty, but shall in no case include an arbitration award, even if such an award is enforceable as a decree or judgment.]

section. Ss. 44-A and 39 provide alternative remedies to a decree-holder for execution in India of a decree passed by Court in reciprocating territory. AIR 1962 Punj 228 (229, 230): ILR (1961) 2 Punj 166.

(9) It is not possible to accept that, though a foreign decree may be barred or unenforceable in the country of its origin, it can nevertheless be enforced in the Indian Court where a larger period of limitation obtains in relation to a similar judgment passed by it. AIR 1967 Mad 45 (52): (1966) 2 Mad LJ 346 (FB).

(10) Judgment-debtor adjudged insolvent by High Court at Singapore after a Money decree was obtained from that Court — Execution application filed in Indian Court — Held adjudicative order of that Court had no effect on immovable property of the insolvent in India and this property could be proceeded against by the decree-holder. AIR 1962 Punj 228 (229, 231): ILR (1961) 2 Punj 166.

(11) Application for execution of a foreign decree in a Court in India — It is governed by Indian Law of Limitation. AIR 1962 Punj 228 (231): ILR (1961) 2 Punj 166.

(12) Section 44A has nothing to do with limitation and is merely confined to an extended application of the procedure provided for the manner of execution of a decree passed by any Civil Court in this country to execution by an Indian District Court of a foreign judgment of a superior Court in a reciprocating country. AIR 1967 Mad 45 (50): (1966) 2 Mad LJ 346 (FB). (AIR 1964 Mad 221, Overruled.)

(13) Article 181 of Indian Limitation Act of 1908 applies to execution of a foreign judgment under S. 44A. The three years' of limitation commences when the right to apply accrues. For execution of foreign judgments, the right to apply accrues on and from the date of filing under S. 44A(1) and for this purpose non-filing of a non-satisfaction certificate is not relevant. AIR 1967 Mad 45 (54): (1966) 2 Mad LJ 346 (FB). (AIR 1964 Mad 221, Overruled.)

(14) Defendant, a resident of Hyderabad appeared in obedience to the process of a foreign court viz., Bombay High Court and applied for leave to defend the suit without objecting to the jurisdiction of that Court, when he could not legally be compelled to do so. Ex parte decree was passed against him. Held he had voluntarily submitted to the jurisdiction of the Court, that it cannot be said that the decree suffered from the defect which a foreign ex parte decree without such submission would suffer from. The order for transfer of the decree to Hyderabad territory was made when C. P. C. was applicable to that territory — Hence order of transfer was valid and effective and decree could be executed. AIR 1967 SC 739 (740): (1963) 2 SCR 574.

(15) No question of limitation arises before or for filing certified copy of a foreign decree under S. 44-A (1) and filing of non-satisfaction certificate under S. 44-A (2) is not a condition precedent for the District Court to assume jurisdiction — Sub-section (2) does not pertain to jurisdiction but is procedural. It contains a rule of evidence as to the conclusiveness of the certificate in the specified respect. AIR 1967 Mad 45 (53): (1966) 2 Mad LJ 346 (FB). (AIR 1964 Mad 221, Overruled.)

(16) In application for execution of decree under S. 44A, issue of notice under O. 21, R. 22 is imperative. AIR 1969 Pat 228 (232) (DB).

2. Decree falling within exceptions (a) to (f) of Section 13. — (1) Under sub-s. (3) the burden is upon the judgment-debtor to establish that the decree falls within the exceptions to S. 13. AIR 1943 Cal 42 (44) (DB).

(2) Where a foreign decree is filed before a Court and an application is made to that Court for transmission of the decree to another Court, that Court must consider all the matters referred to in sub-section (3) including objections under S. 13 when such objections are taken before it. AIR 1952 Cal 508 (515).

(3) A decree of a foreign court which falls within exception (a) of S. 13, is a decree not of a Court of competent jurisdiction. A contention that the words 'as if' in S. 44-A (1) mean that the decree must be treated as passed by the executing Court and be held as passed by a Court of competent jurisdiction is contrary to and impossible having regard to provisions of S. 44-A(3). AIR 1961 Bom 156 (156): 62 Bom LR 608.

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall be construed as extending the period of limitation to which any proceeding in respect of such judgment, decree or order may be subject."—see Act 26 of 1968, S. 3 (i) and Sch. Part II [5-9-68].

(1) A combined reading of Ss. 43 to 45 would show that the Indian Courts have power (a) to execute decrees of those Indian Courts to which the Civil Procedure Code does not apply such as the scheduled districts; (b) to execute the decrees of the Civil Courts outside India which are established by the authority of the Central Government; (c) to execute the decrees of the revenue Courts in any part of India to which the provisions of the Civil Procedure Code do not apply; and (d) to execute decrees of the Indian Courts in the States to which the State Government has notified that S. 45 would apply. AIR 1958 Andh Pra 407 (411) (DB).

(2) A judgment in personam pronounced in absentem by a foreign Court against a person who has not submitted himself to its jurisdiction and which is incapable of execution outside the territorial limits of that Court, is a nullity and if, at the time it is passed, it has no validity as a foreign judgment, it would not acquire new force but would continue to be inexecutable even after the advent of the Constitution. AIR 1969 Guj 23 (28): 10 Guj LR 93. (AIR 1951 Bom 125 (FB) and AIR 1951 Bom 190 held impliedly overruled in AIR 1962 SC 173.)

46. Precepts.—(1) Upon the application of the decree-holder the Court which passed the decree may, whenever it thinks fit, issue a precept to any other Court which would be competent to execute such decree to attach any property belonging to the judgment-debtor and specified in the precept.

(2) The Court to which a precept is sent shall proceed to attach the property in the manner prescribed in regard to the attachment of property in execution of a decree:

Provided that no attachment under a precept shall continue for more than two months unless the period of attachment is extended by an order of the Court which passed the decree or unless before the determination of such attachment the decree has been transferred to the Court by which the attachment has been made and the decree-holder has applied for an order for the sale of such property.

(4) When an application for extending the period of the attachment is made before the expiry of the two months but the order extending the time is passed after the expiry of the period, the order will relate back to the date of the petition and will have a retrospective effect. [But see AIR 1956 Madh B 208 (208).]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 46 — Precept.—Though a system of execution based on precepts is in the opinion of the Committee open to grave objection, they think the idea may be utilised for the purpose of enabling a decree-holder to obtain an interim attachment where there is ground to apprehend that he may otherwise be deprived of the fruits of his decree. They have for this purpose introduced Clause 46 into the Bill. They think it expedient to fix a time limit for the continuance of this interim attachment, but at the same time they have empowered the Court to extend the period to meet the exigencies of particular cases.

After careful consideration they have come to the conclusion that notwithstanding attachment under a precept, re-attachment on the ordinary application for execution will still be necessary. Though at first sight it may appear a better course to provide that re-attachment shall not be necessary when the issue of a precept is followed by the ordinary application for execution, after careful consideration they have come to the conclusion that it will be safer to require re-attachment, having regard to the agency by which execution is carried into effect." — S. O. R.

"Clause 46.—We think that a decree-holder who has obtained an interim attachment should not be required to re-attach the property if before the determination of the attachment he applies for execution against the property, and we have altered this accordingly. There will now be only one attachment."—S. C. R.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 47.—The Committee have omitted sub-clauses (a) and (b) of S. 244 of the existing Code because they are strongly of the opinion that questions regarding the amount of any mesne profits or interest should be determined by the decree and not in execution. If this view is accepted it will be possible to exercise an effective control over the action taken by the Subordinate Courts in dealing with such matters.

The Committee have re-drafted sub-clause (3) and made it compulsory on the Court to determine questions arising as to representatives of parties. In their opinion, it is inexpedient that separate suit should be instituted for the decision of such questions. The delay and expense involved are often very great and result in the needless protraction of litigation.

The Explanation is intended to put an end to a conflict of judicial decisions."— S. C. R.

(Suit would be barred under Section 11 also — AIR 1959 Pat 331 and 1950 All WR (HC) 272 (LB), Dissented from.)

(4) Where the decree is appealed from and the appeal is compromised and a compromise decree is passed on appeal the original decree becomes unexecutable and the bar under this section cannot arise in respect of the original decree. AIR 1953 SC 33 (40): 1953 SCR 154.

(5) The questions may arise before or after the decree has been executed. AIR 1956 SC 87 (91): 1955-2 SCR 938 * (1895) 17 All 478 (480) (DB) * AIR 1933 All 429 (431) (DB) * AIR 1938 Nag 363 (364).

(6) Section has no application unless execution has been levied. (1951) 1 Orissa JD 331: ILR (1959) Cut 358. (Adjustment of decree — Application made by judgment-debtor in suit to Court to certify satisfaction — Neither Order 21, Rule 2 nor Section 47 apply.)

(8) Execution proceedings and an application under Section 47 are a continuation of the suit. ILR (1967) Guj 408 (413).

(9) Order directing payment of solatium to auction purchaser consequent on setting aside a sale is a 'decree' and falls under Section 47 and is executable. AIR 1964 Mys 54 (55): (1963) 2 Mys LJ 147. (Order falls under Order 21, Rule 93 and not Order 21, Rule 92 — Appeal against the order does not lie under O. 48, R. 1 (j).)

(10) The mere fact that an application is made in the execution proceedings is not sufficient to attract the operation of this section when the question for determination does not fall within its purview. AIR 1941 Cal 530 (532): ILR (1941) 2 Cal 402 (DB).

(11) Where an auction purchaser in an execution sale pays balance of 75 per cent. of purchase price in treasury, but fails to deposit receipt in Court and consequently Court orders resale, such order of resale is open to review in application by auction purchaser under Order 47, Rule 1 and Section 47. AIR 1961 Mad 409 (410): (1961) 2 Mad LJ 37.

(12) Execution proceedings and proceedings under Section 33-C (2), Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, are of analogous nature. AIR 1964 SC 752 (755): (1964) 3 SCR 140. (Labour Court would be competent to interpret the award on which the claim is founded.)

(13) There is no antithesis between Section 47 and Order 21, Rule 2; the former deals with the power of the Court and the latter with the procedure to be followed in respect of a limited class of cases relating to discharge or satisfaction of decrees. O. 21, R. 2 prescribes special procedure for recording adjustment of a decree or for recording payment of money paid out of Court under any decree. However the plenary power conferred by Section 47 upon the Court executing the decree is not thereby affected. AIR 1967 SC 1193 (1195): (1967) 1 SCR 147. (AIR 1966 Punj 506, Affirmed; AIR 1960 Punj 437 (438), Overruled.) * AIR 1967 Mani 33 (37). (Declaratory decree and not money decree — Question relating to satisfaction, and discharge of decree — Section 47 and not Order 21, Rule 2, Applies.) * AIR 1959 Mys 155 (155, 156): 36 Mys LJ 539. (Application under Order 21, Rule 2 is one under Section 47.)

(14) Section 47 is very wide in its terms and in one sense all questions relating to execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree that arise between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor come within its purview yet that section ought to be so interpreted as not to render redundant, the other provisions of the Code. When there is a specific provision like Order 21, Rule 2 applicable to the facts of this case, the provision under Section 47 is excluded. AIR 1963 Mys 79 (81): 1962 Mys LJ (Sup) 299.

(15) In execution proceedings, once the decree is satisfied former rights of the judgment-debtor cannot be revived. Once the landlord in execution of his decree obtains delivery of possession, the tenants' rights are extinguished. The landlord cannot be dispossessed by means of an objection under S. 47. 1961 All WR (HC) 597 (598). (J. D. wanting to take advantage of Explanation to Section 20 of the U. P. Z. A. and L. R. Act — His remedy is not by an objection under Section 47, but by application under Section 232, U. P. Z. A. and L. R. Act.)

[See also AIR 1963 Orissa 160 (161): ILR (1963) Cut 321 (DB). (An application purporting to be one under Order 21, Rule 2 is an application in execution proceedings).]

(16) Though Section 47 is widely worded, it does not mean that the executing Court can recall its previous orders, passed with consent of parties, merely because on further argument they are considered to be bad in law and against specific statutory prohibition. ILR (1965) 2 Punj 590 (600, 602) (DB). (Pre-emption decree executed by consent of parties, against prohibition under Section 17-A, Punjab Security of Land Tenures Act, 1953 — Executing Court cannot recall execution — 66 Punj LR 24: ILR (1964) 1 Punj 299, Reversed.)

(17) Section is not inapplicable to Provincial Small Cause Courts. ILR (1960) 1 Cal 895.

2. Applicability to proceedings under other Acts.— (1) Where an order passed in proceedings under the provisions of other Acts is enforceable under the provisions of those Acts as if it were a decree, Section 47 will apply. AIR 1947 Mad 112 (113) * AIR 1957 Madh B 56 (57) (DB) * AIR 1938 All 124 (125) * AIR 1935 Cal 89 (89) * AIR 1927 Mad 440 (440, 441) * AIR 1935 Pat 227 (228).

(2) Section 47, Civil P. C. contemplates existence of a decree and not of an order which by a legal fiction may be treated as a decree for certain purposes Section 47 is therefore inapplicable to an order passed by a Special Judge under U. P. Encumbered Estates Act, which order is not a decree in the sense the word is used in the Civil P. C. ILR (1966) 2 All 351 (361, 362) (DB) * AIR 1969 Bom 74 (76): 70 Bom LR 438 (DB). (Orders under Bombay Agricultural Debtors' Relief Act (1947) not covered by Section 43 of the Act are orders under Section 47 of the Code and are appealable as decrees — (1957) 59 Bom LR 610, Overruled.)

(3) Suit against minor to recover legacy dismissed for non-compliance of Sections 53 and 54 of Orissa Court of Wards Act — Order is not one under Section 47, Civil P. C. AIR 1968 Andh Pra 239 (266, 267): (1968) 2 Andh WR 301 (FB). (Order does not come within ambit of Article 3 (iii) of Schedule II, Andhra Court-fees and Suits Valuation Act (7 of 1956).)

(4) Proceedings for delivery under Section 87, Madras Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments Act 1951, are in the nature of execution proceedings by reason of the proviso contained in the section itself. 1961 Ker LT 708.

(5) Section 47 has no application in the matter of considering a deposit made under Sec. 73 of Kerala Land Reforms Act 1963 (1 of 1964). 1966 Ker LJ 1156.

(6) Order of eviction under Section 9, Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent) Control Act (1949) — Execution of — Section 47 and Section 21 applies. (1956) 2 Mad LJ 475. (Order can be executed against legal representatives as Order 21 allows it.)

3. Question must be one arising between the parties to the suit in which the decree is passed or their representatives.—

(1) Where a question for decision does not arise between the parties to the suit or their representatives, it cannot be decided under this section. 4. Parties arrayed on the same side.—

(1) The words 'between the parties' do not necessarily mean parties ranged on opposite sides as plaintiff and defendant but mean parties opposed to each other in the suit. 26. Question must relate to execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree.— (1) The expression 'relating to the execution' would apply as well to a dispute arising in relation to the execution of a decree after it had been executed, as it would to a dispute relating to the execution of a decree before it had been executed. (3) The executing Court must execute the decree as it is or not at all and it has no power to substitute another relief for the one granted by the decree merely because it is impossible, in the circumstances that have happened, to give effect to the latter relief. (4) Where a decree imposes on both the parties reciprocal obligations which are conditional and dependent on each other, and one of the parties applies for execution against the other the executing Court can and must determine whether the applicant is in a position to carry out his part of the decree. AIR 1956 SC 359 (363): 1956 SCR 62: 35 Pat 347.

(5) The executing Court has to see that the judgment-debtor gives the decree-holder the very thing that the decree directs and not something else. So that if there is any dispute about its identity or substance, nobody but the Court executing the decree can determine it. AIR 1956 SC 359 (363): 1956 SCR 62: 35 Pat 347.

(6) When a sale in execution of a decree is impugned on the ground that it is not warranted by the terms thereof, that question could be agitated when it arises between parties to the decree only by an application under Section 47 and not in a separate suit. (7) Where an execution application is dismissed without going into its merits, and then the Court restores the application under its inherent power, the order of restoration is of a collateral character and does not relate to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree. AIR 1953 SC 23 (27): 1953 SCR 136.

(8) An application under Section 19, Hyderabad Agricultural Debtors Relief Act, 1956, is a matter in the execution of decree. But having regard to the use of the word 'execution' in Section 47 it cannot be strictly construed to a matter relating to the executability of a decree. The plea of limitation is a matter directly relating to the execution of a decree. The plea that execution is barred by limitation, can be gone into under Section 47. But when it is urged that on account of certain statutory provisions the judgment-debtor is entitled to certain relief the matter does not directly relate to execution of a decree though ultimately it may have a bearing on its executability. AIR 1967 Manipur 33 (37). (Since the decree was a declaratory and not a money decree, Section 47 and not Order 21, Rule 2 would apply.)

(11) An order under Section 24 of the Bombay Money-lenders Act (31 of 1947) granting or refusing to grant instalments cannot be regarded as a determination of a question relating to the execution, discharge or satisfaction of a decree under Section 47. (12) Where in execution of money decree against insolvent and his sons the joint family property attached before judgment is sought to be sold in execution by decree-holder, on application by Receiver for delivery of property to him for administration the question whether property, is self-acquired or joint family property is one relating to execution of decree within S. 47. AIR 1965 Andh Pra 451 (455): (1965) 2 Andh WR 256 (DB).

(2) While a decree passed without jurisdiction is a nullity and can be questioned in execution proceedings or in collateral proceedings, if the question of want or absence of jurisdiction in the Court passing the decree cannot be determined without an amount of research, investigation or elaborate inquiry, the executing Court is not competent to permit that inquiry or investigation to be made which would require that Court to take evidence pro and contra and to give a finding as if it was a trial Court. (5) Preliminary and final decrees in mortgage suits and effect thereon of appellate decree — In appeal preliminary decree reversed — Final decree must fall to the ground — No application to set aside final decree within three years — Decree-holder cannot get a right to execute final decree which has no preliminary decree to support it — In such a case it is the duty of executing Court, to take note of the fact that the preliminary decree has been set aside and refuse to execute the final decree, even though the fact is brought to its notice more than three years after decree in appeal reversing preliminary decree. (6) Decree in second appeal — Contention that second appeal had abated and the decree was nullity and that therefore decree of appellate Court revived — Question is not one for executing Court — It is only for second appellate Court to decide the question. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 232 (233): 1960 Jab LJ 961.

(7) Execution of decree stayed pending appeal — Dismissal of appeal — Decree-holder applying to executing Court to proceed with stayed petition — Execution petition does not cease to be pending after passing of appellate decree, though petition becomes technically defective after appellate decree — Executing Court can proceed with execution after allowing amendment of execution petition. (2) An agreement postponing the execution of a decree for a time is a matter that can be gone into in execution, notwithstanding the fact that the effect of postponing execution will be virtually to vary the terms of the decree. (3) An oral pre-decretal agreement between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtors to execute a compromise decree against some of the judgment-debtors would not have the effect of adding to or varying the terms thereof, when there is nothing in the decree which says that the decree will be executed simultaneously against all the judgment-debtors. Such an agreement can be pleaded in bar of execution and the executing Court can enquire into it. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 324 (326): (1960) 1 Andh WR 53 (DB).

(4) Except in cases of agreements relating to execution, a pre-decree arrangement which attacks the decree itself cannot be gone into in execution. (5) Appeal against decree — Change in law in favour of appellant during pendency of appeal — Appeal not pressed and allowed to be dismissed — Execution — Change in law cannot be relied on by judgment-debtor to defeat execution. AIR 1962 All 124 (125).

(6) If the decree is for a certain sum of money, to say, that that is not the amount that is due but according to the pre-decretal arrangement when executing the decree, deduction should be given to certain amount, amounts to attacking the decree itself, which is not contemplated in law and is outside the provisions of Section 47. 30. Decree incapable of execution. See also C. P. C. S. 38.— (1) The question whether a decree is capable or incapable of execution is pre-eminently one coming under this section. (3) The principle that an executing Court cannot go behind the decree will not hold good where the decree ex facie cannot be executed by the Court and is opposed to law or so defective as to be incapable of implementation. (13) (a) If a charge is created by act of the parties or by operation of law prior to the decree itself, a suit has got to be instituted. (b) A charge created by operation of law is not the same thing as a charge created under the decree. Section 100 of the T. P. Act does not extend to a charge created by decree. (c) If on a construction of the decree it appears that it is a money decree and there is collateral declaration that a charge is created or will be created in certain contingencies, the plaintiff's relief lies only in instituting a suit. (d) But, where, the the decree itself creates the charge and the words used in the decree are not inconsistent with the intention of the Court to have the judgment-debtor's dues satisfied by sale of the charged properties in execution proceedings, a fresh suit to achieve the same purpose is not maintainable. A charge created by an arbitrator in his award is not an act of the parties. Until registration takes place or the award merges in a decree, there is no lawful charge. In such a case the charge is created for the first time in the decree itself and, accordingly, enforcement of the charge takes place in execution and not by another suit. The judgment-debtor cannot at a later stage challenge it when the party seeks to execute it. But, if the extraneous consideration is given during execution, it cannot be added on to the decree and realised as part of it. 1961 Jab LJ 1498.

(3) Where the agreement does not supersede the decree but is merely pleaded as a bar to execution, the executing Court can inquire into and decide the matter under the section. [See also AIR 1960 All 747 (748): 1960 All LJ 522.]

(4) An agreement not to execute a decree against a particular judgment-debtor does not vary the terms of the decree and could be pleaded in execution and the Executing Court could determine whether the agreement was true. (1966) 1 Andh WR 121 (122): (1965) 2 Andh LT 400. (AIR 1963 Assam 24. Not foll.) * AIR 1960 Madh Pra 257 (258): 1960 Jab LJ 639.

(5) If the true effect of the agreement was to discharge the decree forthwith in consideration of certain promises by the debtor, then the Court will not have occasion to enforce the agreement in execution proceedings. If, on the other hand, the agreement is intended to have effect upon the time or manner of enforcement of the decree it is a matter to be dealt with under Section 47. AIR 1939 PC 80 (86): 14 Luck 192: ILR (1939) Kar 136. (AIR 1932 All 273: 54 All 573 (FB), Approved.) * AIR 1961 Punj 439 (440, 441): ILR (1962) 1 Punj 8 (DB).

(7) A Court executing the decree will be competent to enforce an agreement entered into between the judgment-debtor and the auction-purchaser, if the agreement is lawful one, not extraneous to the decree but on the other hand governs the liability under the decree and relates to the manner of its enforcement, namely manner of delivery of possession. It may be that the manner agreed upon adopted a procedure not prescribed by the Code but available in different circumstances. But this cannot make it illegal or outside the jurisdiction of the Court. Court will be entitled to enforce the agreement in execution. AIR 1964 Mad 53 (58): (1963) 2 Mad LJ 162 (FB) * AIR 1961 Punj 439 (440, 441): ILR (1962) 1 Punj 8 (DB), (AIR 1961 All 1 (FB), Dissent. from.) * AIR 1960 Punj 459 (460, 462).

(8) The executing Court can determine all questions relating to the agreement postponing the execution of the decree and the incidental term as to payment of the higher rate of interest. The jurisdiction of the executing Court to enforce such a compromise is not taken away by O. 23, Rule 4. The effect of Order 23, Rule 4 is that Order 23, Rule 3 does not apply to execution proceedings. Independently of Order 23, Rule 3 the provisions of Order 21 Rule 2 and Section 47 enable the executing Court to record and enforce such a compromise in execution proceedings. AIR 1968 SC 1087 (1088, 1089): (1968) 2 SCJ 824.

(9) Money decree — Parties agreeing to adjustment of decree — Adjustment brought to notice of Court by decree-holder — Dispute as to performance of terms of agreement — Court is competent to enquire into fact of adjustment. AIR 1963 Mad 261 (262, 263): 76 Mad LW 119 (DB).

(3) The question of the stay of execution relates to execution; but whether an order of stay will amount to a decree depends on the question whether it conclusively determines the rights and liabilities of the parties in regard to the execution of the decree. 38. Setting aside sales in execution. — (1) If a judgment-debtor seeks to set aside a sale on the ground of an irregularity, his application is covered by Order 21, Rule 90, but if he seeks a declaration that sale was null and void, he could get relief under Section 47. A sale attended with an irregularity has to be set aside; whereas in a null and void sale only a declaration to that effect may be necessary, if at all. Absence of the attachment as a condition precedent to the sale of the property is only an irregularity may be a material irregularity, which does not vitiate the sale unless substantial injury is caused to the judgment-debtor. Where the objection of the judgment-debtor under Section 47 that the sale without attachment is illegal, unaccompanied by an application for stay of the sale could not be disposed of before the property is put to sale, there is no option left to the Court than to direct that the judgment-debtor should file an objection under Rule 90 of Order 21 and challenge the legality of the sale in accordance with the provisions of that rule. (7) Where the Court has jurisdiction to sell, a sale held in contravention of some provision of law can be avoided before its confirmation by an application under Section 47 on that ground. But after its confirmation the sale can only be avoided on the applicant's showing that owing to fraud or other reason he was in ignorance

(9) Wherever there is a defect in the service of a sale notice under Order 21, Rule 66, C. P. Code, and the judgment-debtor in his petition for setting aside the sale relies on it and also puts in Section 47, C. P. Code, a second appeal will lie. (1959) 2 Mad LJ 212: 72 Mad LW 138.

(10) Executing Court ordering sale of plaintiff's property and transferring the proceedings to Collector under Section 68 to effect the sale — Sale proceeding in respect of same property already pending before Collector in some other execution proceeding — Property sold in pending execution proceeding — Suit by plaintiff to set aside sale held not barred — Question raised in suit related to validity of sale held by collector and executing Court has no jurisdiction to determine the validity. ILR (1958) Mys 432.

(11) Judgment-debtor preferring objections against sale of property in execution of ex parte decree and also stating that he has applied for setting aside ex parte decree — Executing Court staying confirmation of sale — Ex parte decree set aside — Objection in execution that decree having been set aside execution sale was nullity — Executing Court confirming sale holding that objections filed under Order 21, Rule 90 were time barred — Held, Section 47 was appropriate provision of law and executing Court was not bound to confirm sale under Rule 92 as the judgment-debtor had challenged validity and not merely conduct of sale. 39. Fraud in execution proceedings. — (1) Where a judgment-debtor impeaches the validity of an execution sale, not on the ground of fraud in the publishing and conducting of the sale, but on the ground of fraud in execution proceedings which preceded and led up to the sale, the question as between the parties is one falling within this section and not under Order 21, Rule 90. (3) It is open to the Court to consider the application under this section on merits at the time of its presentation and dismiss it summarily. AIR 1951 Pat 372 (376) (DB).

50. "Court executing the decree," meaning of.— (1) There is no warrant for the argument that the expression 'Court executing the decree' as used in Section 47 of the Civil Procedure Code means a 'Court which is seized of an application for execution of a decree at the instance of the decree-holder.' Section 47 enacts the salutary rule that all questions relating to execution, discharge or satisfaction of the decree shall be determined not by a separate suit, but in execution of the decree. The power so conferred may not be limited by any strained or artificial construction of the words 'Court executing the decree.' It follows that a question relating to execution, discharge or satisfaction of a decree may be raised by the decree-holder or by the judgment-debtor in the execution department and that pendency of an application for execution by the decree-holder is not a condition of its exercise. An application made by the judgment-debtor which raises a question relating to execution, discharge or satisfaction of a decree in a suit to which he or the person of whom he is a representative was a party, is an application before the Court executing the decree and must be tried in that Court. AIR 1967 SC 1193 (1195, 1196): (1967) 1 SCR 147. ((1900) ILR 23 Mad

LIMIT OF TIME FOR EXECUTION

48. Execution barred in certain cases.—[Repealed by the Limitation Act, 1963 (36 of 1963), S. 28 (w. e. f. 1-1-1964).]

The Repealed section ran as follows :—

"48. Execution barred in certain cases.—(1) Where an application to execute a decree not being a decree granting an injunction has been made, no order for the execution of the same decree shall be made upon any fresh application presented after the expiration of twelve years from—

(a) the date of the decree sought to be executed, or,

(b) where the decree or any subsequent order directs any payment of money or the delivery of any property to be made at a certain date or at recurring periods, the date of the default in making the payment or delivery in respect of which the applicant seeks to execute the decree.

(2) Nothing in this section shall be deemed—

(a) to preclude the Court from ordering the execution of a decree upon an application presented after the expiration of the said term of twelve years, where the judgment-debtor has, by fraud or force, prevented the execution of the decree at some time within twelve years immediately before the date of the application; or

(b) to limit or otherwise affect the operation of Article 183 of the First Schedule to the Indian Limitation Act, 1908."

mines a question relating to execution between the decree-holder and the judgment-debtor as, for instance, where it has the effect of reviving an application for execution which was dismissed for default of the decree-holder, especially when a fresh application would be barred by limitation, it will be appealable as a decree. (4) An order under Section 24, Hindu Marriage Act for maintenance pendente lite, is executable under Civil P. C. and therefore, applications arising therefrom under Section 47 are entertainable and appeals consequently would be maintainable. It is difficult to conceive of a position that an appeal would not lie from the original order but would be maintainable as soon as the same is executed, resulting in an order under Section 47. Section 48 — Synopsis (contd.)

11. Deduction of time.

12. Fraud or force.

13. Plea under section.

1. Object, applicability and scope.— (1) A decree-holder is entitled, as of right, to execute his decree and for that purpose may make any number of applications in succession. AIR 1943 PC 98 (100): ILR (1943) Nag 669: 70 Ind App 83: ILR (1943) Kar (PC) 109 * (1895) 17 All 106 (111, 112): 22 Ind App 44 (PC).

(2) Besides the principles of res judicata and Article 182 of the Limitation Act, 1908, this section imposes a further restriction on the rights of the decree-holders to execute their decrees by fixing a maximum limit of time for execution and by enacting that no order for execution shall be made upon an application presented after the expiry of twelve years from certain specified dates. (Order of attachment of the decree by another Court under Order 21, Rule 53 in execution — Period during which attachment subsisted cannot be excluded for purpose of limitation under Section 15, Limitation Act.)]

(3) The effect of the section is not to supersede the law of limitation but only to fix the outside period after which, execution of a decree, though not barred by the Limitation Act, may not be granted. AIR 1951 SC 16 (21): 1950 SCR 852 * AIR 1952 Trav-Co 269 (273) * AIR 1942 Cal 255 (256): ILR (1942) 1 Cal 245 (DB) * AIR 1941 Bom 158 (159): ILR (1941) Bom 147 (DB) * AIR 1941 Pat 45 (46): 20 Pat 1 (DB) * AIR 1963 Andh Pra 1 (4): (1962) 2 Andh WR 160.

(3-A) Section 48, though incorporated in the general law relating to procedure, prescribes a period of limitation and to that extent is a special law within Section 29 of Limitation Act. That being so Section 19 of Limitation Act will not apply to it. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 250 (261, 262 and 263): (1969) 1 Andh WR 455 (FB). (Section is not controlled by Section 19 of Limitation Act.) * 1968 All LJ 364: 1968 All WR (HC) 215 (FB). (Limitation under Section 48 cannot be extended under Section 20, Limitation Act.)

(3-B) Non-satisfaction certificate issued under Section 41 though not in accordance with law, is yet step-in aid of execution and saves limitation. AIR 1969 Orissa 147 (148, 149): 35 Cut LT 181. (AIR 1932 Pat 286, Foll.)

(4) Section applies to all decrees of any kind except a decree granting injunction. AIR 1915 Mad 407 (410) (DB) * AIR 1915 Bom 40 (41): 39 Bom 256 (DB).

(5) Section does not come into play until there has been at least one prior application for execution of a decree. What it prohibits is a fresh application after the twelve years prescribed. AIR 1956 Hyd 7 (9, 10): ILR (1955) Hyd 797 (FB) * AIR 1952 Trav-Co 269 (273) (DB) * AIR 1939 Nag 245 (246): ILR (1939) Nag 559 (DB).

(6) Before the execution can be held to be barred under the section it must be shown that the decree was, in all parts, ripe for execution on the date from which the twelve years' period is to be computed. AIR 1920 Nag 40 (41).

(7) Where a decree-holder applies for execution and a fresh application therefor in the future is likely to be barred under this section, the Court should allow the decree-holder to exhaust all lawful means of realising his decree in the pending application, before finally dismissing it. AIR 1956 Madh B 158 (159) * AIR 1926 Lah 544 (544).

(8) The salutary rule in this section should not be permitted to be evaded as by striking off an execution petition and continuing the attachment so as to enable the decree-holder to apply for execution after the twelve years' period under the pretext of continuing a pending application. (1910) 8 Ind Cas 727 (728) (Oudh).

[See also AIR 1928 Mad 1154 (1155).]

(9) The section only requires that the application should be presented within twelve years. The order on such application may be made even after the expiry of the specified period. See Note 5.

(10) A sale in execution of a decree executed in contravention of the provisions of this section is not a nullity. The purchaser in such a sale gets a good title and can lose it only if the sale is avoided in a proper proceeding by getting it set aside. AIR 1961 Pat 508 (511, 512) (DB).

(11) Application prima facie barred under section — Decree-holder must explain how he can escape the bar under this section. Madh BLJ 1955 HCR 858 (858).

(12) Section does not apply to decrees of Presidency Small Cause Courts even though transferred for execution to Court other than Court of Small Causes. AIR 1950 Mad 504 (506): ILR (1951) Mad 1 (FB). (36 Mad 108, Approved; AIR 1941 Mad 477, Overruled.) * AIR 1942 Pat 128 (128, 129) (DB).

(13) The proceedings for the passing of the final decree pursuant to the preliminary decree are not proceedings in execution and hence not governed by Section 48. (1966) 2 Andh WR 204.

(14) Section does not apply to the execution of decrees passed by Village Courts under the Madras Village Courts Act (1 of 1889) even though they are transferred to the District Munsif's Court for execution. AIR 1955 Mad 718 (720): ILR (1956) Mad 381 (DB).

(15) The section bars only the execution of the decree after the specified period. The rights of the decree-holder in other respects are not in any way affected. AIR 1924 Mad 163 (165, 167): 47 Mad 120 (DB). (1964) 1 Mad LJ 340: 77 Mad LW 143. (Holder of mortgage decree against estate — Right to get payment out of compensation under Madras Estates (Abolition and Conversion into Ryotwari) Act — Does not amount to enforcement of his decree — Bar of limitation under Section 48 does not apply.)

(16) A warrant issued to the Collector under Section 386 of the Criminal Procedure Code for the recovery of fine has the force of a decree. But Section 70 of the Penal Code sets a limit of six years for the recovery of fines imposed on an offender. The twelve years' rule under this section will not apply to such cases. AIR 1941 Bom 158 (159): ILR (1941) Bom 147 (DB).

(17) Under Rule 18 (h) of the Rules framed under Section 43 of the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, for the purposes of execution, an award under that Act has the same status as a decree and the twelve years' rule under this section will apply in such cases. AIR 1947 Lah 269 (271, 272) (DB).

[See also AIR 1960 Madh Pra 213 (214): 1960 Jab LJ 199.]

(18) An award under the Mysore-Co-operative Societies Act (7 of 1913) does not become a decree unless and until a certificate is granted by the Registrar under Section 43-C of that Act. The twelve years under this section will run only from the grant of such certificate. AIR 1954 Mys 54 (56): ILR (1954) Mys 288 (DB).

[See also (1962) 3 Guj LR 512.]

(19) Where the execution of a decree had become barred under the provisions of a special statute long before the Constitution of India came into force, the fact that the special statute is declared void under Art. 13 (1) of the Constitution will not have the effect of reviving the right to execute the decree within the extended period of limitation under this Section. AIR 1952 Punj 417 (418).

2. Retrospective operation.— (1) The right to execute a decree is only a right of procedure and not a vested right. AIR 1955 Raj 33 (34): ILR (1954) 4 Raj 994 (DB) * AIR 1917 Pat 485 (486) (DB).

[But see (1910) 32 All 499 (502) (DB).]

(2) Law governing an application to execute a decree will be the law of procedure in force at the time of the application and not the law in force when the decree was passed. AIR 1955 Kutch 20 (21) * AIR 1926 All 93 (94): 48 All 121 (DB) * (1881) 3 Mad 98 (101) * AIR 1917 Pat 493 (494) (DB).

[See also 1959 Raj LW 250.]

(3) A decree passed on 8-8-1934 by a Court in the former Jaipur State was sought to be executed in 1952, but the Court by its order dated 24-4-1952 dismissed the execution application to be barred under Section 48. The Jaipur Code of Civil Procedure did not contain any provision corresponding to Section 48 of the Indian Code. The Rajasthan Code of Civil Procedure (Adaptation) Ordinance (5 of 1950) came into force on 24-1-1950 and according to Section 8 thereof the period for execution of such decree was 12 years from 24-1-1950 as the decree was to be deemed to have been passed on 24-1-1950 for purposes of Section 48. The Rajasthan Ordinance was, however, superseded by the Code of Civil Procedure (Amendment) Act, 1951, by which the entire Code was made applicable to the whole of India. The Code was, however, amended by the Code of Civil Procedure (Rajasthan Amendment) Act (20 of 1952) on 14-6-1952 and a new Section 48-A was inserted in the Code with retrospective effect which provided that for purposes of application of Section 48 to the State of Rajasthan, a decree passed prior to 25-1-1950 could not be ordered to be executed after 12 years from 25-1-1950 or after the period originally fixed by law whichever expired first. It was held that the order of the trial Court dismissing the execution as barred under Section 48 was wrong and must be set aside. 1956 Raj LW 48 (49) * 1961 Raj LW 307 (309) (DB).

(4) Decree passed in 1922 by Court in former Mewar State — Execution filed in 1951 is barred under Section 48 as applied by United State of Rajasthan Code of Civil Procedure Ordinance (61 of 1948) which repealed Mewar Civil P. C. — Section 48-A as inserted by Code of Civil Procedure (Rajasthan Amendment) Act (20 of 1952) cannot have effect of keeping alive such decree which had already become inexecutable before Rajasthan Code of Civil Procedure (Adaptation) Ordinance (5 of 1950) had come into force on 24-1-50. AIR 1955 Raj 33 (34, 35): 1954 Raj LW 493 (DB).

3. "Application to execute."— (1) An application to execute a decree means an application under Order 21, Rule 11 or otherwise by "which proceedings in execution are commenced and not merely an incidental application." (1877) 3 Cal 235 (242) (FB).

(2) Execution application should be an application in accordance with law, asking for a relief granted by the decree and for obtaining it in the mode admitted by law. (1889) 13 Bom 237 (239) (DB).

(3) An application to the Court passing a decree to transfer it for execution to another Court or for re-transferring it where it has already been transferred to another Court for execution is not an application to execute the decree within this section. AIR 1953 All 74 (75, 76) (DB) * AIR 1957 Andh Pra 544 (544) (DB) * AIR 1948 Nag 189 (192): ILR (1947) Nag 497 * AIR 1929 Mad 745 (745) * AIR 1947 Mad 431 (453): ILR (1948) Mad 117 (DB). (Application for re-transfer.) * AIR 1960 Madh Pra 215 (215): 1960 MPLJ 1027.

(4) Where a decree gives reliefs of different characters, there is nothing in the Code preventing separate and successive applications for execution as regards each of such reliefs. (1891) 18 Cal 515 (518) (DB).

(5) The section applies to applications contemplated by Article 182, Limitation Act, and not to applications contemplated by Article 180. Hence an application for delivery of possession under Order 21, Rule 95 of the Code is not an application for execution within the meaning of this section. AIR 1955 Kutch 9 (11).

(6) Filing of an execution petition in the transferee Court within twelve years of the decree and before the order of transmission which is passed after the expiry of twelve years would not save the decree-holder from the bar of the section. AIR 1957 Mad 726 (727) (DB).

(7) An application for sale of properties attached before judgment is an application for execution within the meaning of this section. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 228 (229): ILR (1952) Trav-Co 227 (DB).

(8) Where a security bond is given under Order 32, Rule 6 (2) on behalf of a guardian of a minor for withdrawing the latter's money under a decree, an application by the minor to enforce the bond cannot be said to be an application for the execution of the decree under which the money was withdrawn and this section has no application to the case. Section 145 has no application to such a case. AIR 1949 Mad 152 (153) (DB).

(9) The expression "in the manner herein provided for execution of decree' in Section 145 attracts the provisions of this section. For enforcement of liability of surety under Section 145, twelve years period mentioned in this section applies and the period should be calculated from the time such liability accrues. AIR 1949 Mad 285 (287): ILR (1948) Mad 504 (DB).

4. Decree granting injunction.— (1, Where a decree prohibits the defendant from obstructing a village path, it is a decree granting a permanent injunction. It is not capable of execution on the date it is passed. Such a decree is beyond the reach of the bar provided in this section. AIR 1946 Pat 392 (397): 25 Pat 397 (DB).

5. Fresh application after twelve years.— (1) The section does not prohibit the Court from making an order for execution after the expiration of twelve years, if the fresh application had been presented within the period of twelve years. AIR 1946 Cal 51 (52, 53): ILR (1945) 2 Cal 637 (DB) * AIR 1926 All 331 (331, 332): 24 All LJ 347 (DB).

6. "Fresh application" and "continuation of previous application."— (1) Under the present section the expression "fresh application" means a substantive application for execution and not merely an ancillary one made with the object of moving the Court to proceed in the matter of a substantive application already on file. AIR 1956 Hyd 7 (9): ILR (1955) Hyd 797 (FB) * AIR 1956 Madh B 158 (159) * ILR (1955) Hyd 471 (472) * AIR 1946 Cal 51 (52, 53): ILR (1945) 2 Cal 637 (DB) * AIR 1943 Bom 164 (166) (DB) * (1911) 33 All 517 (520) (FB) * AIR 1959 All 179 (185, 186): 1959 All LJ 229 (SB). [But see (1905) 28 Mad 224 (227) (DB) * (1897) 24 Cal 473 (480, 487, 491) (SB).]

(2) The question whether an application is only ancillary to a previous application or is a "fresh application" depends upon the circumstances of each case. AIR 1956 Hyd 7 (9): ILR (1955) Hyd 797 (FB) * AIR 1958 All 387 (390) * AIR 1957 Cal 142 (142) (DB) * ILR (1955) Hyd 471 (472) * AIR 1954 Cal 73 (75): ILR (1954) 2 Cal 139 * 1950 Trav-Co LR 279 (284) (DB) * AIR 1943 Pat 127 (130): 21 Pat 838 (DB) * AIR 1940 All 270 (272): ILR (1940) All 377 (FB) * AIR 1939 PC 80 (84): 14 Luck 192: ILR (1939) Kar 136 (PC) * 78 Mad LW 44: ILR (1964) Mad 101 (DB). (3) Whether the application is a "fresh application" is to be decided with reference to the antecedent proceedings and the orders passed thereon. (4) The test to be applied for the principle of revival is that the interruption to the execution proceedings is due to an intermediate order which was afterwards set aside or the execution proceedings must have been rendered infructuous by some such obstacle and the interruption to the execution should not have been occasioned by any fault or laches of the applicant. AIR 1954 Madh B 61 (63): ILR (1953) Madh B 143.

(5) As a general rule, where the previous application has been suspended or stayed or dismissed for no fault of the decree-holder and the second application is similar in scope and character to the previous one, the second application will be deemed to be an ancillary one in continuation of the previous one. ILR (1955) Hyd 471 (472) * AIR 1958 Andh Pra 493 (493) * AIR 1957 Cal 142 (142) (DB) * AIR 1957 Orissa 5 (6) (DB). Amendment of execution application beyond 12 years from decree :

(17) Except in the case of a defective execution application admitted and registered by the Court without calling upon the decree-holder to cure the defects, the Court will have no jurisdiction to allow execution against properties mentioned for the first time in a list filed 12 years after the date of the passing of the decree, even though that list happened to be filed when an execution application filed within time was pending. (20) A decree-holder who is not diligent should not, in the absence of special and sufficient grounds, be allowed to circumvent the provisions of this section by way of amendment. Where the decree-holder applied on the last day of limitation for arrest and attachment of moveable property and thereafter sought to amend it by adding a prayer for the attachment of immovable property, it was held that the result of allowing the amendment would be to circumvent the provisions of this section and that it should not therefore be allowed. (21) The amendment of an execution petition on the eve of twelve years by the inclusion of a prayer for the arrest of the legal representative judgment-debtor for the realisation of the sum of money indicated in the order of the executing Court cannot be said to be barred by Section 48 when the true position is that the order of the Court fixing the personal liability of the legal representative judgment-debtor is the order which gives the right to demand payment to the money personally against him. The amendment cannot be said to introduce a new fund from which the decree-holder expects to realise his money. Further, where the relief of the realisation of the decree amount from out of the debts due to the deceased debtor in the hands of the garnishees involves a personal decree against the judgment-debtor in case the decree-holder is able to satisfy the Court that those assets have been already realised by the judgment-debtor and have not been properly accounted for, the relief of arrest of the judgment-debtor really flows out of the relief prayed for in the execution petition and the amendment cannot, therefore, be said to introduce a new form of relief, namely, arrest which was not contemplated at the

An application for its execution including subsequent interest was filed within twelve years from the decree but was returned for representation after amendment of the decree. (8) An entry in the suit register that the parties certify that an adjustment of the decree has been made by a compromise in a subsequent suit, providing for payment of the decretal amount in instalments and for execution in default has been held to be evidence of a "subsequent order directing payment" within the meaning of this section. (1948) 52 Cal WN 587 (590) (DB) (Dacca).

(9) Section does not require that the 'subsequent order' extending time must be one carried out by the judgment-debtor. Where the subsequent order only stated that the judgment-debtor would lose the benefit of being allowed to pay by instalments if he did not furnish security within the specified time, but did not say that on the failure to furnish security the order would stand abrogated, the judgment-debtor cannot be heard to say that as he did not furnish the security within the time the order itself should be deemed to have been not passed at all so as to deprive the decree-holder of the extended period of limitation. ILR (1954) Madh B 49 (52).

(10) An order amending the decree under Section 24 of the Cochin Agriculturists' Relief Act (18 of 1114) amounts to a 'subsequent order' within the meaning of this section. AIR 1956 Trav-Co 209 (209): ILR (1959) Trav-Co 287 (DB).

(11) Where a decree is scaled down under Section 11 of the Saurashtra Agriculturists' Relief Act, 1934, the amended decree amounts to a subsequent order. AIR 1952 Sau 28 (30).

10. (4) Where a decree directed mesne profits to be ascertained in execution, the order for mesne profits is not an order for the payment of money at a certain date under this section. Time in the case of such decrees and of decrees for the payment of money at a particular date, runs from the date of default or the expiry of the period, as the case may be. (5) Where an instalment decree provides for the payment of the whole sum in default of any one instalment and either no option is given to the decree-holder or an option is given and exercised by him, time for the execution of the whole decree runs from the date of the first default. (6) Where the decree-holder has exercised his option to enforce the default clause in an instalment decree by applying for execution to recover the entire decretal amount, he is not debarred from having the benefit of executing his decree as an instalment decree unless there is prejudice to the judgment-debtor. AIR 1953 All 283 (286): ILR (1951) 2 All 148 (DB) * AIR 1961 All 107 (108, 109): ILR (1960) 2 All 908 (DB) * AIR 1960 Madh Pra 70: 1959 MPLJ 1146. (7) Where an instalment decree provided that in default of payment of any instalment, the decree-holder was entitled to realise the whole amount of the decree at once, it was held that such a decree could not be considered to be a decree payable "at a certain date" within the meaning of this section, and that therefore, after twelve years from the date of the default, only that instalment will be barred in respect of which the default was made. AIR 1936 Lah 159 (160) (DB) * (1968) 2 Andh WR 292.

(8) Where a decree is for delivery of possession of immovable property contingent on the non-payment of annuity, the decree-holder is not bound to execute for possession on the occurrence of the first default but might execute it on the occurring of any subsequent default. (10) Where the decree directs that the plaintiff is entitled to receive every year from the defendant half the share of the Iskel of Patwari Giri, an execution application for recovery of arrears for three years prior to the date of application would be within time under Article 163, Cl. (4) The pendency of a claim petition under Order 21, Rule 58 operates as a stay of execution and therefore, the period taken by such proceedings can be excluded in computing the period prescribed under this section. AIR 1955 Mad 67 (67) (DB).

SECTION 49 — SYNOPSIS

3. Transfer during pendency of suit by judgment-debtor.
4. Assignee's want of knowledge of equity.

1. Scope and object.— (1) Section 49, refers to a transferee of decree and does not cover a case of transferee of property. AIR 1943 Oudh 354 (358): 19 Luck 1 (FB).

(2) The equity, to which a transfer of a decree is subject, must be one available against the original decree-holder. AIR 1952 Punj 183 (184): ILR (1951) Punj 475 (DB) * AIR 1925 Pat 449 (450): 4 Pat 120 (DB) * AIR 1962 Raj 223 (223, 224): 1962 Raj LW 542 (DB). (Assignment of decree — Assignee holds decree subject to equities in existence on date of assignment.)

(3) A mere claim for restitution made by the judgment-debtor against the decree-holder is not an equity which can be availed of against an assignee from the decree-holder. AIR 1933 Cal 865 (868) (DB).

(4) The principle of this section applies to a case where a transferee of decree is permitted to continue the execution started by the transferor. AIR 1947 Nag 116 (121): ILR (1946) Nag 895.

(5) The transferee of the decree, permitted to continue the execution, cannot put forward contentions inconsistent with the prayers in execution of the original decree-holder. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 504 (506) (DB).

(6) It is the executing Court that should consider whether the assigned decree is subject to any equities. AIR 1937 Cal 570 (571) (DB) * AIR 1919 Mad 424 (426): 42 Mad 338 (SB).

2. Equity to set off cross-decree.— (1) A right to set off a cross-decree or cross-claim is an equity which can be enforced against the transferee of the decree. AIR 1945 Mad 381 (383): ILR (1946) Mad 30 * AIR 1937 All 351 (352): ILR (1937) All 553 (DB) * (1936) 163 Ind Cas 618 (619) (DB) (Cal) * (1868) 10 Suth WR 32 (33) (FB) * AIR 1924 Nag 46 (47): 19 Nag LR 164.

(2) The decree against which the set off is asked for must be before the Court for execution. (1887) 13 Ind App 106 (110): 14 Cal 18 (PC) * (1902) 24 All 481 (482).

3. Transfer during pendency of suit by judgment-debtor.— (1) Where the decree is assigned during the pendency of a suit by the judgment-debtor against the decree-holder and a decree is passed subsequently in the latter suit in favour of the judgment-debtor, the latter will be entitled to a set off in respect of such decree against the transferee of the decree in the prior suit. AIR 1938 Bom 253 (256): ILR (1938) Bom 263 (DB) * AIR 1937 Rang 316 (317) (DB).

(2) An application for stay of execution under Order 21, Rule 29 is maintainable even though the decree-holder has assigned his decree in favour of a stranger pending the suit by the judgment-debtor and the assignee is not on the party array. AIR 1959 Ker 402 (402): 1958 Ker LT 1012.

4. Assignee's want of knowledge of equity.— (1) It is not necessary that the assignee should have any notice of the equity. AIR 1945 Mad 381 (383): ILR (1946) Mad 30 (DB) * AIR 1938 Bom 253 (256): ILR (1938) Bom 263 (DB) * (1910) 7 Ind Cas 55 (60) (DB) (Cal) * AIR 1959 Ker 402 (402): 1958 Ker LT 1012.

(2) The case would be very much stronger against the assignee if he had notice of the equity. (1889) 16 Cal 619 (622) (DB).

50. Legal representative.—(1) Where a judgment-debtor dies before the decree has been fully satisfied, the holder of the decree may apply to the Court which passed it to execute the same against the legal representative of the deceased.

(2) Where the decree is executed against such legal representative, he shall be liable only to the extent of the property of the deceased which has come to his hands and has not been duly disposed of; and, for the purpose of ascertaining such liability, the Court executing the decree may, of its own motion or on the application of the decree-holder, compel such legal representative to produce such accounts as it thinks fit.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 51.—This clause states generally the powers of the Court in regard to execution leaving the details to be determined by rules. It will be observed that the power to direct immediate execution is no longer restricted to one class of suits but that it is now general in terms. Any limitation that may be found necessary will be imposed by rules."—S. O. R.

"Clause 51.—We have added a power to execute a decree by appointing a receiver on the suggestion of the Advocate-General of Madras."—S. C. R.

STATE AMENDMENT

Uttar Pradesh

In S. 51, after Cl. (b), the following shall be added as a new Cl. (bb):

"(bb) by transfer other than sale, by attachment or without attachment of any property."

—U. P. Act 24 of 1954, S. 2 and Schedule, Item 5, Entry 4 [30-11-1954.]

1. Scope. — (1) Section 51 enumerates in general terms the various modes in which the Court may order the execution of a decree. AIR 1942 Cal 587 (592) (DB) ° AIR 1940 Pat 557 (558): 19 Pat 832 (DB).

(2) Section 168A of the Bengal Tenancy Act, 1885 (as amended by Bengal Act XVIII of 1940) is not repugnant to S. 51 (1946) 50 Cal WN 181 (183) (DB) ° AIR 1942 Cal 587 (592) (DB).

(3) By virtue of S. 45-H, Banking Companies Act, 1949, an order under that Act can be enforced as provided in this section. AIR 1953 Cal 610 (612).

(4) By virtue of S. 17 of the Administration of Evacuee Property Act as amended in 1951 the decree-holder is debarred from proceeding in any manner against any property declared as evacuee property or deemed to be such, in execution of a decree. ILR (1954) Hyd 674 (676).

(5) There is no wide and unrestricted jurisdiction to order execution in every case in all the ways indicated in the section. The jurisdiction has to be exercised subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed by the rules in the following schedule. AIR 1936 All 495 (502): 58 All 949 (FB).

(6) When there is a partial stay of execution of a decree the stay is complete when there is a single decree. In case of a composite decree, if the partial stay is with respect to a part of it and in respect to a specific mode of execution, then only that part and that mode is stayed while other parts of the decree with other modes of execution would be open. AIR 1965 Ker 236 (237):1964 Ker LT 607.

(7) A Civil Court has undoubted power to order execution of a decree by arrest and detention but that power is subject to such conditions and limitations as may be prescribed in the Code. Further by virtue of S. 4 the power is controlled by the provisions of Special and local laws. Under Ss. 58A and 59 of Madras Act 26 of 1948 land-holders are immune from arrest in execution proceedings at all stages, so they cannot be arrested and detained under S. 51. Further, a judgment-debtor cannot be detained in Civil prison when there is no proof that despite means the judgment-debtor had refused or neglected to pay. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 399 (400): (1961) 1 Andh WR 328 (DB).

2. Powers of the Court in execution. — (1) It is for the judgment-creditor to decide the mode in which he will execute his decree. AIR 1953 Cal 717 (718) (DB).

(2) The Court has no authority, except under the circumstances mentioned in the proviso, to refuse to order execution in the mode asked for. AIR 1951 Simla (Punj) 277 (279) * AIR 1957 Mad 777 (779) ° AIR 1942 Nag 58 (59): ILR (1942) Nag 159 ° AIR 1926 Lah 110 (110): 6 Lah 548 (DB).

[See however 1951 All WR (HC) 71 (72).]

(3) A Court passing a decree should not ordinarily place any limitation as to the mode in which it is to be executed. AIR 1918 Cal 186 (186) (DB).

(4) A decree may be executed simultaneously against both the persons and the property of the judgment-debtor. AIR 1956 Hyd 7 (9): ILR (1955) Hyd 797 (FB) ° AIR 1957 Mad 777 (779) * AIR 1943 Lah 166 (168).

(5) Court has, under O. 21, R. 21 a judicial discretion to refuse to order simultaneous execution in proper cases. AIR 1953 Cal 717 (718) (DB) ° AIR 1957 Mad 777 (779).

(6) Court should offer the decree-holder all possible and reasonable facilities for realising the decretal amount in as short a time as possible. AIR 1936 Cal 238 (239) ° AIR 1936 Pat 76 (77) (DB).

(7) Ordinarily there can be only one complete execution. (1912) 16 Ind Cas 708 (709) (DB) (Cal) * (1910) 8 Ind Cas 410 (411) (Oudh).

(8) Where one complete execution is ineffectual and invalid, another execution, valid in law, can be ordered. AIR 1931 Pat 241 (247), 253): 10 Pat 670 (FB).

(9) A decree-holder has no rights in all the modes of execution prescribed by S. 51, at the time when he obtains the decree. He merely has a right to execute the decree and such execution can proceed according to the procedure prescribed at that time when the execution is taken out. The modes prescribed by S. 51 are subject to other provisions such as S. 42 and O. 21, R. 82. AIR 1967 All 263 (264): 1966 All LJ 356.

(10) Under Ss. 51, 27, 141 and O. 21 the Courts have to issue summons and notices, attachment warrants and delivery warrants in matters before them. The Courts have the discretion in fixing dates for their return after service. Any order interfering with this discretion cannot be classed as an administrative order, and would be set aside. AIR 1962 Manipur 24 (26).

(11) Normally the representatives of an association sued in their own names can be proceeded against in execution even in their personal capacity. However, if the decree-holder has already agreed to proceed only in a particular manner, he cannot without the consent of the judgment-debtor, proceed in new and substantially more onerous manner. 1961 MPLJ 154 (156): 1961 Jab LJ 156.

(12) In proper cases a Court has jurisdiction to combine the reliefs under S. 51 (b) and S. 51 (d). AIR 1963 Cal 515 (520) (DB).

3. "By delivery of any property specifically decreed."— (1) Where the decree holder prays for execution by delivery of the movable property and also by attachment of other property the executing Court has power to order conditional attachment of the other property. AIR 1953 Cal 717 (719) (DB).

4. "By attachment and sale or by sale without attachment of any property."— Clause (b). — (1) Where the decree itself directs the sale of properties no attachment is necessary for bringing the properties to sale in execution of that decree. AIR 1929 Lah 90 (91): 10 Lah 543 (DB) ° ('06) 33 Cal 676 (678) (DB) ° AIR 1921 Pat 320 (321) (DB).

[But see AIR 1918 Cal 39 (40): 45 Cal 780 (DB) * AIR 1918 Cal 1036 (1037) (DB).]

(3) Section 51, clause (b), must be interpreted to mean that the Court has jurisdiction to attach and sell any property which the decree-holder puts forward as the property of his judgment-debtor. AIR 1927 Mad 394 (394, 395): 50 Mad 639 (DB) ° AIR 1969 Mad 268 (269): (1968) 2 Mad LJ 634. (Attachment of shares — Fact that place of business of company is outside the jurisdiction is immaterial.)

(4) If the property sold does not belong to the judgment-debtor but to a stranger, the latter will not be bound by the sale in any way. AIR 1926 Oudh 501 (502).

(5) A sale of a property belonging to a stranger is not void as between the decree-holder, judgment-debtor and the auction purchaser. AIR 1927 Mad 394 (394, 395): 50 Mad 639 (DB) ° AIR 1967 Kerala 145 (146): 1966 Ker LT 798.

(6) The property to be sold must be saleable property under S. 60 of the Code. AIR 1942 Cal 429 (434) (DB) * AIR 1942 Cal 470 (471): ILR (1942) 2 Cal 325 (DB).

(7) Lands inalienable according to the provisions of special enactments cannot be sold in execution. AIR 1929 Pat 700 (701): 9 Pat 368 (FB) ° AIR 1920 Lah 456 (459): 1 Lah 192 (FB) ° AIR 1942 Cal 470 (471): ILR (1942) 2 Cal 325 (DB).

(8) Section 72 implies that the Court has authority to order a temporary alienation of the judgment-debtor's property. AIR 1920 Lah 456 (459): 1 Lah 192 (FB) ° AIR 1936 Lah 696 (698) ° AIR 1937 Nag 41 (42): ILR (1937) Nag 261.

[But see AIR 1938 All 290 (291, 292): ILR (1938) All 528 (FB). (AIR 1932 All 571, Overruled.) ]

(9) The Court has power, apart from the provisions of S. 72, to order a temporary alienation of the judgment-debtor's property. AIR 1936 Pesh 90 (91) (DB).

(10) The prohibition of sale does not prevent the Court from mortgaging or leasing the property under this clause. AIR 1920 Lah 456 (459): 1 Lah 192 (FB) ° AIR 1935 Pesh 113 (114).

[But see AIR 1938 All 290 (291, 292): ILR (1938) All 528 (FB) * AIR 1937 All 699 (700, 701) (DB) ° AIR 1936 Pesh 90 (90, 91) (DB).]

(11) The Court cannot order attachment of property for the purpose of temporary alienation when such property is not liable to be sold in execution. AIR 1937 Nag 41 (43): ILR (1937) Nag 261.

(12) Where not only a sale but also a temporary alienation is prohibited, the Court cannot, by way of execution, make an order for temporary alienation. AIR 1929 Pat 700 (701): 9 Pat 368 (FB).

(13) The word "sale" in the section includes also a sale by a nominee of the parties under a consent decree. AIR 1917 Cal 740 (742): 44 Cal 789 (DB).

(14) Attachment of immovable property before judgment and continued after the decree will not disable the decree-holder from applying for the attachment and sale of the moveable property. AIR 1936 Bom 268 (272) (DB) ° AIR 1962 Mad 383 (384): (1962) 2 Mad LJ 132. (Fresh attachment necessary if second application is filed after the period.)

(15) A decree of Small Cause Court passed before amendment of S. 42 by U. P. Act 24 of 1954 was transferred to the Court of District Munsiff for execution after the amendment. The transferee Court, held, in view of amendment could not execute the decree by sale of immoveable property. AIR 1967 All 263 (264): 1966 All LJ 356.

(16) A decree is liable to attachment and sale under clause (b) of S. 51, Civil P. C. and there is no reason why a decree for specific performance cannot be attached or sold in execution of a money decree under Cl. (b) of S. 51. 1965 All LJ 1109 (1110).

(17) The power of an execution Court to execute a decree is given in S. 51, where the Court is authorized to execute a decree by various means. It is the situs of the debt that will decide the jurisdiction of the execution Court and not the situs of the debtor from whom the debt is payable to the judgment-debtor. O. 21, R. 46 neither defines jurisdiction nor does it lay down the act doing of which amounts to exercise of jurisdiction. AIR 1963 All 313 (315, 317, 318): 1963 All LJ 443 (DB).

(18) The principle underlying S. 51 (b), is that, if the property sought to be attached is within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, the Court can attach and sell the property. Where, the properties sought to be attached and sold are the shares of the judgment-debtor which are with him within the limits of the jurisdiction of the Court, it would follow without further more that that Court had the jurisdiction to attach and sell. It is the situs of the shares that gives jurisdiction. AIR 1969 Mad 268: (1968) 2 Mad LJ 634 (637).

(19) Where a charge is created by compromise decree, fresh suit to enforce it is not necessary. Charged property can be brought to sale in execution of decree. No fresh attachment is also necessary. AIR 1963 Tripura 46 (47).

5. "By arrest and detention" — Clause (c). — (1) Where a decree-holder prays for the arrest of the judgment-debtor the Court cannot (except as provided for by the proviso) compel the decree-holder to proceed against his property. AIR 1939 Pat 380 (381): 18 Pat 366 (DB) * AIR 1935 Cal 127 (129) (DB).

(2) Where the stay of execution of decree is in respect of execution against attached properties, the decree-holder can proceed against the person of the judgment-debtor after claiming benefit under S. 15 of Limitation Act. AIR 1964 Ker 134 (135): 1963 Ker LT 442. (AIR 1958 Cal 1 and AIR 1940 Lah 75, Dissented from; 14 Trav LJ 501, Foll.)

(3) In suitable cases the Court should not make an order of committal to prison on the first application of the decree-holder but should order payment by instalments after ascertaining the means of the judgment-debtor. AIR 1955 Mad 409 (411) (DB) ° AIR 1961 Raj 243 (244): 1960 Raj LW 530 (DB).

[But see AIR 1964 Ker 264 (265): 1962 Ker LJ 1397.]

(4) The mere fact that he is sixty years of age does not entitle him to any consideration on that account. AIR 1942 Sind 19 (21): ILR (1941) Kar 479 (DB).

(5) Where an arrest before judgment is made under O. 38, R. 1, further procedure with regard to security after the passing of decree will still be governed by O. 38. AIR 1943 Mad 366 (367).

(6) It is only when an order under sub-rule (3) of R. 40 has to be made, it will have to be made subject to the provisions of S. 51. There is no need to comply with the requirements of S. 51 while acting under either R. 37 or under sub-rules (1) and (2) of Rule 40 which provide for the arrest and custody of the judgment-debtor. AIR 1959 Mys 94 (95): 36 Mys LJ 814.

(7) Where a court issues a warrant either under sub-rule (1) or under sub-rule (2) of R. 37 it does not do so with the intention of committing the person against whom the warrant is issued to prison. It only issues such a warrant to secure the presence of such a person in Court. In such a case the provisions of S. 51 or O. 21, R. 40 are not applicable. AIR 1961 Bom 23 (24): 62 Bom LR 599.

(8) A mortgage decree against A and a personal decree against B the surety, when interpreted, should that B was to be proceeded against after exhausting remedies against A. Application by decree-holder to arrest and detain B without proceeding against 'A' held, was premature and not maintainable. AIR 1964 Mad 233 (234): (1963) 2 Mad LJ 352 (DB).

(9) There can be no arrest in execution where no detention is possible any more than there can be attachment in execution where no sale is possible. Arrest under S. 51 is a preliminary process for detention and arrest by itself is no execution. AIR 1966 Ker 65 (65): 1965 Ker LT 261.

6. Proviso to the section.— (1) The proviso is mandatory and restricts the power of the Court to arrest the judgment-debtor in execution of a money decree. AIR 1956 Mad 580 (582) ° AIR 1957 Mad 761 (762) * AIR 1955 All 402 (403) (DB) ° 1951 Raj LW 123 (125).

[But see AIR 1964 Ker 158 (159, 160): 1964 (1) Cri LJ 668: 1964 Ker LJ 97 (DB).]

(2) A record of reasons contemplated by the proviso is not necessary if the order eventually passed is not one of detention. ('48) AIR 1948 Mad 9 (9).

(3) Unless such a circumstance as is mentioned in the proviso is alleged, the Court cannot take action under O. 21, R. 37 or issue notice to the judgment-debtor why he should not be arrested. AIR 1955 All 402 (403) (DB).

(4) The burden of proving that the circumstances specified in the section exist lies on the decree-holder. AIR 1956 Mad 580 (582) ° AIR 1955 All 402 (404) (DB) * AIR 1955 Mad 409 (410, 411) (DB) ° AIR 1951 Pat 355 (356) (DB) * AIR 1950 Trav-Co 8 (9) (DB) ° AIR 1968 Pat 218 (219): ILR 46 Pat 1142 ° AIR 1964 All 378 (379) * AIR 1964 Ker 264 (265): 1962 Ker LJ 1397 (DB) ° AIR 1961 Andh Pra 399 (400): (1961) 1 Andh WR 328 (DB) * ILR (1960) Cut 33 (39, 40) * 1960 Raj LW 619 (619): ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1467.

(5) It is not essential that the decree-holder should be required to give strict proof of the allegations made by him. It is perfectly open to the executing Court, on all the materials placed before it, to come to an inference as regards the statutory findings required by cls. (a) (ii) and (b) of the proviso. AIR 1955 Mad 409 (410, 411) (DB).

(6) For the proper way of understanding the import of the words in cl. (b) of the proviso, see the undermentioned case. AIR 1954 Mad 81 (82): ILR (1954) Mad 281 (DB).

(7) If the judgment-debtor had other claims to satisfy or other more urgent necessities to meet, it cannot be said that he neglected to pay the decree-holder. AIR 1955 All 402 (404) (DB).

(8) When other persons, who apparently have a right to the property obstruct the attachment, it cannot be said that the judgment-debtor is responsible for their action. AIR 1954 Mad 81 (82, 83): ILR (1954) Mad 281 (DB).

(9) A director of a company being in a fiduciary position with regard to the members of the company can be arrested in execution of an order for payment of money passed against him in misfeasance proceedings, even though he is pauper. AIR 1950 Mad 208 (209) (DB).

(10) Where the terms of a security bond provided for an unconditional undertaking in the matter of safe return of attached articles by the defendant whether a relationship of bailor or bailee is there or not may be open to doubt. But it does create a position of quasi trust or of a fiduciary nature. The defendant therefore falls within the classification of cl. (c) of the proviso to

S. 55. AIR 1959 Ker 273 (274): 1958 Ker LT 801.

(11) The procedure prescribed under O. 21, R. 40 should be strictly followed before ordering detention. AIR 1953 Ajmer 16 (1) (16) ° AIR 1955 All 402 (404) (DB).

(12) Before a member of an undivided Hindu family which has been assessed to income-tax may be held to be liable to arrest for the recovery of the Income-tax arrears, it must be shown that he was in charge of some property of the joint family. AIR 1958 Cal 524 (529) (DB).

(13) Even when an order under S. 51 is passed ex parte, the provisions of the section must be complied with. AIR 1957 Mad 761 (762).

(14) Where the lower Court does not say that in its opinion the judgment-debtor has had, since the date of the decree, the means to pay the amount of the decree or some substantial part thereof, and has refused or neglected to pay the same, the order of arrest is illegal and has to be set aside. AIR 1957 Mad 761 (762).

(15) Where the first order for arrest and detention in prison was not given effect to, and subsequent application is made after long interval for passing fresh order, Court must give opportunity to judgment-debtor to show cause and must be satisfied that conditions mentioned in proviso are fulfilled at time when it is called upon to make subsequent order. AIR 1949 Mad 470, Foll. — Such opportunity need not, however be given nor is it necessary for Court to record reasons in writing as to its satisfaction about fulfilment of conditions contained in proviso where interval between first order and subsequent order is short. AIR 1968 Delhi 101: (1967) 69 Pun LR (D.) 328. (AIR 1949 Mad 470, Diss. from.)

(16) Where there is a prior order of Court holding that judgment-debtor had means to pay, a subsequent objection by the judgment-debtor to his arrest on grounds of inability to pay without any allegations that he had lost some assets needs no fresh enquiry into the means of the judgment-debtor. 1959 Ker LJ 1036 (1037): 1959 Ker LR 909 (DB) ° AIR 1965 Ker 16 (17): 1964 Ker LT 1101. (Order operates as res judicata in subsequent execution proceedings regarding objections which he might and ought to have raised in earlier proceedings regarding means to pay.)

(17) Where a Court issues a warrant either under sub-rule (1) or under sub-rule (2) of R. 37 it does not do so with the intention of committing the person against whom the warrant is issued to prison. It issues such a warrant only to secure the presence of such a person in Court. After the judgment-debtor appears in Court in pursuance either of a notice or a warrant then the Court will make an enquiry contemplated under S. 51 and O. 21, R. 40. AIR 1961 Bom 23, Followed. (1964) 2 Andh WR 38 (38).

(18) When a judgment-debtor is managing the properties of his sons and deriving benefit therefrom it is not enough to justify personal execution by arrest of the judgment-debtor. (1965) 2 Ker LR 39 (40).

(19) In a suit for dissolution of partnership and for accounts a decree was passed against the managing partner. As no fraud, clandestine dealing or other special circumstance was proved the partnership did not create any fiduciary relationship, conditions of S. 51 cl. (c) were not satisfied and as such execution by way of arrest and detention could not be done. AIR 1967 SC 1342 (1344): (1967) 2 SCR 298 ° AIR 1961 All 19 (24).

(20) The provisions of Cl. (b) of the proviso to S. 51 require a finding that the judgment-debtor has or has had since the date of the decree the means to pay the amount of the decree. Where the fact whether the judgment-debtor has or had sufficient means to pay is not decided with reference to the date of the decree, the finding of the Court, that the judgment-debtor was liable to be arrested and detained in execution of the decree against him, is vitiated in law. AIR 1964 All 378 (379). (AIR 1955 All 402, Rel. on.)

(21) It is not correct to say that the word 'means' occurring in Cl. (b) to Proviso to S. 51 should be taken as equivalent to cash. 'Means' there only mean realisable assets, and where the judgment-debtor has got sufficient assets from out of which the necessary moneys can be realised to pay up the decree amount, he will not be exempted by the provisions of S. 51 from being proceeded against personally by detention in prison for the realisation of the amount due under the decree. AIR 1964 Mad 233 (234): (1963) 2 Mad LJ 552 (DB).

(22) Arrest and detention in civil prison represent two different and distinct stages in the process of execution of a decree. Section 51 proviso (c) indicates that arrest and detention in prison is one mode of executing a decree. The proviso to that section refers only to execution by detention in prison and not to execution by arrest and detention in prison. This makes it clear that the need for the Court to be satisfied that the conditions mentioned therein exist and to record such reasons applies only to an order for detention in prison and not to arrest. The inhibition contained in S. 51 is not made applicable while ordering the arrest of the judgment-debtor. AIR 1959 Mys 94 (95, 96): 36 Mys LJ 814 (DB). ((1957) 2 Mad LJ 28, Dissent from.)

(23) The proviso to S. 51 enjoins on the Court itself not to order arrest and detention of the judgment-debtor in prison unless the Court, for reasons recorded in writing, is satisfied that the materials on the record of the case come within any of the clauses of the proviso. In other words it is a mandate to the Court by the Legislature as a matter of public policy with a view to implement its object by protecting debtors who cannot pay their debts for reasons beyond their control. Irrespective of the fact whether the judgment-debtor appears or not, the Court has to satisfy itself, before issuing any warrant of arrest against the judgment-debtor, whether the materials on the record bring the case within any of the clauses of the proviso to S. 51. The judgment-debtor cannot waive the privilege conferred on him by that section. AIR 1968 Pat 218 (219): ILR 46 Pat 1142 (DB).

7. Explanation. — (1) The Explanation applies only to cl. (b) of the proviso. AIR 1940 Pesh 33 (33, 34).

(2) The income of the judgment-debtor from his land, the land alone being exempt from sale, should not be left out of account when such income is attachable in execution of the decree against him. AIR 1943 Lab 166 (167).

(3) In calculating the means of the judgment-debtor the necessary expenses of maintenance of himself and his dependants must be taken into account. AIR 1942 Pat 242 (242) (DB) * (1939) 43 Cal WN 427 (429).

(4) The words 'exempt from attachment in execution of the decree' mean exemption from all forms of execution involving attachment of property. AIR 1951 Cal 48 (52): ILR (1952) 2 Cal 1 (FB). ((1946) 50 Cal WN 181, Overruled.)

(5) In calculating the means of the judgment-debtor who is a pensioner, the amount of his monthly pension cannot be left out of account. AIR 1944 Mad 263 (264).

(6) What Cl. (i) of the proviso to S. 60 (1) prohibits is that the salary qua salary cannot be attached or be brought to sale. The amount of the salary which the judgment-debtor has already received can be taken into account in judging his means under S. 51 because it was no longer salary after receipt by him and therefore no longer subject to the bar against attachment or sale. AIR 1961 Bom 142 (144): 1960 Nag LJ 463 (DB).

(7) The question as to whether the decree-holder's remedy primarily lies against the property charged under the decree cannot affect the question which arises under S. 51, Proviso (b) read with the explanation, as to what is the means of the judgment-debtor. Both the property charged as also other property can be taken into account in judging his means although the remedy of the decree-holder may primarily be against the charged property. AIR 1961 Bom 142 (143): 1960 Nag LJ 463 (DB).

(8) Where judgment-debtor gets Rs. 80 per month (i.e. less than Rs. 100 p. m.) by way of total monthly emolument as salary and allowance he is not liable to arrest in execution of decree — Order issuing warrant of arrest against him is wrong. 1963 Ker LT 392 (393): (1963) 1 Ker LR 406.

(9) In view of the explanation to S. 51, the decree-holder, while proceeding to prove that the judgment-debtor had means to pay the decretal amount under Cl. (b), must give some indication or details of the properties of the judgment-debtor because otherwise it is difficult to see how, in computing the means to pay the same, the properties which are exempt from attachment in execution of the decree would be left out. It would not be a sufficient compliance if the decree-holder merely says vaguely that the judgment-debtor has moveable and immovable properties from which he can pay the decretal amount. 1964 BLJR 617 (622).

(10) Where in a pauper suit for maintenance a decree for future maintenance is passed, a receiver can be appointed at the instance of the Government in regard to the maintenance recoverable under the decree for the purpose of realising the court-fee payable by the decree-holder under the decree. AIR 1950 Orissa 220 (224, 225) (DB).

(12) A receiver may be appointed to collect the future rents and profits accruing due from attached properties. AIR 1925 Rang 318 (319, 320): 3 Rang 235 (DB).

(13) The Court acting in personam against the judgment-debtors can order them to realise the rents and profits themselves and to hand them over to the receiver along with an account. AIR 1951 Simla (Punj) 277 (278).

(14) Where a receiver has been appointed at the instance of one decree-holder, it is not necessary that every decree-holder should also have a receiver appointed in his own suit in respect of the same property. AIR 1930 Mad 4 (11).

(15) Apart from resorting to appointment of receiver as a mode of execution, Court has power in appropriate cases to obtain the property in custodia legis even after the passing of the decree either for preservation of the property or the interest of the decree-holder therein. Madh B LJ (1955) HCR 604 (604).

(16) The mere appointment of a receiver does not invalidate a mortgage executed by the judgment-debtor subsequent to such appointment. AIR 1951 Simla (Punj) 277 (280).

(17) An order for appointment of receiver in respect of property declared to be evacuee property or deemed to be such cannot be made in view of the express bar under S. 17 of the Administration of the Evacuee Property Act. ILR (1954) Hyd 674 (676) ° AIR 1951 Punj 434 (435): ILR (1951) Punj 306 (DB). (AIR 1950 East Punj 312, Reversed.)

(18) An order for appointment of receiver cannot but be regarded as execution against the proprietary rights in land and therefore it comes within disability imposed on execution by S. 7 (3) of the U. P. Encumbered Estates Act, 25 of 1934. AIR 1952 All 419 (420).

(19) There is no legal bar to the executing Court directing execution of the decree by appointment of a receiver in respect of the tenure in arrears even though the tenure is available for sale. ILR (1955) 1 Cal 122 (124) (DB).

(20) Receiver can be appointed in execution proceedings even under O. 40, R. 1 — Power is not restricted only as mode of execution under S. 51. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 211 (212): 1963 Jab LJ 696.

(21) Neither S. 51 (d) nor O. 40 of the Civil P. C. prescribes for the termination of the office of receivership. The law on the point may briefly be stated thus: (1) If a receiver is appointed in a suit until judgment, the appointment is brought to an end by the judgment, in the action. (2) If a receiver is appointed in a suit, without his tenure being expressly defined, he will continue to be receiver till he is discharged. (3) But, after the final disposal of the suit as between the parties to the litigation, the receiver's functions are terminated, he would still be answerable to the Court as its officer till he is finally discharged. (4) The Court has ample power to continue the receiver even after the final decree if the exigencies of the case so require. AIR 1962 SC 21 (26, 27): (1962) 1 SCR 868.

(22) There is a distinction between an order made under Cl. (d) of S. 51 appointing a receiver as a mode of execution of a decree and an order made under Cl. (b) of that section whereby the Court orders execution by sale without attachment of the properties charged by the decree though the sale is directed to be held by a receiver. In so doing, the Court presses into service its powers under S. 51 (b) of the Code of Civil Procedure and not S. 51 (d). In an order made under S. 51 (b), the accent is on sale in execution, that is, on the judgment-debtor's losing the property to pay the decree-holder's dues, amounting to a negation of the very object of appointing a receiver in execution under S. 51 (d), which is to preserve the corpus for the ultimate benefit of the judgment-debtor, while satisfying the decree-holder's dues out of the income within a reasonable time and without unreasonable harassment and harshness to or upon the judgment-debtor. (1963) 67 Cal WN 350 (354) (DB).

(23) Where a relief under S. 51 (d), Civil P. C., is sought and granted by the execution Court, it is open to the judgment-debtor to show, at any stage of the proceeding, be it appeal or otherwise, that necessary circumstances do not exist or necessary facts have not been proved to justify grant of relief under the section. Hence the objection that as the judgment-debtor failed to raise the point in the Court below it is not open to him in the appellate Court, is not tenable. (1963) 67 Cal WN 350 (354) (DB).

(24) Where a decree in respect of a private debt was granted after the passing of U. P. Encumbered Estates Act, it was open to a decree-holder to proceed only against the proprietary rights in the lands and no receiver could be appointed in respect of the property as the appointment of a receiver was only a process of execution. 1962 All LJ 573 (574) (DB).

(25) In a suit instituted on the original side of the High Court a consent decree was passed by which a charge was created upon the immoveable properties lying and situate at Benaras and the decree-holder was declared to be at liberty to execute the decree by sale of the properties charged by application in execution in the suit without being obliged to institute a suit in Benaras Court:

Held, that the Court had jurisdiction to pass the decree. The giving of a charge upon the land outside the territorial jurisdiction of the Court was not unlawful. The Court had jurisdiction, in execution of the decree, to appoint a receiver of the properties at Benares. Article 261 of the Constitution under which decrees and orders of Courts of one State are capable of being executed in another State was a complete answer to the question of effectiveness of the decree passed. AIR 1961 Cal 422 (426, 427, 428, 429).

(26) An order for payment against a receiver passed under O. 40, R. 4 (2), Civil P. C. can only be enforced under O. 40, R. 4 (3) and not under the provisions of S. 51. A receiver cannot be arrested and detained under provisions of S. 51. 1962 Ker LJ 161: 1962 Ker LT 25 (26).

(27) The Court has the power under the law to appoint a receiver in an appropriate case even in case of a suit on simple mortgage. Appointment of a receiver would depend upon the exceptional circumstances of a particular case and Court will have to determine in each case judicially whether it would be just and convenient to appoint a receiver.

Where the Court is satisfied that the mortgage security is apparently insufficient to liquidate the entire dues of the mortgagee on the foot of the bond in suit, the Court may be inclined to appoint a receiver so as to place the rents and profits of the property in the hands of the Court to be dealt with in accordance with justice and equity of that particular case. AIR 1961 Raj 179 (180): 1960 Raj LW 626. (AIR 1936 All 495 (FB), Not foll.; AIR 1945 Pat 404, Foll.)

8A. "In such other manner" — Clause (e). — (1) Where the property is attachable and the decree-holder asks for execution, then the Court cannot refuse it and say that it has no means of carrying out the execution of the decree. In absence of any specific provision as to the mode of attachment or any appropriate particular form, the Court has ample jurisdiction under S. 51 (e) to evolve a prohibitory order suitable to the nature of the case. Where, therefore, the property to be attached is a right to purchase shares exercisable by judgment-debtor, an order prohibiting him from exercising it and restraining other parties from receiving an assignment or transfer of the same from him is not contrary to law since, it is sufficient 'seizure', being the only way in which the particular movable property can be seized. O. 21, R. 46 can be applied with certain variations. AIR 1966 Cal 134 (140): 69 Cal WN 815 (DB).

(2) Under S. 51 whether by itself or read with S. 151 a decree cannot be executed in circumstances which give a fresh cause of action to the decree-holder. Section 51 (e) cannot enable the Court to give a fresh mandatory direction to remove something which was not in existence at the time of the decree. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 92 (98) (DB).

(3) Section 51 (e) is a residuary clause that comes into play only when the decree cannot be executed in any of the modes provided in clauses (a) to (d). AIR 1961 Punj 547 (549): 63 Pun LR 756 (DB).

9. "On the application of the decree-holder." — (1) The section provides that the Court can act only on the application of the decree-holder. Such application may be inferred from the act of the Court executing the decree. AIR 1920 Lah 443 (446).

(2) Even without an application, the Court can suo motu order the appointment of a receiver under S. 94 (d) and O. 40, R. 1. AIR 1925 Rang 318 (320): 3 Rang 235 (DB).

(3) A stranger to the suit or decree cannot apply for execution though there may be a benefit conferred on him by the decree. AIR 1917 Oudh 182 (184, 185) (DB).
[See however AIR 1932 Mad 193 (194, 195) (DB).]

(4) The judgment-debtor cannot apply under this section, e. g., for the appointment of a receiver. AIR 1922 Pat 369 (371) (DB).

10. Appeal. — (1) An order appointing a receiver in execution, if it falls under O. 40, R. 1, is appealable as an order under O. 43, R. 1 (s). AIR 1956 Mad 163 (165) ° AIR 1927 Lah 190 (190) * (1912) 39 Cal 1010 (1014) (DB).

(2) If the order of appointment of a receiver is only a conditional one on the furnishing of security and security is not furnished, no appeal lies. (1911) 12 Ind Cas 745 (751) (DB) (Cal).

52. Enforcement of decree against legal representative.—(1) Where a decree is passed against a party as the legal representative of a deceased person, and the decree is for the payment of money out of the property of the deceased, it may be executed by the attachment and sale of any such property.

(2) Where no such property remains in the possession of the judgment-debtor and he fails to satisfy the Court that he has duly applied such property of the deceased as is proved to have come into his possession, the decree may be executed against the judgment-debtor to the extent of the property in respect of which he has failed so to satisfy the Court in the same manner as if the decree had been against him personally.

(3) An order refusing to discharge a receiver is one relating to the "execution" of the decree within S. 47 and as such is appealable as a decree. AIR 1918 Pat 60 (61) (DB).
